

LOCAL NEWS

G. A. Gardner was at Medford Thursday.

Roy Ulrich of this city was a recent visitor at Medford.

Fred Luy of Antelope, was a recent visitor in this city.

E. H. Helms of this city was a recent visitor at Medford.

Mrs. Minnie Kelly was a Medford visitor Sunday evening.

C. Brownstein, the Portland hide buyer was in town this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Adam Schmidt visited friends in Medford Monday.

W. R. Coleman was transacting business at Medford Wednesday.

County Clerk Gardner made a business trip to Medford, Monday.

The hotel at Galice creek, conducted by Mrs. Hawkins was burned Monday.

Judge E. B. Watson of Portland, visited friends in this city the first of the week.

J. M. Cantrall who been at the hospital at Medford for treatment has returned.

Frank Kashafer of this city was a business visitor at Medford Monday morning.

Mrs. L. F. Gardner of Sams valley was transacting business in this city Tuesday.

Medford newspapers propose Mrs. J. F. Reddy as a candidate for mayor of that city.

Mrs. L. I. Brown left Tuesday morning for a few days visit with friends at Grants Pass.

Bob Jeffreys of Butte Falls was transacting business in this city Saturday afternoon.

E. R. Reames, a pioneer of Jackson county, passed through the valley Tuesday evening.

G. E. Neuber of the Hanna ranch on Evan's creek, returned to the farm Sunday morning.

Geo. W. Trefren, Esq. of Ashland was transacting business in this city Monday forenoon.

George W. Cherry, Esq. of Medford was attending to professional business in this city Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ginet of Sterling Mining District were attending to business affairs in this city Tuesday.

The Josephine County Agricultural fair was held in Grants Pass this week with a "larger than usual" attendance.

Have you paid the last half of your taxes? Only ten more days in which to pay if you desire to avoid the penalty.

Mrs. M. H. Vance and C. H. Anderson of Piedmont, Calif. arrived Saturday, enroute to their mines on Forest creek.

Arthur Kleinhammer, the popular rancher and stock man of Buncom, was transacting business in this city recently.

William Packham, a prominent farmer of the Willow Springs district was transacting business in this city Wednesday.

H. V. Richardson, a prominent young attorney of Ashland was transacting legal business in this city Wednesday forenoon.

The concert given at the school house Monday night was pronounced "very fair," by those present but the attendance was small.

A forest fire has been reported in the Foothills district and several men from the Supervisor's office have been sent to look after it.

Fred Page, of the firm of Pearson & Page, commission merchants of Portland, is looking over the valley with a view to contracting for fruits and other products.

Fire at Medford Friday night destroyed a livery barn with most of its contents and a couple of unoccupied houses. Origin of fire is unknown. Loss $20,000.

Tom Lang, aged 84 years, a man well known to many of our readers, has filed on a homestead in Klamath county after having lived in Southern Oregon for more than sixty years.

Madame Mahoney teacher of music, physical culture, etc. is in town and is organizing a class in voice culture.

She also gives private instruction on the piano violin and other instruments.

The Industrial fair is being held at the school house to-day and judging by the interest being manifested by the school children it will be a great success. We will publish particulars next issue.

Mike Spanos and Frank Seymour convicted in the circuit court of the murder of George Dedeskalons last September and who were held at the penitentiary at Salem, pending an appeal to the supreme court, were brought down from Salem Friday afternoon, for sentence by Judge Calkins.

It is reported that Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Kelts, living near Talent, were arrested Tuesday morning on a charge of murder. It is said to have been committed Sunday morning. It is alleged that the Kelts took three shots with a revolver at Everett Bailey, as he walked by their home Sunday morning.

J. A. Thorndike was a visitor at Medford, Monday.

Charles Dunford was a visitor at Grants Pass, Sunday.

Miss Katie Burns of Watkins visited friends here Thursday.

E. H. Richards of Grants Pass was a visitor in this city, Monday.

Mrs. Gertrude Norton made a trip to Grants Pass, Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Harley Hall of Buncom were recent visitors in this city.

