Faulty Lights Cause Accident

The failure of Prestolite on one car and no lights on another caused a head on collision on the Jacksonville road Thursday night between W. H. Gore's car and a car driven by August Lawrentz. The force of the crash knocked Mr. Lawrentz against the wheel and he sustained severe bruises. Mrs. Gore suffered considerably from the nervous shock but was resting easily last night. Both cars were injured, the Lawrentz car being practically demolished. The Gore machine sustained a broken radiator and wind shield.—Sun

Klamath Farmers Lose Money

Refusal to grade potatoes and other products of the farm is costing the farmers of Klamath county thousands of dollars a year. The statement recently by a potato buyer that he would make more money on the potato crop of Klamath county than will the farmers, by the simple expedient of grading the spuds bought by him, ought to cause every farmer to sit up and think.

There is too little care taken by the farmer as to the condition of grade of his crop when he brings it to market.—Klamath Northwestern.

Editor Fined $200.

Salem, Or., Nov. 8 —J. E. Hosmer, editor of the Silverton Journal, who was convicted in the Circuit Court here Friday of criminal libel against Mount Angel Convent, was sentenced to pay a fine of $200 by Judge Kelly today, Attorneys for Hosmer immediately after the sentence was imposed served notice of appeal to the Supreme Court.

Hosmer was charged with libeling the convent by printing in a pamphlet an interview with a nun alleged to have escaped from it. In this interview she charged those connected with the institution with gross immoralities.

Summons.

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT OF THE STATE OF OREGON FOR JACKSON COUNTY

Bertha S Barnum, Plaintiff.

vs.

Joseph Dame and Annie E. Dame, Defendants. Suit in Equity to Quiet Title.

To Joseph Dame and Annie E. Dame his wife, the above named defendants:

You and each of you are hereby required to appear in the above entitled Court and cause and there answer the complaint of the plaintiff on file therein against you within ten days from the date of the service of this summons upon you, if served within Jackson County, Oregon, or if served within any other County of Oregon, then within twenty days from the date of the service of this summons upon you, or if served by publication or out of the state after an order of publication then on or before the last day prescribed in the order for the publication of the said summons, which last day is the 20th day of December, 1913 and you will take notice that if you fail to appear and answer said complaint plaintiff will apply to the Court above named for a decree in favor of plaintiff decreeing that she is the owner of lots seventeen and eighteen in block twenty-three in the City of Medford, Jackson County, Oregon, and that said defendants and each of them be forever enjoined and debarred from asserting any claim whatsoever in or to any of the said property so owned by plaintiff or any part thereof adverse to plaintiff and for such other and further relief as to the Court shall seem just and equitable.

This summons is published in the Jacksonville Post, a weekly newspaper published and of general circulation in Jackson County, Oregon, by order of the Hon. F. M. Calkins, Judge of the above entitled Court, dated November 3rd, 1913, which order directs this summons to be served upon you by publication thereof in said newspaper once a week for six consecutive weeks from and after the date of the first publication, which first date of publication is the 8th day of November, 1913, and last date of publication being the 20th day of December, 1913. And said order requires you and each of you to answer on or before the last day prescribed in the order for the publication of said summons and that in default thereof a decree will be entered as prayed for.

CHARLES PRIM,
Attorney for Plaintiff.

The Youths Companion in 1914

Seven college presidents and a number of college instructors, including ex President Taft, will contribute to The Youth's Companion during 1914.

Then there is Gene Stratton Porter whose stories of Indiana woods swamps have made her famous, and Kate Douglas Wiggin, who never wrote a dull line in her life, and Mrs. Burton Harrison, who remembers when conversation was really an art as practised in Washington and in the manor houses of Virginia. And this is just a beginning of the list.

If you know The Companion, you have a pretty clear idea of what is in store for next year's readers. If you do not know, ask us to send you sample copies—for instance, those containing the opening chapters of Arthur Stanwood Pier's fine serial—"His Father's Son." Full Announcement for 1914 will be sent with the sample copies.

Agonies of Gout.

An English nobleman in a London club one evening gave some of his fellow members a picturesque description of the gout.

"You lie in bed," he said, "with the gouty food stretched out, and you feel as though the sole of it was pressed against the bars of a redhot fire. In the middle of the furnace is a fellow with a gun loaded to the muzzle with redhot needles. Presently he fires the gun at your foot, and you feel the redhot needles travel up your leg and come out at the knee, not all at once, but like the animals that went into the ark, two by two. When the last couple of needles have finished the course you find yourself sweating with fear and wondering how long it will be before the fellow fires the gun again. Presently you find he is under contract to fire it every five minutes, and you get ready for the discharge, but you can never be said to get accustomed to it, because the blackguard loads it with a new kind of redhot needle every time and sometimes adds half a dozen redhot corkscrews. That's the gout."

Who would patronize gout after that?

The Spider and the Bee.

A correspondent of Countryside was sitting one day upon an English moor, watching a large heather spider as it crouched expectant in its web. Suddenly he saw the spider firmly grip the web with its feet and shake it with all its might. After awhile it repeated the operation, and soon the reason became apparent. Whenever a bee flew near the web the spider gave this warning signal. It did not want any such visitor. If a bee happened to get entangled in the web the spider at once cut out that part and so rid itself of its unwelcome guest. That any creature can weave a web more intricate than a fisherman's net and, moreover, that it should possess the instinct or reasoning power to put the web in the best place and there patiently await its prey suggests that the border line between instinct and reason is far from distinct.

