

28

Jacksonville Post

SATURDAY, JANUARY 29, 1915.

LOCAL NEWS

And still it snows.

Mrs. Jack Reiter was a recent visitor at Medford.

Harry Lewis was over from Central Point Sunday.

Mrs. Lewis Ulrich was a recent visitor at Medford.

Lawrence Brown was a visitor at Medford Monday.

H. P. Inman of Salem was a recent visitor in this city.

Fred Collins spent Saturday with friends in Medford.

Louise Ensele was a visitor at Medford Tuesday night.

Rev. P. S. Bandy was a visitor at Medford Wednesday.

Pat Swayne of Watkins was a visitor in town this week.

Floyd Minear of Griffin Creek was a visitor in town Sunday.

Harry Thomas of Watkins was a recent visitor in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Ulrich were visitors at Medford Sunday.

Frank Coleman of Medford visited friends in town Sunday.

Pearl Pankey of Central Point was a visitor in this city Sunday.

Ralph James of Redding, Cal. was a recent visitor in this city.

John George of Albany, Oregon was a visitor in town this week.

Judge F. L. TouVelle was a Saturday evening visitor in Medford.

If you like this paper, drop in and subscribe. Only $1.50 per year.

Miles Cantral of Ruch transacted business in this city Wednesday.

Daniel Ulterm of Gold Hill, transacted business in this city Thursday.

Dr. Van Fossen is announced to preach in the Methodist church Sunday evening.

Jewell Bailey, Mary Bagshaw and Louise Ensele were visitors in Medford Saturday night.

Sheriff Singler was a recent visitor on official business, in the Willow Springs district.

Get your stationery printed at this office. Our work is guaranteed and our prices are right.

Misses Mildred, Nila and Francis Neil at tended "The Typhoon" at the Page Wednesday night.

Flo Thompson, Gertrude Dunnington and Emma Wendt were visitors at Medford Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Hanna entertained Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Bagshaw at dinner Wednesday evening.

Alfred Norris, Julian Abbott, Thos. Thompson and Ike Dunford were Saturday evening visitors in Medford.

Rev. and Mr. Hutchinson were present at the farewell banquet to Rev. Shields in Medford on Wednesday evening.

C. C. Chandler of Medford an orchardist and former newspaper man, was a business visitor in this city Saturday afternoon.

Charles Metzger of Roseburg is examining lands in the valley this week with a view of locating if he finds a place to suit.

Better get your butter wrappers printed at this office and comply with the law governing the sale of butter products.

Judge TouVelle who had been laid up for a few days with a slight attack of appendicitis has resumed his duties at the court house.

During the year just closed fruit growers of this valley shipped 480 carloads of fruit by freight, divided as follows: apples, 218 cars; pears, 225; peaches, 17; grapes 9; grapes and pears 1; fresh fruit, 10. Under normal conditions the shipments should have totaled at least 3000 carloads.

Prof. E. L. Pitter, instructor in Agricultural Husbandry at the state agricultural college at Corvallis, will address the stock raisers of the valley, at the public library, Medford, next Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. All stockmen and others interested in the improvement of the livestock of the valley are requested to attend this meeting.

The Ashland Tidings and Medford papers have cleared for action in a "Newspaper war." The Mail Tribune in a recent issue, commenting on the Tidings soliciting subscriptions in Medford at the net rate of 15 cents per year, brings out a column and a quarter article by Brother Greer, in which he states that "the net price to the publisher" of the Tidings is more than both the juvenile dailies are worth. In an editorial article, the Tidings expresses the opinion that "Medford was suffering from the lack of an intelligent newspaper." Further on in the same article the author advises the "Medford Village press to hire a lawyer to censor their items before they go to press." Go to it boys, war is on for the participants, but in this instance it is fun for the others.

You can find a Notary Public at this office.

Poultry show at Medford February 10-11-12.

Harley Hall of Buncom was a recent visitor in town.

Ed Saltmarsh of Buncom was a visitor in town Friday.

Sheriff W. H. Singler spent Wednesday afternoon in Medford.

B. F. Platt an attorney of Medford was a visitor in town today.

A. L. Harlow of Montague, Cal. was a visitor in this city Thursday.

The present wintry weather has boosted the trade in firewood.