Joseph F. Hall of Sterling was transacting business in town Monday.

Charles Prim was attending to business matters at Medford Monday.

Miss Koppes, of Medford visited friends in this city Thursday afternoon.

W. C. Leever of Central Point was attending to business at the court house Monday.

Sheriff Singler and Deputy E. W. Wilson were visitors at Central Point, Wednesday.

Misses Flora Thompson and Fleta Ulrich were visitors at Medford Sunday evening.

Pat Swayne, of the Applegate valley a former resident of this city was in town Monday.

J. B. King and Tom Brown were fined $5.00 each for gambling in a pool room at Medford Sunday.

A change in the arrival and departure of trains on the R. R. V. railroad goes into effect Oct. 1st.

B. P. Platt, Esq., an attorney of Medford was transacting business at the court house Saturday afternoon.

Washington, Sept. 25.—On the heels of the Interstate Commerce Commission's scathing denunciation of the New Haven Road for the recent Wallingford wreck in which it was held that "man failure," beginning with its high officials and ending with its trainmen, was responsible for the loss of 21 lives and 100 injuries, the Interstate Commerce Commission today began to take up the whole subject of legislation for train safety at the December session.

An effort will be made to empower the Interstate Commerce Commission to deal with such questions as steel cars and modern safety equipment. Commissioner McChord, who has investigated many recent wrecks, is drafting a bill to place such power with the Commission.

Washington, Sept. 25.—On the heels of the Interstate Commerce Commission's scathing denunciation of the New Haven Road for the recent Wallingford wreck in which it was held that "man failure," beginning with its high officials and ending with its trainmen, was responsible for the loss of 21 lives and 100 injuries, the Interstate Commerce Commission today began to take up the whole subject of legislation for train safety at the December session.

An effort will be made to empower the Interstate Commerce Commission to deal with such questions as steel cars and modern safety equipment. Commissioner McChord, who has investigated many recent wrecks, is drafting a bill to place such power with the Commission.

Washington, Sept. 25.—On the heels of the Interstate Commerce Commission's scathing denunciation of the New Haven Road for the recent Wallingford wreck in which it was held that "man failure," beginning with its high officials and ending with its trainmen, was responsible for the loss of 21 lives and 100 injuries, the Interstate Commerce Commission today began to take up the whole subject of legislation for train safety at the December session.

An effort will be made to empower the Interstate Commerce Commission to deal with such questions as steel cars and modern safety equipment. Commissioner McChord, who has investigated many recent wrecks, is drafting a bill to place such power with the Commission.

Washington, Sept. 25.—On the heels of the Interstate Commerce Commission's scathing denunciation of the New Haven Road for the recent Wallingford wreck in which it was held that "man failure," beginning with its high officials and ending with its trainmen, was responsible for the loss of 21 lives and 100 injuries, the Interstate Commerce Commission today began to take up the whole subject of legislation for train safety at the December session.

An effort will be made to empower the Interstate Commerce Commission to deal with such questions as steel cars and modern safety equipment. Commissioner McChord, who has investigated many recent wrecks, is drafting a bill to place such power with the Commission.

Washington, Sept. 25.—On the heels of the Interstate Commerce Commission's scathing denunciation of the New Haven Road for the recent Wallingford wreck in which it was held that "man failure," beginning with its high officials and ending with its trainmen, was responsible for the loss of 21 lives and 100 injuries, the Interstate Commerce Commission today began to take up the whole subject of legislation for train safety at the December session.

An effort will be made to empower the Interstate Commerce Commission to deal with such questions as steel cars and modern safety equipment. Commissioner McChord, who has investigated many recent wrecks, is drafting a bill to place such power with the Commission.

Washington, Sept. 25.—On the heels of the Interstate Commerce Commission's scathing denunciation of the New Haven Road for the recent Wallingford wreck in which it was held that "man failure," beginning with its high officials and ending with its trainmen, was responsible for the loss of 21 lives and 100 injuries, the Interstate Commerce Commission today began to take up the whole subject of legislation for train safety at the December session.

