VIOLEATE PAROLE Medford Boys Must go to Reform School. Homer Reynolds and Roscoe Rumsey, both under sentence to the state reform school, were taken into custody this morning on a charge of petty larceny. And both admitted having stolen paper bags from the Medford Candy company and a number of gunnysacks from a rancher. Wednesday afternoon the boys sold some of the sacks to the Russ Mill, which promptly informed the police. When they returned with a fresh consignment next morning they were taken into custody. Both boys were out on parols and will now be committed to the state institution to serve during their minority, unless their conduct warrants another parole. FOREST BUSINESS Sales for Past Year Breaks the Record. Washington July 28.—The national forest business done during the fiscal year which ended June 30 surpassed all previous records. The receipts from the forest approached $2,500,000, of which about one-half was for timber, while contracts entered into for the sale of timber to be cut either at once or in later years totaled about $4,000,000. These sale contracts permit the cutting period to extend over a number of years when large bodies of timber are involved. Under existing laws 35 per cent of the gross receipts, or between $800,000 and $9,000, will go to the benefit of the states in which the forests are situated, for schools and roads. The records show that the volume of sales contracted for in different years fluctuates widely, with ups and downs according to general business conditions, while the actual cut has shown a fairly steady tendency to advance. In the fiscal year 1906 (July 1, 1905, to June 30, 1906), the first full year after the forest service was put in charge of the forests, the timber receipts were about $250,000 in the fiscal year 1907 something less than $700,000, and in 1908 about $850,000. In 1909 timber receipts dropped back to less than $750,000, but in 1910 and in 1911 were over $1,000,000, and in 1912 were nearly $1,100,000, as against about $1,250,000 for the year just closed. Forestry officials say that the principal factor in determining how much timber will be sold in any given year is the general lumber market which in turn depends largely on general business conditions. Thus, when indications are that a period of brisk demand is ahead, with increased building activity, railroad construction, mining development, and other forms of business expansion that call for lumber of timber, operators are seeking contracts. When business halts lumbermen naturally go slowly in the matter of committing themselves by new purchases on a large scale. But cutting under earlier purchases and small sales continues even in periods of depression. The gradual diminution of outside sources of supply and the steady development of the country, which create increased local demands, tend to offset the effects of such periods. As an illustration of this the figures for 1907 and the immediately following year are cited. In the fiscal year 1907 the forest service sold more timber than has been sold in any later year prior to that just closed. Contracts were made covering over a million feet, board measure. But in the fall of 1907 came business panic, followed by inactivity. Sales in 1908 disposed of less than 400 million feet and in 1909 of less than 300 million. In both these years more timber was cut under sales than was disposed of through new sales. The difference was the result of cutting under the contracts of earlier years. Last year's sales of over $4,000,000 worth of timber does not necessarily mean a prospective income from timber of this large amount in the immediate future. To bring this about there would have to be a series of big sale years. The present year may or may not see sales equal to those of the last. While general market conditions are at present less favorable to large commitments than they were six months ago, the aggressive sales policy now in force, with its opportunities for long-term purchases on fair terms where sales are possible in no other way, will probably counterbalance to a greater or less degree influences that may tend to check sales. The need of the national forest timber is growing and every year brings normally more of this timber within the radius of effective demand. The yearly cut and the income from the forests can reasonably be expected to rise in the future as it has been rising however the number of sales contracts may fluctuate. GOLDEN EDORADO TALES One Man at Shushanna Takes Out $8000 in 8 Days. Cordova, Alaska, July 31.