Less Bowel Trouble

In Jacksonville

Jacksonville people have found out that A SINGLE DOSE of simple buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as compounded in Adler's-Ka, the German bowel and stomach remedy, relieves constipation, sour stomach or gas in the stomach INSTANTLY. This simple mixture became famous by curing appendicitis and it draws off a surprising amount of old foul matter from the body. It is wonderful how QUICKLY it helps. City Drug Store.

The Bee Medicine in the World. My little girl had dysentery very bad. I thought she would die. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy cured her, and I can truthfully say that I think it is the best medicine in the world. writes Mrs. William Orvis, Clare, Mich. ALL IN THREE WORDS

By ALLAN G. LAMOND

While scanning a newspaper for the purpose of passing the time my eyes lighted on the following advertisement:

Mrs. Durant—Healer. Removes the wear and tear of domestic troubles. Reunites divorced couples. Effects reconciliation between parted lovers.

I cut the ad. out of the newspaper and put it in my pocketbook. About once an hour I read it over. I wondered if Mme. Durant could help me. I wanted some one to go to Della and show her how unreasonable she had been. At last I started for the address given, with no definite purpose.

I expected to find Mme. Durant in a dingy apartment, with worn furniture and not overcleanly. Madame herself would doubtless be either French, Italian, Spanish or of some other superstitious race and rely chiefly for her fees upon any or all of these peoples. She would be of tawny complexion, hair like an Indian and eyes piercing black.

She was nothing of the kind. I rang the doorbell of a neat little house, and a tidy young woman answered the summons. She was Mme. Durant, only she was not an American and Durant was not her name. She had adopted it because she considered it more attractive than her own, Ida Smith. She invited me into a neatly furnished living room, and after humming and hawing and stammering I finally got out what I wanted to tell her about my difficulty with Della and asked if she would engage to bring the young lady to her senses.

She said that from what I had told her she judged Della to be entirely in the wrong, while the position I had taken was unimpeachable. She would engage to settle the matter between us for $100, half of which was to be paid in advance and the other half after the reconciliation. If there was no reconciliation I was not to pay the remainder of the fee. She was to make the acquaintance of my ex-fiancee, and without letting her know her mission gain her confidence and convince her that she owed me a humble apology.

This was a heads I win, tells you lose in favor of Miss Smith. But she seemed very confident of being able to bring Della and me together and had an honest confidence. This and my desire for a "makeup" decided me, and drawing a check for $50 I gave it to her. I sat some time after this listening to the cures she had effected. She had brought together a father and a daughter, the latter having been turned out of doors for marrying a man the father did not like. She had reunited no end of divorced couples and parted lovers. She did it all on a principle which could be stated in three words. When I asked her to give me these words she laughed and said, "Should I do so you would expect me to hand you back the retaining fee you have given me, and there would be no re-union."

I heard from Mme. Durant, or Miss Smith, as I prefer to call her, within two days. During this time she had managed to make Della's acquaintance and learned about our separation. The following was the letter I received from the woman I had hired to convince Della that she had ill treated me:

Dear Sir—I suppose you were giving me a correct version of the disagreement between you and your fiancee. I am convinced from what Miss Douglas has told me that you are entirely unworthy of so estimable a young lady. I return your check, since I find that the conditions under which I accepted it are entirely at variance with the facts. Yours truly,

MME. DURANT.

P. S.—Should you desire any further information in the matter you are at liberty to call at my house, and I will give it to you.

Astonished, chagrined, mortified, I began to consider what I had done to bring about such a result. I spent a week thinking upon my own share in the quarrel. At the end of that time I had made up my mind that I was as much to blame as Della. Then it occurred to me that if I was as much to blame as she the fault was all mine, for a man should have more control over himself than a woman whose nature is supposed to be more volatile.