An effort will be made to empower the Interstate Commerce Commission to deal with such questions as steel cars and modern safety equipment. Commissioner McChord, who has investigated many recent wrecks, is drafting a bill to place such power with the Commission.

Washington, Sept. 25.—On the heels of the Interstate Commerce Commission's scathing denunciation of the New Haven Road for the recent Wallingford wreck in which it was held that "man failure," beginning with its high officials and ending with its trainmen, was responsible for the loss of 21 lives and 100 injuries, the Interstate Commerce Commission today began to take up the whole subject of legislation for train safety at the December session.

An effort will be made to empower the Interstate Commerce Commission to deal with such questions as steel cars and modern safety equipment. Commissioner McChord, who has investigated many recent wrecks, is drafting a bill to place such power with the Commission.

Washington, Sept. 25.—On the heels of the Interstate Commerce Commission's scathing denunciation of the New Haven Road for the recent Wallingford wreck in which it was held that "man failure," beginning with its high officials and ending with its trainmen, was responsible for the loss of 21 lives and 100 injuries, the Interstate Commerce Commission today began to take up the whole subject of legislation for train safety at the December session.

An effort will be made to empower the Interstate Commerce Commission to deal with such questions as steel cars and modern safety equipment. Commissioner McChord, who has investigated many recent wrecks, is drafting a bill to place such power with the Commission.

Washington, Sept. 25.—On the heels of the Interstate Commerce Commission's scathing denunciation of the New Haven Road for the recent Wallingford wreck in which it was held that "man failure," beginning with its high officials and ending with its trainmen, was responsible for the loss of 21 lives and 100 injuries, the Interstate Commerce Commission today began to take up the whole subject of legislation for train safety at the December session.

An effort will be made to empower the Interstate Commerce Commission to deal with such questions as steel cars and modern safety equipment. Commissioner McChord, who has investigated many recent wrecks, is drafting a bill to place such power with the Commission.

Washington, Sept. 25.—On the heels of the Interstate Commerce Commission's scathing denunciation of the New Haven Road for the recent Wallingford wreck in which it was held that "man failure," beginning with its high officials and ending with its trainmen, was responsible for the loss of 21 lives and 100 injuries, the Interstate Commerce Commission today began to take up the whole subject of legislation for train safety at the December session.

An effort will be made to empower the Interstate Commerce Commission to deal with such questions as steel cars and modern safety equipment. Commissioner McChord, who has investigated many recent wrecks, is drafting a bill to place such power with the Commission.

Washington, Sept. 25.—On the heels of the Interstate Commerce Commission's scathing denunciation of the New Haven Road for the recent Wallingford wreck in which it was held that "man failure," beginning with its high officials and ending with its trainmen, was responsible for the loss of 21 lives and 100 injuries, the Interstate Commerce Commission today began to take up the whole subject of legislation for train safety at the December session.

An effort will be made to empower the Interstate Commerce Commission to deal with such questions as steel cars and modern safety equipment. Commissioner McChord, who has investigated many recent wrecks, is drafting a bill to place such power with the Commission.

Washington, Sept. 25.—On the heels of the Interstate Commerce Commission's scathing denunciation of the New Haven Road for the recent Wallingford wreck in which it was held that "man failure," beginning with its high officials and ending with its trainmen, was responsible for the loss of 21 lives and 100 injuries, the Interstate Commerce Commission today began to take up the whole subject of legislation for train safety at the December session.

An effort will be made to empower the Interstate Commerce Commission to deal with such questions as steel cars and modern safety equipment. Commissioner McChord, who has investigated many recent wrecks, is drafting a bill to place such power with the Commission.

Washington, Sept. 25.—On the heels of the Interstate Commerce Commission's scathing denunciation of the New Haven Road for the recent Wallingford wreck in which it was held that "man failure," beginning with its high officials and ending with its trainmen, was responsible for the loss of 21 lives and 100 injuries, the Interstate Commerce Commission today began to take up the whole subject of legislation for train safety at the December session.