—Coming out for more provisions, John Moon and Gus Larsen are at McCarthy today direct from the new placer strike in the Shushanna district. They report that Jennings, the owner of Discovery has taken out $8000 in eight days with two men shoveling and that men on the claim above Discovery were taking out $25 a day panning with ordinary tin plates. All the ground on Eldorado and Bonanza creeks has been staked as well as the benches, and other prospectors are covering the nearby streams, Moon reports. Moon and Larson brought out $100 worth of nuggets and a considerable amount of dust, with which to buy an outfit. Reports from the trail state that 75 men are at Scolai Pass and are having hard work getting over, owing to a snow storm. Men traveling light made it to the claims in five days, but those with a pack horse took seven. Word of the strike has traversed all over Alaska and mushers at Nome are trying to get the southbound steamer to come via this port. Some Oregon Improvements La Grande will get a Carnegie library. Electric Sparks No, Clarissa, bolts are not used to rivet caucuses together. A lobby is a large body of rumors surrounded by an investigation. Say, fellows! Would you ever think of asking a qualified voter for a kiss? The longer congress sticks, the stickier it feels and looks. From the distance it looks as if some perfectly good soldiers were about to die uselessly in the Balkans. President Wilson has considerably refrained from saying in regard to the lobby development, "I told you so." A number of prominent men seem to be anxious to second Broker Lamar's nomination to the Ananias club. With a battle line 140 miles long, it looks as though the Greeks and Serbs were bent on stringing each other. Having no militant suffragettes, could we not amuse ourselves by forcibly feeding the insidious lobby? Mexico should learn from us that investigations are much cheaper, more effective and more interesting than revolutions. Manuel of Portugal is to be married, exponents of the art of dancing will prece that he was a good advertisement while he lasted. Not only do bachelors die more rapidly than married men, but they lead in crime. There is no denying that woman is a blessing. Our notion of a thrifty young man is the one who waited for excursion rates before going to Portland to marry the girl of his choice. Of course, these ethical marriages may be alright; but where are you going to find an ethical judge equal to untying the ethical knot. A thorough lobby investigation may turn the once staid congressional Record into one of the most gossip publications in circulation. No lifetime is long enough to enable a man to keep posted on baseball and politics and at the same time follow the intricacies of the Mexican situation. An Oregon hen is given credit with having laid 99 eggs in 100 days. There was a holiday somewhere in the enterprise, but the hen evidently deserved it. That California man, 107 years old who boasts of his bachelorhood should not crow too soon; some woman may marry him just to show him that it can be done. POST MISTRESS RESIGNS Mrs. Denver Native of this City Resigns Office at Warren-ton after 8 Years Service. Warrenton, Or., July 30.—Mrs. Ev A. Denver, postmistress of Warrenton will give up the office September 30. She is a native of Jacksonville, Or., and was daughter of Eli Ledford, who served under Captain Harris as a mounted volunteer through the Indian wars of early days in Jackson county, being honorably discharged. He was afterwards killed by the Rogue River Indians when Mrs. Denver was an infant. Her grandfather, Captain Jesse Walker, crossed the plains by ox team in 1854. CHINESE ENGINEER Learned His Business in U. S. From the division headquarters of the Southern Pacific Company at Sparks, Nevada, comes the story of how one of the foremost leaders of the railroad systems of the new Chinese republic learned the rudiments of his calling in the Montello shops. Ah Chin, General Superintendent of Motive Power of the King Yuen Railway Company in China worked for the Southern Pacific company for twenty-seven years in the boiler shops, starting in as a helper and mastering the advanced details step by step, later to leave again for his own country to head the mechanical department of one of its greatest roads. With Ah Chin, at Winnemucca at one time, was also Dr. Sun Yat Sen, later chosen the first president of the Chinese republic. Though Sun Yat Sen did not work for the railroad company, he was always much interested in the development of western transcontinental lines, and is said to have applied many American methods in the Orient with pronounced success. Arsenate Spray Kills Babies Wenatchee, Wash., July 29.—Milk from a cow which had grazed in an orchard sprayed with arsenate of lead is held responsible for the death of three babies here. The babies were treated for dysentery and it was not until the cow died that the real cause of the deaths was revealed. All orchards in the valley were sprayed with this solution about 10 days ago and precautions are being taken to prevent more fatalities. The victims are the 3-year-old son of Raymond S. Duncan and the 3-year-old daughter of A. J. Templeton and Rufus Wood. The 14-month-old daughter of Mr. Templeton and the year-old son of Mr. Wood are seriously ill.
