Best Fruit Belt in United States.

That the Rogue river valley is the best fruit district in the United States is the declaration in a letter received Tuesday by J. E. Barkdull from A. Mount and Sons, of Canterbury, England, who visited the valley last fall on a tour of the United States. Mr. Mount states that he failed to see any section of the United States devoted to fruit growing, which was equal to this.

Mr. Mount ordered a number of Newtown and Winter Banana grafts with which to experiment in England. —Tribune.

PACIFIC COAST HONORED

Lane in Cabinet is Latest Rumor From Washington.

Washington, March 3.—There is every reason to believe that the Pacific coast will be represented in President Woodrow Wilson's cabinet by Franklin L. Lane of California as secretary of the interior. Lane is at present chairman of the interstate commerce commission. Although he refused today to affirm or deny his appointment, it was learned from an authoritative source that Wilson has already received Lane's acceptance.

Close friends of Wilson say the cabinet now is complete, and that it will stand as follows:

Secretary of state, William J. Bryan.

Secretary of the treasury, William G. McAdoo.

Attorney general, J. C. McReynolds.

Secretary of commerce, W. C. Redfield.

Secretary of war, Lindley Garrison.

Secretary of the navy, Josephus Daniels.

Secretary of the interior, Franklin K. Lane.

Secretary of agriculture, David C. Houston.

Secretary of labor, William Wilson.

Postmaster general, Albert Burelion.

Career of the President.

Born at Staunton, Va., Dec. 28, 1856, the son of Rev. Jos. R. and Mrs. Jesse Woodrow Wilson.

Passed his boyhood in the south, residing at Augusta, Ga., Columbia, S. C., and Wilmington, N. C., where his father occupied pulpits.

Entered Princeton college in 1879 and was graduated with high honors four years later.

Entered the law department of the University of Virginia in the fall of 1879 and received his diploma in 1881.

Opened a law office in Atlanta in May, 1882, and continued his profession there for eighteen months.

Married, June 24, 1885, to Miss Helen Louise Axson of Savannah, and later in the same year became professor of history and political economy at Bryn Mawr.

Remained at Bryn Mawr three years, when he resigned to accept a similar professorship at Wesleyan university.

Published his first book in 1885, on "Congressional Government," which made for him a name as a scholar and thinker on political questions.

His next book, "The State," published in 1889, was the first work in English to present the subject of the operations of all constitutional governments.

In 1893 "Division and Reunion," "An Old Master and Other Political Essays" and "Mere Literature and Other Essays" came from his pen.

In 1896 the publication of "George Washington" added to his reputation as a writer and historian.

Elected president of Princeton university, in 1902, to succeed Dr. Francis L. Patton.

In 1902 published a "History of the People of the United States," said to be the first important work of its kind written by a southerner.

Named by the democratic party for governor of New Jersey in 1910, elected in November of that year, and inaugurated January 17, 1911.

In the autumn of 1911 his name was first prominently connected with the presidential nomination.

After a hard fight in the primaries he was nominated by the democratic party for president at Baltimore, July 2, 1912.

Officially notified of the nomination at his home at Seagirt, N. J., August 7, 1912.

Elected twenty-eighth president of the United States, Nov. 5, 1912, receiving 435 electoral votes out of a total of 531.

Resigned the governorship of New Jersey, March 1, 1913, in anticipation of his inauguration as president.

Left Trenton for Washington, March 3, 1913, escorted by practically the entire student body of Princeton university.

Inaugurated president of the United States, March 4, 1913, the first democrat to hold the office in sixteen years.

May Enjoin Road Levy.

Claiming that the Ashland charter exempts that city from paying a general county road tax, Attorneys Burns and Moore called upon County Judge Tou Velle today for a conference and following it stated that they would probably institute suit to enjoin the county from collecting the tax.

County Judge Tou Velle stated that he was of the opinion, and been so advised by attorneys, that the charter provision exempting Ashland from such a tax is unconstitutional. The case will probably be fought through the courts.—Tribune.