An effort will be made to empower the Interstate Commerce Commission to deal with such questions as steel cars and modern safety equipment. Commissioner McChord, who has investigated many recent wrecks, is drafting a bill to place such power with the Commission.

Washington, Sept. 25.—On the heels of the Interstate Commerce Commission's scathing denunciation of the New Haven Road for the recent Wallingford wreck in which it was held that "man failure," beginning with its high officials and ending with its trainmen, was responsible for the loss of 21 lives and 100 injuries, the Interstate Commerce Commission today began to take up the whole subject of legislation for train safety at the December session.

An effort will be made to empower the Interstate Commerce Commission to deal with such questions as steel cars and modern safety equipment. Commissioner McChord, who has investigated many recent wrecks, is drafting a bill to place such power with the Commission.

Washington, Sept. 25.—On the heels of the Interstate Commerce Commission's scathing denunciation of the New Haven Road for the recent Wallingford wreck in which it was held that "man failure," beginning with its high officials and ending with its trainmen, was responsible for the loss of 21 lives and 100 injuries, the Interstate Commerce Commission today began to take up the whole subject of legislation for train safety at the December session.

An effort will be made to empower the Interstate Commerce Commission to deal with such questions as steel cars and modern safety equipment. Commissioner McChord, who has investigated many recent wrecks, is drafting a bill to place such power with the Commission.

Washington, Sept. 25.—On the heels of the Interstate Commerce Commission's scathing denunciation of the New Haven Road for the recent Wallingford wreck in which it was held that "man failure," beginning with its high officials and ending with its trainmen, was responsible for the loss of 21 lives and 100 injuries, the Interstate Commerce Commission today began to take up the whole subject of legislation for train safety at the December session.

An effort will be made to empower the Interstate Commerce Commission to deal with such questions as steel cars and modern safety equipment. Commissioner McChord, who has investigated many recent wrecks, is drafting a bill to place such power with the Commission.

Washington, Sept. 25.—On the heels of the Interstate Commerce Commission's scathing denunciation of the New Haven Road for the recent Wallingford wreck in which it was held that "man failure," beginning with its high officials and ending with its trainmen, was responsible for the loss of 21 lives and 100 injuries, the Interstate Commerce Commission today began to take up the whole subject of legislation for train safety at the December session.

An effort will be made to empower the Interstate Commerce Commission to deal with such questions as steel cars and modern safety equipment. Commissioner McChord, who has investigated many recent wrecks, is drafting a bill to place such power with the Commission.

Washington, Sept. 25.—On the heels of the Interstate Commerce Commission's scathing denunciation of the New Haven Road for the recent Wallingford wreck in which it was held that "man failure," beginning with its high officials and ending with its trainmen, was responsible for the loss of 21 lives and 100 injuries, the Interstate Commerce Commission today began to take up the whole subject of legislation for train safety at the December session.

An effort will be made to empower the Interstate Commerce Commission to deal with such questions as steel cars and modern safety equipment. Commissioner McChord, who has investigated many recent wrecks, is drafting a bill to place such power with the Commission.

Washington, Sept. 25.—On the heels of the Interstate Commerce Commission's scathing denunciation of the New Haven Road for the recent Wallingford wreck in which it was held that "man failure," beginning with its high officials and ending with its trainmen, was responsible for the loss of 21 lives and 100 injuries, the Interstate Commerce Commission today began to take up the whole subject of legislation for train safety at the December session.

An effort will be made to empower the Interstate Commerce Commission to deal with such questions as steel cars and modern safety equipment. Commissioner McChord, who has investigated many recent wrecks, is drafting a bill to place such power with the Commission.

Washington, Sept. 25.—On the heels of the Interstate Commerce Commission's scathing denunciation of the New Haven Road for the recent Wallingford wreck in which it was held that "man failure," beginning with its high officials and ending with its trainmen, was responsible for the loss of 21 lives and 100 injuries, the Interstate Commerce Commission today began to take up the whole subject of legislation for train safety at the December session.