Ira Kime of Griffin Creek was in town Friday sober as a judge.

We print Trespass Notices and No Hunting, signs, at this office.

Louis Dean of Grants Pass transacted business in this city Monday.

James Brayton of Klamath Falls was a recent business visitor in this city.

People will read a neat printed bill, but will not look twice at a bad scrawl.

Sheriff Singler and Deputy Wilson were recent business visitors at Ashland.

County Clerk George A. Gardner was a visitor at Medford Wednesday evening.

Louis Daraan of Yreka, California, was a business visitor in town this week.

Richard Gaskin assisted the regular force in the Post's printing shop this week.

Harden Wells of Olympia, Wash. is a business visitor in the valley this week.

H. S. Stine an insurance man of Medford was a business visitor in this city Friday.

Rev. Hutchinson of this city will preach in the M. E. church at Ashland tomorrow night.

J. S. Howard of Medford who has been quite ill with an attack of lagrippe is reported to be improving.

Cliff Dunnington and Mary Bagshaw were at Medford to see "The Typhoon" Wednesday night.

One of Medford's hogs has been incarcerated in the city pound at a place, says the Mail Tribune.

Doc Helms of Medford was over Monday and purchased five or six head of horses from E. D. Stephenson.

Mrs. Annie Kendall, died in Medford Monday, January 24, aged 81 years. She was a native of Pennsylvania.

County politics are rather quiet this week; a prospective candidate for county treasurer is about the only new one in sight.

B. R. McCabe of Medford is mentioned as a probable candidate for the Democratic nomination for prosecuting attorney.

Myrtle Blakely, present deputy county treasurer, has filed her declaration as a candidate for the Republican nomination for county treasurer.

George Jones, the butcher who conducted the City Meat Market for several months, moved his household goods to Grants Pass Monday morning.

The funeral of Mrs. Sarah A. Chappell, a pioneer of Southern Oregon, was held in this city Sunday. Obituary in another column of this paper.

Prof. F. C. Smith, principal of the public schools of this city will be a candidate for the Republican nomination for County Superintendent of schools.

Eastern magazines for sale in Oregon have cut out all liquor advertisements in order to comply with the requirements of the new prohibition law of the state.

Taylor-Williams Co. has leased the brick building used by Luy & Keegan for a saloon and will occupy it as a warehouse for the storage of hay, grain flour and other bulky merchandise.

Mrs. Francis K. Balger, wife of Horace D. Badger of Ashland, died suddenly at Oakland, Cal. Saturday. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Tavenor of Ashland and was aged 27 years.

Voters will do well to remember the following dates: Last day to register for the Primary Election is April 15; last day to file petitions or declarations for nominations for county offices or for justice of the peace is April 19; date of Primary Election is May 19.

Fined for Breaking Dry Law

P. H. Swabb, manager of the Shasta hotel, 268 Gilean street, was fined $250 in municipal court this morning for violating the prohibition law forbidding the sale of liquor.

The heaviest fine that has been imposed since the state went dry was inflicted after a stormy trial, in which Judge Stevenson announced that "head ache" raids would find no favor in his court.

Swabb appeared in his own behalf and admitted the sale of a flask of whiskey to Patrolman Wright and a "steed pigeon." He said that the man begged for it, Wright claiming that he had a terrible headache.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Sarah A. Chappell, Pioneer of Jackson County.

Mrs. Sarah A. Chappell died at her home in Jacksonville, Oregon, Jan. 22, 1915. Her age was 78 years 6 months and 17 days. She was laid to rest in the Jacksonville cemetery, Jan. 23, 1915.

Mrs. Sarah A. Chappell was born in New York state July 4, 1837. She was married to Lyman Chappell in 1850 and four years later with her husband, came to the Pacific Coast by way of the Isthmus of Panama, locating in Oregon near Independence.

In 1858 they moved to Jackson county and settled on the Little Applegate, soon however, acquiring what is now known as the Devin ranch, near Uniontown, where they resided for many years.

Later they occupied successively the Benedict and the Rickoff properties, both on the Applegate River, and finally the Lance ranch on Footh Creek, where in the fall of 1887 Mr. Chappell died.

The succeeding spring Mrs. Chappell came to Jacksonville and engaged in the hotel business which she continued until 1897.

