Our article in last week's issue regarding the Sun's account of the Lincoln Day banquet at Medford, seems to have stirred the ire of both the Sun and Ashland Tidings and judging from the broadsides of sarcasm hurled at us, we evidently touched some tender spots. Passing up that phase of the Sun's reply, however, we notice with pleasure that the Sun says:

"What we do want is the complete and absolute retirement of the Democratic party from national affairs in 1916, and we are going to do everything we can—with the Jacksonville Post's permission—to bring that about."

Go to it. You have our consent and hope it will not be like your support of the Republican nominees last fall. Bro. Greer in the Tidings, seems to be mixed in his ideas as to "majorities." If he will look up the registration list of last year he will notice that what he terms the old line republicans were enough in the majority to entitle them to rule their party and prescribe the policies thereof. He says: "under the American system majorities are supposed to rule. If progressives are in the majority why should not they have the larger part in the pronouncements and conduct of the party?" Sure, just what we said in the article to which the Tidings excepts, but the editor of the Tidings forgets that the progressives had but a handful of voters at the last election and should this handful dominate the thousands who supported the regular nominees of the republican party? "Better come off the perch" Brother Tidings. Be consistent if you can.

In another column appears a resolution of the city council submitting a proposed amendment to the city charter, to a vote of the people, March 2. If adopted, the amendment will do away with the present system of nominating candidates for city offices by mass meeting, and will require that all candidates be nominated by petitions filed with the recorder not less than fourteen days prior to the regular city elections. The promoters of the amendment claim that this amendment will place all candidates on an equality as to the "backing" behind them, while under the present system those nominated by the mass meeting have an advantage over those who are nominated later on by petition. As the proposed amendment will interfere with the rights of no one and will tend to remove some dissatisfaction now existing, we believe that it will be good to vote for it.

The Grants Pass Observer had the following to say regarding the Sun's account of the Lincoln Day banquet. The middle of the Observer's article, (represented below by stars) consisted of Col. Sargent's address.

Medford had a Lincoln birthday banquet Friday night last which the republican organization promoted. It was participated in by Bull Moosers as well, but they had only a subsidiary interest, since at the last election not enough "progressives" voted to maintain an organization. In fact, the percentage of votes is so meagre that the party is now barred by law from getting on the Oregon ballot.

In the face of what Colonel Sargent here said, the next morning's Sun comes out and flagrantly proclaims: "Republicans Join With Progressives at Lincoln Banquet."

Now that the Sun has no party and no following, it should dispose of its plan to the use of real republicans, and if the editor feels that he can not stand for republicanism, let him move into California, where he can fall into the arms of Bull Moosers galore. Possibly the lease of life there will be longer.

City Politics are looking up this week: in addition to the ticket nominated by the mass meeting, two candidates for councilman have been nominated by petition: Judge Neil and Chauncey Florey. This will give the voter at the polls four names from which to select two for the position.

Enchanted Gardens.

It has always seemed to me that no child had been quite fairly treated who had not lived with the fairies in an enchanted garden. There must be walls about such a garden to hold in memories and tall trees for mystery and such fragrance and shadows, and the child must sometimes play alone that its delicate joy may not be marred. What peace this garden will bring in the old dry years to come, what ineffable tears, what longing!

Pierre Loti found his first touch of romance in a sweet French garden where there were friendly old aunts, much color perfume and long life, still days.

I remember a wonderful haunted wood in Holland which rested at the edge of a queen's garden and was all a soft translucent green. The trees met overhead and sent down pale green shade, and the little stream that moved so slowly through the woods was like a narrow strip of jade. Even the air was green and heavy with stories, and I knew that there were fairies every where, hiding under the leaves, peering at me from the thick fern beds and sailing silver boats down the jade river.

Umbrella Morals.

"Not long ago at a tea," said a man who frequents such decadent diversions, "somebody walked off with a new umbrella of mine. What I got in return was not fit for publication."

"I spoke to the host about it. She was at a bachelor apartment and he gave me a list of all those present, with their addresses about twenty-five persons, suggesting that I write and ask who had a new umbrella in place of an old one."

"I took it with some degree of hope, which he at once crushed by telling me that on one occasion he had lost a new silk hat at a social function and the hostess had given him a list of sixty-two men who had been among those present. He wrote to the entire list and received four replies in the negative. The others simply ignored his notes of inquiry."

"Thereupon I concluded to let somebody have my new umbrella. But stealing's stealing just the same. In my opinion." —New York Sun Unique.

Dotting Mother. Our Willie's teacher has paid him a high compliment. Sympathetic Friend. How was that? Dotting Mother. Why, she wrote me that Willie's spelling was quite remarkable and that she had never known of anything quite like it. Richmond Times-Dispatch.

Horses in Argentina.

Horses imported into Argentina are taught to avoid a poisonous weed that the native animals shun naturally by forcing them to inhale smoke from burning piles of the weed.

Boiled Dynamite.

Fifteen to twenty drops is the usual amount of boiled dynamite of "soup," as it is known among engineers, used in moving the massive safe. They carry it in a small bottle.

One Consolation.

Console yourself, dear man, my brother; whatever you may be sure of is sure at least of this that you are freer than the other people. Lowell.

It is hard luck to pass under a ladder—if it happens to be the ladder of fame.—Life.

First Steps in English.

The police in Calcutta caught a native coming out of a shop early in the morning and arrested him on suspicion. The man had on the previous evening concealed himself inside the shop and had employed the time until morning in fitting himself with a complete suit of clothes, including a white shirt, with studs and links, a red tie, carefully put on black socks, a pair of patent leather, watch and chain, handkerchief, pocket knife, straw hat and cane. He even went the length of writing his name inside the hat. On being arraigned before a magistrate he gave the queerest excuse imaginable. He said that he wanted to learn English and as a preliminary step thought it best to dress like an Englishman.

What He Wanted.

Arthur H. Engobach in his collection of anecdotes of the bench tells this story about Lord Braxfield, who was among the rest of the Scotch judges who rigidly adhered to the broad Scotch dialect.

"Have ye any counsel, men?" he said to Maurice Margot when placed at the bar.

"No," was the reply.

"Do ye want to hae any appointment?" continued the judge.

"No," said Margot. "I only want an interpreter to make me understand what your lordship says."

Greenland Summers.

Things grow very fast in the short Greenland summer. As soon as the snow melts off in many places the ground is covered with a vine which bears a small berry something like "blackberry." It is really tasteful, but it is juicy, and the natives are fond of it.

To the Point.

Her Father. Young man, I must ask your object in coming here so often. Young Man. I love your daughter, sir. She is adorable, a queen. Her Father. Then, I take it, your object is to become her subject. Very well, she's yours.—Boston Transcript.

Insects in Flight.

Motion pictures of insects in flight show that they regulate their speed by changing the inclination of their wings rather than by altering the rigidity of their motion.

Uncleasant.

"The man who tells us of our faults is our best friend," quoth the philosopher.

"Yes, but he won't be long," added the mere man. Judge.

Perhaps it is.

"If you want a thing well done"—
"Get an expert to do it for you. Ah! that more sense than what you were going to say?"

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remediation. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. This is the only way to cure deafness, and it is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

We will give you a hundred dollars for your case of deafness caused by catarrh, if you do not recover by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circular, free.