An effort will be made to empower the Interstate Commerce Commission to deal with such questions as steel cars and modern safety equipment. Commissioner McChord, who has investigated many recent wrecks, is drafting a bill to place such power with the Commission.

Washington, Sept. 25.—On the heels of the Interstate Commerce Commission's scathing denunciation of the New Haven Road for the recent Wallingford wreck in which it was held that "man failure," beginning with its high officials and ending with its trainmen, was responsible for the loss of 21 lives and 100 injuries, the Interstate Commerce Commission today began to take up the whole subject of legislation for train safety at the December session.

An effort will be made to empower the Interstate Commerce Commission to deal with such questions as steel cars and modern safety equipment. Commissioner McChord, who has investigated many recent wrecks, is drafting a bill to place such power with the Commission.

Washington, Sept. 25.—On the heels of the Interstate Commerce Commission's scathing denunciation of the New Haven Road for the recent Wallingford wreck in which it was held that "man failure," beginning with its high officials and ending with its trainmen, was responsible for the loss of 21 lives and 100 injuries, the Interstate Commerce Commission today began to take up the whole subject of legislation for train safety at the December session.

An effort will be made to empower the Interstate Commerce Commission to deal with such questions as steel cars and modern safety equipment. Commissioner McChord, who has investigated many recent wrecks, is drafting a bill to place such power with the Commission.

Washington, Sept. 25.—On the heels of the Interstate Commerce Commission's scathing denunciation of the New Haven Road for the recent Wallingford wreck in which it was held that "man failure," beginning with its high officials and ending with its trainmen, was responsible for the loss of 21 lives and 100 injuries, the Interstate Commerce Commission today began to take up the whole subject of legislation for train safety at the December session.

An effort will be made to empower the Interstate Commerce Commission to deal with such questions as steel cars and modern safety equipment. Commissioner McChord, who has investigated many recent wrecks, is drafting a bill to place such power with the Commission.

Washington, Sept. 25.—On the heels of the Interstate Commerce Commission's scathing denunciation of the New Haven Road for the recent Wallingford wreck in which it was held that "man failure," beginning with its high officials and ending with its trainmen, was responsible for the loss of 21 lives and 100 injuries, the Interstate Commerce Commission today began to take up the whole subject of legislation for train safety at the December session.

An effort will be made to empower the Interstate Commerce Commission to deal with such questions as steel cars and modern safety equipment. Commissioner McChord, who has investigated many recent wrecks, is drafting a bill to place such power with the Commission.

Washington, Sept. 25.—On the heels of the Interstate Commerce Commission's scathing denunciation of the New Haven Road for the recent Wallingford wreck in which it was held that "man failure," beginning with its high officials and ending with its trainmen, was responsible for the loss of 21 lives and 100 injuries, the Interstate Commerce Commission today began to take up the whole subject of legislation for train safety at the December session.

An effort will be made to empower the Interstate Commerce Commission to deal with such questions as steel cars and modern safety equipment. Commissioner McChord, who has investigated many recent wrecks, is drafting a bill to place such power with the Commission.

Washington, Sept. 25.—On the heels of the Interstate Commerce Commission's scathing denunciation of the New Haven Road for the recent Wallingford wreck in which it was held that "man failure," beginning with its high officials and ending with its trainmen, was responsible for the loss of 21 lives and 100 injuries, the Interstate Commerce Commission today began to take up the whole subject of legislation for train safety at the December session.

An effort will be made to empower the Interstate Commerce Commission to deal with such questions as steel cars and modern safety equipment. Commissioner McChord, who has investigated many recent wrecks, is drafting a bill to place such power with the Commission.

Washington, Sept. 25.—On the heels of the Interstate Commerce Commission's scathing denunciation of the New Haven Road for the recent Wallingford wreck in which it was held that "man failure," beginning with its high officials and ending with its trainmen, was responsible for the loss of 21 lives and 100 injuries, the Interstate Commerce Commission today began to take up the whole subject of legislation for train safety at the December session.