By her death Southern Oregon loses one of its most typical and best beloved pioneers. Here was the hospitality of by-gone days and no one ever asked in vain, a favor she had power to grant. Generous to a fault her sole regret was that she had not more to give.

She leaves to mourn her son, Richard C., and all who knew her; for none could know her but to love her.

She goes to meet an ever loving husband, fond kindred and a multitude of friends who've gone before.

There is no death! The stars go down To rise upon some fairer shore; And bright in Heaven's jeweled crown They shine forever more.

There is no death! The leaves may fall, And flowers may fade and pass away; They only wait through wintry hours, The corn of the May.

There is no death! An angel form Walks o'er the earth with silent tread; He bears our best loved things away; And then we call them "dead."

Fish Eating Cattle.

The use of fish as food for cattle is an idea more novel than agreeable. According to Nature, however, it is a common practice in various parts of the world. In Shetland and Iceland the farmers feed dry salt fish to cattle, sheep and even to horses. Cecil Wood, describing experiments of this nature, mentions that certain special cattle, kept for display at the village festivals in Nandyal, in India, are fed with mutton and adds that it is a fairly common practice to make use of handicuts by pounding them in a mortar and feeding them to cattle. In Mr. Wood's experiments two lots of heifers were fed on dried fish diet and normal diet respectively.

The animals took a little time to get used to the fish, but they ate it readily enough. At the end of six months the fish fed heifers showed an average increase in weight of fifty-four pounds against seventy pounds for the normally fed animals.

Beauty Merely a Matter of Health.

Not long ago a woman said, "If I could afford to have a course of treatment in a beauty parlor I might do something for my appearance." She needed to be told that the daily bath, plain, nonpoisonous food, eight hours of sleep every night, a daily walk, sensible clothing and really good books would do more for her attractiveness than any beauty parlor could possibly do, writes Dr. Maudie Kent in Good Health.

To have health means to live the daily life of work and play in a state of bodily ease, mental vigor and spiritual growth. We must consider health in this threefold aspect, for more and more health is not desirable, nor a fine mind in a stunted, pain racked body; nor soundness that disregards the laws of the body and intellectual attainment. It is the all round person who is the telling, efficient force in the world, and the world greatly needs every human being developed to his greatest capacity.

Chemical Dangers.

A professor of a northern university who was as remarkable for his felicity in experimenting as Bonelli could be for his failures was once repeating an experiment with some combustible substance, when the mixture exploded, and the phial which he held in his hand blew into a hundred pieces. "Gentlemen," said the doctor to his pupils, with the most unaffected gravity, "I have made this experiment often with the very same phial and never knew it to break in my hands before." The simplicity of this rather superfluous assurance produced a general laugh, in which the learned professor, who instantly discovered the cause of B. joined most heartily. Dr. E. L. H. in Medford Plekwick.

A Complication Removed

By ESTHER VANDEVEER

"This John King," said Mrs. Haskins to her daughter Isabel, scanning a newspaper, "who is spending his money so lavishly must be the same man with whom you had that flirtation ten years ago when we were staying in Rome."

"Oh, mamma!"

"Why are you so moved, my dear? Surely there was nothing serious between you and him, and that was a long while ago."

"There was something between us, mamma."

"There was?" asked the mother in her turn, showing concern.

Isabel made no reply to the question, but after deep thought said:

"I wish to meet this Mr. King. If he is the same I met ten years ago I shall do all I can to win him."

"Why so—to secure his large fortune?"

"No; to remove a serious complication."

That was all the mother could get out of her daughter. The society news was scanned from day to day until Mr. King was mentioned as a guest at the house of one of Mrs. Haskins' friends. The lady was appealed to to bring about a meeting between Mr. King and Miss Haskins and did so at a dinner given by the mutual friend. After the dinner Isabel returned to her home with a red spot in each cheek and a spark in each eye.

"Well?" said Mrs. Haskins.

"Oh, mother, he has no remembrance of me whatever."

"Then he is the man we supposed him to be?"

"He is."

"And do you still desire to marry him?"

"Absolutely."

"Did he seem pleased with you?"

"I think so."

"Why is it not to his interest as much as yours that you and he should be married?"

"Perhaps it is."

