

Curiosities of Korean Justice.
The Korean judge dispenses justice in the open, and by etiquette only the judge can sit. Every one else must stand, excepting the prisoner and his friends, who are forced to remain in a humble kneeling position with bowed heads. Until quite recently these trials were always very one-sided and shockingly unjust. When a man was brought to a judge it was taken for granted he was guilty, and if he did not confess he was tortured and made to do so. Witnesses, too, were openly bribed. In fact, giving evidence for or against an accused person meant a living to a portion of the community, and these witnesses naturally favored those who paid best. Punishments varied. If the prisoners were too full and the condemned could not pay a fine they were often given a chance to escape or disappeared by some means. Though these are things of the past, Korean judges, like those of China, possess a poor idea of the sense of justice. —Wide World Magazine.