The Word Lady.

Connected, no doubt, with the cheapening of the word "lady" has been the practical disappearance of the "gentlewoman." The distinction between the two was brought out in the seventeenth century rules of civility, which declared that "in visiting a lady it is not enough to salute her, but her gentlewoman also, if she be then present." At the beginning of the nineteenth century "one who has marked with attentive observation the late vicissitudes in kingdoms and governments and, with a precision almost prophetic, foretold what would happen" advertised in the Times his readiness to "give such advice to persons of fortune as may prove of the very utmost importance to them." "When a lady requires an interview," said the advertisement, "a gentlewoman will give her the meeting."—London Mail.

Joseph Didn't Get It.

It is related that Napoleon ordered from Breguet, the famous Paris watchmaker, a watch for his brother, Joseph, who was at the time king of Spain. The back was of blue enamel, decorated with the letter "J" in diamonds.

In 1813 Napoleon was present at a military parade when a messenger arrived bearing a brief dispatch, in which it was stated that the French army had been completely defeated at Vittoria. It was manifest that Spain was lost. Always severely practical, all that Napoleon did, after glancing at the dispatch, was to turn to his secretary and say, "Write to Breguet and tell him that I shall not want that watch."

It is believed that the watch was eventually bought by the Duke of Wellington.

Alliterative Tongue Twisters.

A novel competition was held at a very Bohemian West End club recently for the best alliterative gem that would tie knots in the tongue of the most careful speaker. The following are some of the best of the "tongue twisters" sent in:

A growing gleam growing green.

The bleak breeze blighted the bright blossoms.

Flesh of freshly fried flying fish.

Strict strong Stephen Stringer snared slickly six sickly silly snakes.

The prize was won by the sender in of the following:

Give Grimes Jim's great gilt gig whip.

—London Sketch.

Some Names.

Surnames are not what they seem. For instance, Lind is derived from a Teutonic word meaning a "snake." The apparently quiet and harmless surname Wren comes from a word which denotes "rapine." Fish, though such an innocent name in appearance, originally meant "impetuous."

Easy Problem.

A negro wished to deposit some money in the postal savings bank and the clerk asked his age. "Well, boss," he replied, "I don't know jus' how old I is, but I was born in March an' you kin count it up for yo'self."—Everybody's.

His Selection.

"She told me to kiss her on either cheek."

"And you"—

"I hesitated a long time between them."—Lehigh Burr.

Ignorance.

"Pa, what's a contretemps?"

"I don't know. I've never learned the names of all these automobile parts."—Judge.

That early bird story still holds good

Music.

Music is a job lot of vibrations furnished to hotels and restaurants for the purpose of adding to the discomfort of the guests. Music is also used for other purposes. It comes in pianos, harps and organs and sometimes though rarely, in human beings and phonographs. Babies often furnish music when least expected and at hours not always approved of by respectable people.

Music at one time was called a heavenly maid. But she is now mostly clothed in ragtime and is known as flossy. In short, music has run the scale from classic to classy.

Like eggs and other historic back numbers, music is now kept in cold storage and comes in reels and cans. Handmade music is gradually being superseded by the factory made article.

At one time music, singular as it may seem, was used to make music. Now it is used to make a noise.—Life

Worth Looking At.

A man who was something of a gourmet ordered a dinner for himself and his party which, from the menu, should have been very palatable, but apparently it was not so. Course succeeded course, and toward the end of the meal the host could restrain himself no longer. He called up the waiter and expostulated. "I ordered a good dinner, and we have waited patiently for some satisfactory dish. The soup was a failure, the fish was a disappointment, the entree uneatable, and I am sorry to tell you that during the whole dinner there has been nothing worth looking at." The waiter looked troubled for an instant, and then, brightening up, said, "If you wait a moment, sir, I will bring you the bill."—Chicago News.

Servants In Bogota.

The domestic problem is reduced to a minimum in Bogota. Good domestics are plentiful and cheap. Five to ten dollars a month is high pay. In the houses of the well to do the servants are well treated and lead happy lives. They have ample quarters of their own, centering round their own patio, and enough of the old patriarchal regime survives to make them really a part of the family.—"Colombia."

Method In Her Singing.

The Caller—Who is that singing? The Hostess—That's our new maid. She always sings at her work. The Caller—What a happy disposition! Mercy, how loud she sings! The Hostess—Yes. When she sings loud she's breaking something.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Lucky.

An editor who started about twenty years ago with only 55 cents is now worth $100,000. His accumulation of wealth is owing to his frugality, good habits, strict attention to business and the fact that an uncle died and left him $99,999.—Editor and Publisher.

Advance Information.

"Was it a case of love at first sight?"

"They call it that, although before they met she had heard that he was wealthy, and he had been told she was an heiress."—Detroit Free Press.

Enough Said.

She—Do you know Mr. Boreleigh, the author? He—No. But I have a nodding acquaintance with his works —Boston Transcript.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.