"Then why do you not tell him of your meeting ten years ago, giving him the reasons, if he does not already know them, why he should marry you?"

"Because I loved him then. I love him now, and I wish him to marry me for love, not for any other reason whatever."

The mother was obliged to be satisfied with this statement, though curiosity was sharpened by her interest in her daughter. In time Mr. King was invited to the Haskins' to dinner. He came and set Isabel's heart wildly throbbing by saying some deliciously sweet words to her. But when later he met her at a social function she saw him chatting with another girl, and, judging from his expression, he was saying sweet words to her, causing Isabel's heart to sink as rapidly as it had risen.

A few days later Mr. King called, making an excuse the offering of his box at the opera. Either he was the same skillful love maker he had been a decade before or he was much smitten with Miss Haskins. In his conduct were many of the indications of a sure affection.

And so the affair went on. At one time he would be devoted to her; at another she would hear that he was browsing among the prettiest girls in the social swim. What most troubled her was that he was passing into that age where a bachelor's admiration is bestowed upon girls much younger than himself.

However, as the weeks flew by his devotion to Isabel grew more constant. He had appeared to purposely display attentions to young girls when she was present to observe them. This he was gradually giving up. Indeed, the affair between them had gone so far that his attentions to other girls ceased to trouble her. Flowers had begun to come from him to her, a sure sign that a proposal is about to be made. One evening when King followed a box of them he had sent her called, and when Isabel came down to meet him he put his arms about her, kissed her warmly and said:

"My dear wife, it is time this play came to a climax."

"What?"

"Yes, I knew you the moment I saw you. Immediately after that wedding which was set up between us in a youthful frolic I went to a lawyer and asked him if it could be carried into a legal marriage. He replied that if we both intended it as such it was within the law of wedlock. It was intentional with me. If it was the same with you we were married ten years ago."

"In my heart it surely was intentional."

"I resolved," continued King, "that as soon as I had accumulated a sufficient I would ask you the question that would, if answered in the affirmative, make us one. I have since been more than fortunate. I came here purposely to find you. When I saw that you did not remember me—"

"I did," interrupted Isabel. "I supposed, however, that you did not recognize me."

"I wished to win you."

"And I wished just as much to win you."

When Isabel joined her mother she gave evidence that something momentous had happened.

"You are engaged!" exclaimed Mrs. Haskins.

"No—married."

"Married?"

"Yes, we have been married ten years, but we didn't know it."

BUSINESS CARDS.

GUS NEWBURY
Attorney-at-Law
Will Practise in All Courts in the State
MEDFORD, OREGON

D. W. BAGSHAW
Attorney at Law
NOTARY PUBLIC AND CONVEYANCER
Office with Jacksonville Post.
JACKSONVILLE, OREGON

H. K. HANNA
Lawyer
Office in Bank of Jacksonville Building
JACKSONVILLE, OREGON

DR. T. T. SHAW
Dentist.
Office in Ryan Building, California St.
Upstairs
JACKSONVILLE OREGON

Weather Report.

Following is the report of U. S. Volunteer Cooperative Observer, E. Britt, Jacksonville, for month of December. Latitude 42 deg. 18. min. north; longitude 123 deg. 5 min. west.

Date	Maximum	Minimum	Precipitation
1	43	29	0
2	69	41	0
3	55	41	0
4	53	34	0
5	50	35	0
6	51	43	0
7	49	40	0
8	56	35	0
9	52	35	0
10	41	33	0
11	45	32	0
12	48	34	0
13	45	39	0
14	43	36	0
15	42	31	0
16	36	26	0
17	40	34	0
18	41	31	0
19	48	39	0
20	48	39	0
21	49	41	0
22	52	44	0
23	48	42	0
24	45	37	0
25	44	32	0
26	34	24	0
27	35	25	0
28	40	33	0
29	34	27	0
30	36	11	0
31	32	21	2.51

Temperature—mean max. 44.93; mean min. 33.29; mean 39.17. Max. 60 on 2. Minimum, 11, on 30. Greatest daily range, 21. Total precipitation 2.51 inches. Greatest in 24 hours, 0.89 in. on 5. Number of days with .01 inch or more precipitation, 16, clear, 2; partly cloudy, 11; cloudy, 18. Precipitation for season, 7.08. Precipitation for last season, 7.05. E. BRITT, Cooperative Observer

THE THRICE-A-WEEK EDITION OF THE NEW YORK WORLD

Practically a Daily at the Price of a Weekly. No Other Newspaper in the World Gives so Much at so Low a Price.

