OPP MINE TO START
New Machinery to Handle Tailings Will be Installed.
 We are reliably informed that within a short time, probably three or four weeks, activities will be resumed at the Opp mine near this city. Thursday of this week an agreement was reached whereby a party of responsible and practical mining men will work the tailings from the mill, which carry a quantity of gold. As the old cyanide process of extracting the gold from these tailings has not proven entirely satisfactory in the past, it is proposed to institute a new method which it is believed will simplify the process and yield greater returns. To this end new machinery has been ordered and will arrive and be installed at the mine in the near future.
 The Opp mine, which is known as one of the richest propositions in Southern Oregon, has been closed down for some time, but it is confidently believed that a short time will see it running with a full crew of men.

The Apple as Food.

By far the most common fruit food is the apple. The apple is adapted, perhaps, more than any other fruit to a great variety of uses in the household. It is most frequently used raw, but is also employed in making sauces, pies and pastry of different kinds.
 Fully four-fifths of the ripe fruit is water and one-fifth solid material. About 15 per cent of the apple consists of nutritive materials. There are very small quantities of protein and fat both not exceeding 1 per cent, while more than 14 per cent of the ripe fruit consists of carbohydrates in the form of sugar. The food value of the apple, therefore, depends almost entirely upon this sugar. The flavor of the apple is determined both by the quantities of sugar contained therein as well as by certain ethereal oils, and by a substance which is common to most fruits, known as tannin. Tannin in the pure form is harmful to the system, but in the apple the quantity is so small that it produces no ill effects whatsoever.
 On the contrary, physicians and hygienists are agreed that the apple is a very beneficial food to eat in that it tends to promote a vigorous digestion. There are several points to be remembered, however, in regard to the healthfulness of apples. The fruit may prove injurious when eaten either in the unripe state or in the condition when it is overripe. The green apple is well known for its power to upset the digestive system. The overripe apple besides losing in nutritive value and in flavor, is apt to harbor injurious germs and eggs of insects. It is also well to remember that in the modern methods of apple cultivation a poisonous spray is employed to destroy parasites injurious to the apple. For this reason it is wise to peel the apple before eating or at least to wash its outer surface well.
 Measured by the cost of producing the apple is perhaps the cheapest article of diet. In many rural districts the apple is allowed to fall and rot because it does not pay to pick it. Artificial commercial conditions make the fruit much dearer than it should be. The fruit should be eaten to a much greater extent than it is at present, because it is nutritious and wholesome. — Ex.

COMMERCIAL CLUB MEETING

Well Attended and Pronounced Great Success.

"Patronize home industries" was the tenor of an address delivered by Edyth Tozier Weathered at an open meeting of the commercial club held in the High School Auditorium Thursday evening. Mrs. Weathered is a fluent and entertaining speaker and handled her subject in a finished manner. She pointed out openings for various industries in Jacksonville, and interspersed her remarks with anecdotes and witticisms which kept her audience in high good humor.
 The program of the evening was well arranged and excellently rendered, our "prominent citizens" responding nobly to the calls made upon them. Special mention is due the oratorical effort made by Col. John M. Williams, the originator and leading member of the local fat men's club. We can only say it was worthy the man and the state from which he hails. Musical and elocutionary numbers were exceptionally enjoyable.
 That our citizens realize the fact that the club is serving a useful purpose and appreciate its efforts to improve Jacksonville and exploit our resources is evidenced by a number of applications for membership handed in during the course of the meeting.
 It is the consensus of opinion of those attending that the effort to "Get Together" was a great success.

Arbor Day in County Schools.

County Superintendent Wells has sent out the following to school teachers of the county:
 To Teachers of Jackson County:
 A short time ago I mailed to you an Arbor day and bird book, which contains some excellent lessons for your use, not only on Arbor day, but at any other time. I hope you have already made good use of this book. If not I appeal to you not to let the opportunity pass to give suitable instruction to your pupils on the usefulness of trees and birds, and their proper care and protection.
 Arbor day, as established by law, is essentially a tree planting day, but in many of our schools, especially the rural schools, tree planting on the school ground is not very practical, on account of lack of protection and lack of care during the summer vacation. A few hardy varieties of trees and vines may be made to grow, but on the whole where such conditions exist I think tree planting by the pupils at their homes will be much more valuable.
 The purpose of this letter is to ask every teacher in Jackson county to make Friday, April 11, 1913, a clean up day and a day for giving instruction in tree culture and bird protection. In addition to whatever tree planting is done on the school ground, you are further requested to ask every pupil in your school of suitable age to plant a tree, a rose bush or some kind of shrub or vine at home, and report to you on the following Monday. File these reports to be referred to on Arbor day one year from now. At that time it will be interesting to know what permanent results come from your efforts now.

 Yours truly,
 J. PERCY WELLS,
 County School Superintendent.

Successful Irrigation

It is a reality when you are able to apply water to the soil in the right amount and at the right time. To be able to do this, you should control your own water supply for irrigating purposes. You can obtain water from streams, lakes, ponds, springs and wells, but to have absolute control over the water supply, you should use an IHC oil and gas engine to do the pumping. By doing so you also reduce the cost of pumping water to the minimum.

IHC Oil and Gas Engines

furnish cheap, dependable power for all farm purposes and to operate all kinds of farm machines—cream separators, feed grinders, wood saws, etc. They operate on gas, gasoline, naphtha, kerosene, distillate, or alcohol. They are thoroughly tested before leaving the factory and made to develop 10 to 30 per cent above rated horse power. They are built in many styles—stationary, portable, skid-mounted, vertical, horizontal, air-cooled, water-cooled; and in 1 to 50-horse power sizes. IHC oil tractors are built in 12, 15, 20, 25, 30, 45 and 60-horse power sizes. They furnish economical power for plowing, disking, seeding, harvesting, threshing, and for all kinds of belt power and drawbar work.
 There are satisfied users of IHC oil and gas engines for pumping purposes wherever irrigation is practiced. See the IHC local dealer. Get our catalogue on irrigation from him or write
