

JACKSONVILLE POST
Official Paper of the City of Jacksonville, Oregon

A weekly newspaper published every Saturday at the county seat of Jackson County, Oregon. D. W. BACSHAW, Editor.

Entered as second-class matter June 22, 1907, at the post office at Jacksonville, Oregon, under Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

SATURDAY, MARCH 15, 1913

SUBSCRIPTION: One year by mail $1.50. Advertising rates furnished on application.

The Medford Sun in its Saturday edition has quite a "spiel" about a proposed robbery of the Beekman Banking House of this city. The reporter as usual allows his imagination to run wild and a stranger reading the florid account in the Sun would be led to think that "martial" rule existed in Jacksonville. The story about armed men patrolling the streets around the bank, etc., is all bosh and existed only in the imagination of the reporter.

Several parties are complaining as to the condition of certain outhouses on property near the center of the city alleging that the closets are in a very insanitary and filthy state. Such reports show the need of a sewer system, in fact the only remedy for the nuisance is the construction of sewers and the enacting of proper sanitary regulations.

Some people seem to think that Governor West is the "whole thing" not only in Oregon but also in guiding the ship of state at Washington, as evidenced by an article in a recent Medford paper regarding the appointment of a U. S. marshal for Oregon.

RESUME OF WORK OF LEGISLATURE

Session of 1913 Places 377 Laws on Statute Books

THIRTY VEToes OVERRIDDEN

Workmen's Compensation — Good Roads Laws—Agricultural Extension Work—Widows' Pensions—Minimum Wage for Women and Minors—Survey of State Resources—Investigation of Cello Power Project.

Salem.—The labors of the legislative assembly of 1913 have added 377 new laws to the Oregon codes. Of the new laws 10 are due to the passage of bills of the 1911 session and 20 of the recent session over the veto of the governor, including the general appropriation bill, while 337 were either approved by the governor or filed without his signature.

Three features marked the final session of the legislative assembly prior to the adjournment. One was the ease with which bills were passed over the veto whenever desired; another the consideration of vetoed measures on their merits, and the third the speed shown in the transaction of business.

Unquestionably many of the measures passed were of first importance, the list including the workmen's compensation act, good roads legislation, the agricultural college extension work bill, the minimum wage measure for women and minors, the widows' pension bill, laws affecting judicial procedure and the appropriations for the Panama-Pacific Exposition, the Columbia Southern Irrigation project, detailed survey of state resources and investigation of water power at Cello.

Bill Opening Rogue River Passed
 Abbott's printing measure was decisively defeated, but the bill opening Rogue river passed easily.

an appropriation of $50,000 and the governor one of $25,000, while this measure called for only $15,000.

In relation to appropriations, when the standing appropriations of more than $1,200,000 are deducted from the approximately $6,000,000 appropriation the total amount of drainage from the state treasury is reduced to a figure more nearly commensurate with the growth of the state and its institutions. There were also certain unusual features calling for large appropriations. It should be borne in mind also, that the legislators did not pile up the expenses of the taxpayers appreciably by extending the session beyond regular 90-day limit, as they draw no salary for the additional period worked and had to pay their own expenses.

Women Important Factor
 The part played by women at this legislative session was remarkable. That the lawmakers have taken them into consideration as a political factor is shown by the consideration displayed in the case of measures peculiarly affecting their interests. At the 1911 session such bills as now have become laws were thrown into the scrap heap without compunction.

As a rule the investigations made by the legislature were perfunctory. Relative to killing bad bills, two are worthy of special mention—one which would have created a plumbers' trust, and another which would have created an electricians' trust. With very few exceptions the record of this legislature as to so-called "hold-up measures" is excellent.

The following is a list of the important measures which will become laws:
Important Bills of the 1911 Session Passed Over the Veto.
 S. B. 6—Requiring local agents of railway companies to report accurately the time of arrival of trains.
 S. B. 42—Creating a livestock sanitary board and appropriating $50,000 therefor.
 S. B. 127—Prohibits the auditing by the secretary of state of claims of indebtedness against funds the appropriation for which has been exhausted.
 S. B. 129—Creates an emergency board to deal with deficiencies necessitated under the provisions of the preceding bill.
 S. B. 151—Providing for the creation and organization of new counties.
 H. B. 155—Providing for the drainage and disposition of swamp lands in the southeastern part of the state.
 H. B. 113—Amending the law requiring road supervisors to keep weeds from county roads by imposing such duty on the owners of property.

Important Bills of the Present Session Passed Over the Veto.
 H. B. 107—Increasing salaries of county judges.
 H. B. 107—Repealing the initiative law closing Rogue river to commercial fishing.
 S. B. 223—Providing for a detail survey and investigation of the Columbia river power project near The Dalles, with an appropriation of $15,000.
 H. B. 423—The general appropriation bill, aggregating $1,231,216.90.

Straight at It.
 There is no use of our "beating around the bush." We might as well cut with it first as last. We want you to try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy the next time you have a cough or cold. There is no reason so far as we can see why you should not do so. This preparation by its remarkable cures has gained a world wide reputation, and people everywhere speak of it in the highest terms of praise. It is for sale by all dealers.—Advertisement.

- Merely Filed by the Governor.
- H. B. 16—Relating to ballot titles on measures referred to the people.
 - H. B. 17—Repealing sections 3441 and 3442, relating to terms of office of the secretary of state, state treasurer, printer and supreme judges.
 - H. B. 41—Abolishing office of state land agent.
 - H. B. 84—Limiting indebtedness for irrigation districts.
 - H. B. 91—Amends sections 512 relative to maintenance and custody of children affected by divorce.
 - H. B. 34—Making 100 pounds the standard weight for a sack of potatoes.
 - H. B. 104—Relating to milk inspectors.

 California Woman Seriously Alarme.
 "A short time ago I contracted a severe cold which settled on my lungs and caused me a great deal of annoyance. I would have had coughing spells and my lungs were so sore and inflamed I began to be seriously alarmed. A friend recommended Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, saying she had used it for years. I bought a bottle and it relieved my cough the first night, and in a week I was rid of the cold and soreness of my lungs," writes Miss Marie Gerber, Saultelle, Cal.