I could not doubt Miss Smith's sincerity, for she had returned my fee and had no interest in deceiving me. I went to see her and had a talk with her, but gained no information. I confessed the result of my deliberations and told her I preferred that she should be paid for her trouble. So I handed her the check she had returned to me. Before accepting it she asked me what I was going to do. I told her I would go to Della and take all the blame for our disagreement.

As soon as I said this Miss Smith put the check in her pocket and, taking a note from a desk, handed it to me. I immediately recognized Della's handwriting. It read:

Dearest George—Miss Smith has convinced me that it was all my fault. Forgive me. Your loving DELIA.

I looked up at Miss Smith and saw her smiling at me. I sat thinking for a few moments during which an understanding of her adroitness found its way into my stupid brain.

"I think I can tell you," I said to her, "what is the principle on which you work." It is contained in three words. It is "Look within yourself."

"You have hit it exactly," was her reply.

POWER OF AN AUDIENCE.

Influence It Exerts Over an Actor or a Speaker.

No orator living was ever given enough to give on the same power and force an imagination to an empty hall, to empty seats that he could give to an audience capable of being fired by his theme.

In the presence of the audience lies a fascination, an indefinable magnetism, that stimulates all the mental faculties and acts as a tonic and vitalizer. An orator can say before an audience what he could not possibly have said previous to going on the platform, just as we can often say to a friend in an animated conversation things which we could not possibly say when alone. As when two chemicals are united a new substance is formed from the combination which did not exist in either alone, the speaker feels surging through his brain the combined force of his audience, which he canis inspire, a mighty power which did not exist in his own personality before he rose to his feet. No public speaker ever forgets that first surprising feeling of confidence.

Actors tell us that there is an indescribable inspiration which comes from the orchestra, the footlights, the audience, which it is impossible to feel at a cold mechanical rehearsal. There is something in a great sea of expectant faces which awakens the ambition and arouses the reserve of power which can never be felt except before an audience. The power was there just the same before, but it was not aroused—Success Magazine.

Identifying Himself.

It is said that at certain seasons in Scotland when the fishing is not very brisk the fishermen act as caddies and are easily recognized by their costume, a woollen jersey and trousers braided up to the armpits. One of these was asked his name by the gentleman for whom he was carrying and the reply was, "Well, herabouts they might call me 'Breeks,' but an 'maiden' name 'Briston'."

He Made Them Read It.

Daughter—Have you found out yet what it was that papa cut out of the paper? Mother—Yes, I thought of a copy I've read it all through, but to save my life I can't see anything wrong in it. It's an article on the vulgarity and silliness of buying gowns that are beyond one's means.

The Clock and the Watch.

"What pleased me most," said the man who had been abroad, "was the wonderful clock at Strassburg."

"Oh, how I should like to see it!" replied the ignorant youth. "And did you see the watch on the Rhine too?"

—Exchange.

Called the Bluff.

Mrs. X.—Yes, I tried to make my husband economize in smoking, so I told him if he ever smoked I would never speak to him again. Mrs. Y.—What was the result? Mrs. X.—His cigar bill was doubled the next month.

—Exchange.

Light Diet.

A Spanish proverb declares that "a papillote in paper cigars, a glass of clear water and a kiss from a pretty girl will sustain a man for a whole day."

Deafness Cannot Be Cured
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh of the Eustachian Tube, which cannot be cured by local applications, but can now be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure, sent for circulars, free.

Surprising Cure of Stomach Trouble.
When you have trouble with your stomach or chronic constipation, don't imagine that you are beyond help just because your doctor fails to give you relief. Mrs. S. J. Plunkett, N. J., writes, "For years and years I have been troubled with dyspepsia. Everything I ate upset it terribly. One of Chamberlain's advertising medicine agents saw me. After reading a few lines of Chamberlain's Tablets, I decided to try them. I had been sick nearly three-fourths of the time and can now eat almost anything I want." For sale by all dealers.

Dysentery is always serious and often a dangerous disease, but it can be cured. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy has cured it even when malignant and fatal. For sale by all dealers.