An effort will be made to empower the Interstate Commerce Commission to deal with such questions as steel cars and modern safety equipment. Commissioner McChord, who has investigated many recent wrecks, is drafting a bill to place such power with the Commission.

COMPANY ORGANIZED

Jacksonville Conserving Company Incorporated, Company Organized and Directors Chosen.

The Jacksonville Conserving Company, whose articles of incorporation were filed with the Commissioner at Salem Saturday, was organized at a meeting of stockholders held in Attorney Bagshaw's office Thursday afternoon, one-half of the capital stock having been subscribed.

The articles of incorporation cover a number of different undertakings in which the company proposes to engage, chief among which are the canning, evaporating and conserving of fruits, vegetables, cereals, etc. and the making of grape and other fruit juices, cider and vinegar. The making of butter, cheese and other dairy products is also included in the powers of the company and also the manufacture and sale of ice and distilled water. The company will also pack and ship fruits in the natural state during the proper season.

An election of directors resulted in the choice of P. S. Bandy, William H. Johnson and George Launsbach to serve for the ensuing term of one year. A set of by-laws outlining a plan of government for the concern were submitted and on motion adopted. It is expected that the directors will hold their first meeting to-day, when the President, Secretary, Treasurer and other officers will be chosen and steps taken to begin operations in a few days.

Electric Sparks

And now everybody wants to know how it is that Vice President Marshall happens to know so much about the tango.

To add good deal further to his abnormal troubles, Sulzer has been approved by Blease.

For close inattention to the issue under discussion, Jim Ham Lewis' speech on the income tax is about the finest burst of eloquence since the crime of '73.

We have an idea that a lot of sins are charged against the house fly that he is entirely innocent of, but we are in favor of exterminating him nevertheless.

In Sweden they are about to pass a law "giving women the right to propose marriage." There are so many unnecessary laws.

Notice of City Marshal's Sale of Property for Delinquent Special Benefit Assessments.

PUBLIC NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that by virtue of and pursuant to the command of that certain warrant of date August 22nd, A. D. 1913, issued by the City Recorder of the City of Jacksonville, Jackson County, State of Oregon under his official signature and under the seal of the City of Jacksonville aforesaid and which warrant was issued pursuant to the order of the City Council of aforesaid City at a regular session of said council held on the 1st day of July, A. D. 1913, and wherein I am commanded to forthwith levy upon each lot or part thereof or parcel of land therein and hereinafter described upon which the assessment levied by Ordinance No. 177 of said City is unpaid and delinquent and has not been bonded as provided by law, and sell the same in the manner provided by law for the satisfaction of said respective assessments, with interest and costs to date of sale, including cost of advertising due upon each lot or part of lot or parcel of land, I, the undersigned City Marshal of the City of Jacksonville aforesaid, as such officer and for the purpose of executing the aforesaid warrant have levied upon the aforesaid property and on the 29th day of September, A. D. 1913, at the front door of the City Hall in the aforesaid City, same being the building in which the Council holds its sessions, at 9 o'clock A. M. of said day, will sell at public auction to the highest bidder for cash in hand, the following described lot or parts of lots or parcels of land situated in the City of Jacksonville, Jackson County, State of Oregon, to-wit:

Assessment No. 3, District No. 5, Page 113, Volume 1, City Lien Docket, Clarence Reeve, owner or reputed owner, South 100 feet of tract fronting 52 1/2 feet on the north side of California street, described in Volume 90, Page 61, of the Deed Records of Jackson County, Oregon. Amount $21.75, interest $1.00, costs $6.30, total $28.95.

Herein above and set opposite to the description of each respective lot or part of lot or parcel of land is the name of the owner or reputed owner of said respective property, or the words "Owner Unknown" as the same appears on the Docket of City Liens, the amount of assessment unpaid thereon, the interest and costs to date of sale, including cost of advertising due upon each respective property.

Each of said respective lots or parts of lots or parcels of land will be sold separately to satisfy the assessment, interest and costs due upon each.

Dated at Jacksonville, Jackson County, Oregon, this 26th day of August, 1913.