There has never been a time when a newspaper was more needed in the household. The great war in Europe has now entered its second year, with no promise of an end for a long time. These are world shaking events, in which the United States, willing or unwilling, has been compelled to take a part. No intelligent person can ignore such issues.

The Presidential contest also will soon be at hand. Already candidates for the nomination are in the field, and the campaign, owing to the extraordinary character of the times, will be of supreme interest. No other newspaper will inform you with the promptness and cheapness of the Thrice a Week edition of the New York World.

THE THRICE-A-WEEK WORLD'S regular subscription price is only $1.00 per year, and this pays for 154 papers. We offer this unequalled newspaper and together for one year for $2.00 cash only.

JACKSONVILLE POST
The regular subscription price of the two papers is $2.50.

During the past fiscal year, approximately 45,000 persons obtained timber directly from the national forests.

TRACK THREATENED AT WOLF CREEK

Fill in Trestle Work is Slipping and Trains Run in Muck.

Roseburg, Or., Jan. 26—The danger of a tieup on the Southern Pacific at Wolf creek is great, as the filling made last summer on the trestle work is slipping and the wall of the mountain excavation is also sliding, threatening to cover and even move the whole track. Most of the track near the place where the dirt was excavated is running over with mud, gangs of men continually shoveling the slipping mud off the track. For a considerable distance the trains run through three or four inches of mud.

COLUMBIA COUNTY RECALL

Petitions Ordered Circulated Charge Court With Incompetence.

St. Helens, Or., Jan. 25—The subcommittee of the Columbia County Taxpayers' league appointed by the board of directors to inquire into the matter of recalling the present county court, Judge A. L. Clark and Commissioner Harvey and Wood made their report at a special meeting of the league held here Saturday afternoon, recommending such recall. Bert West of Scappoose, was appointed a committee of one to circulate recall petitions, now ready, and which will allege extravagance, incompetence and utter disregard of the taxpayers' wishes. Also that the court purchased a five-passenger touring car without first advertising for bids. On the filing of the petitions with the county clerk the president of the league will call a meeting of the taxpayers of the county, when nominations of candidates will be made to oppose the present incumbents. It is expected the petitions will be filed within ten days and the election held some time in February. The membership of the Columbia County Taxpayers' league is nearly 500 taxpayers.

Electric Sparks

(From Off Our Wireless)

Some of those Hot Spring Press stories looked like the veriest hooey moonshine.

Grand chorus on the water wagon "Ho v thirsty I feel."

The Jingles who assure the New York papers that they are ashamed to be Americans are still not in the trenches.

Once in a very great while you meet up with an Irishman who doesn't claim that the blood of Irish kings flows in his veins.

A woman will overlook if a husband forgets her birthday but she never forgives him if he forgets their wedding anniversary.

Man proposals don't go in 1915. There are indications that the water wagon has an ambition to become a steam boiler.

After you have turned over a new leaf, you had better put a good heavy paper weight on it.

What has become of the old-fashioned man who used to be arrested for searching on his bicycle?

Suggestion of an aviation squad for Panama reminds that Gothals long ago began making the dirt fly.

Among other things, 1915 will be long remembered in the old state as the year when the jug got a jar.

In the height of combat hardly any of the belligerents are sufficiently careful where they leave their bricks.

Ford is no sailor, but he appears to have qualified as a skipper.

Cost of removing Panama slides gives "dirt cheap" a decidedly ironical twist.

When a fat woman is rich, she isn't fat. She has a becoming Emboupoint.

All the heroes aren't in the trenches. Here's Doc Cook turning up in Copenhagen.

At that, the Kaiser isn't half as sick as he's going to be before this war is over.

Speaking of American securities, we don't know any to beat an adequate army and navy.

A man who doesn't gossip about other people may miss a lot of the spice of life. But he is never kept busy nursing a pair of black eyes.

Europe might start a peace ship this way to persuade America not to make any plans for military defense.

Life in Washington is getting to be just one note after another.

The municipal election for city officers will be held early in March.