(Signed) M. D. JONES,

City Marshal of the City of Jacksonville, Oregon.

each respective property.

Each of said respective lots or parts of lots or parcels of land will be sold separately to satisfy the assessment, interest and costs due upon each.

Dated at Jacksonville, Jackson County, Oregon, this 26th day of August, A. D. 1913.

(Signed) M. D. JONES,

City Marshal of the City of Jacksonville, Oregon.

Notice of City Marshal's Sale of Property for Delinquent Special Benefit Assessments

PUBLIC NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that by virtue of and pursuant to the command of that certain warrant of date August 22nd, A. D. 1913, issued by the City Recorder of the City of Jacksonville, Jackson County, State of Oregon, under his official signature and under the seal of the City of Jacksonville aforesaid, and which warrant was issued pursuant to the order of the City Council of the aforesaid City at a regular session of said Council held on the 1st day of July, A. D. 1913, and wherein I am commanded to forthwith levy upon each lot or part thereof or parcel of land therein and hereinafter described upon which the assessment levied by Ordinance No. 172 of said City is unpaid and delinquent and has not been bonded as provided by law, and sell the same in the manner provided by law for the satisfaction of said respective assessments, with interest and costs to date of sale, including cost of advertising due upon each lot or part of lot or parcel of land, I, the undersigned City Marshal of said City, as such officer and for the purpose of executing the aforesaid warrant have levied upon the aforesaid property and on the 29th day of September, A. D. 1913, at the front door of the City Hall in aforesaid City, same being the building in which the Council holds its sessions, at 9 o'clock A. M. of said day, will sell at public auction to the highest bidder for cash in hand, the following described lot or parts of lot or parcel of land situated in the City of Jacksonville, Jackson County, State of Oregon, to-wit:

Assessment No. 7, District No. 2, Page 108, Volume 1, City Lien Docket, S. Sachs, owner or reputed owner, Lots 1 and 5 and the west 35 feet of Lots 2 and 6 in Block 37. Amount $40.20, interest $2.90, costs $6.30, total $49.40.

the description of each respective lot or part of lot or parcel of land is the name of the owner or reputed owner of said respective property, or the words "Owner Unknown" as the same appears on the Docket of City Liens, the amount of assessment unpaid thereon, the interest and cost to date of sale including cost of advertising due upon each respective property.

Each of said respective lots or parts of lots or parcels of land will be sold separately to satisfy the assessment, interest and costs due upon each.

Dated at Jacksonville, Jackson County, Oregon, this 26th day of August, 1913.

(Signed) M. D. JONES,

City Marshal of the City of Jacksonville, Oregon.

Jacksonville Druggist Deserves Praise

City Drug Store deserves praise from Jacksonville people for introducing here the simple buckthorn bark and glycerine mixture, known as Adlerika. This simple German remedy first became famous by curing appendicitis and it has now been discovered that JUST A SINGLE DOSE relieves sour stomach, gas on the stomach and constipation INSTANTLY. It's quick action is a big surprise to people.

The Best Medicine in the World. "My little girl had diphtheria very bad. I thought she would die. Chamberlain's Cough, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy cured her, and I can truthfully say that I think it is the best medicine in the world," writes Mrs. William Orvis, Clare, Mich. For sale by all dealers.—Advertisement.

It Pleased the Composer. A curious story is told as to how the Rothschilds supported Cana, the composer. The latter was far from rich. His principal income was derived from his principal income was derived from a snuffbox. And this was the way of it: The snuffbox was given to the author of "La Prison d'Edinburgh" by Baron James de Rothschild as a token of esteem. Cana sold it twenty-four hours later for 75 napoleons to the same jeweler from whom it had been bought. This became known to Rothschild, who gave it again to the musical man on the following year. The next day it returned to the jeweler. This trade continued till the death of the banker and longer still, for his sons kept up the tradition, to the great satisfaction of Cana.

Reversed the Terms. An old negro who lived on a southern plantation went to the nearby city for a visit and while there went to see his young "master," who was living in the city at the time. On his return the young man's mother