Lassen Peak Sends Up Smoke 10,000 Feet

Redding, Cal., July 12.—Lassen Peak burst into volcanic action again yesterday, belching a great column of smoke and powdered ejecta to an estimated altitude of 10,000 feet, according to reports received today.

The eruption was the first of great magnitude since October 31. An outbreak of minor importance, the last one until yesterday, was observed November 22. Lassen peak erupted for the first time in a long period of years in May, 1914.

Forest Notes

About seven hundred million feet of timber was cut on the National Forests in 1915.

Experiments with jack pine have shown that it is well suited for making kraft paper. On some of the National Forests this tree is used to plant and which is too poor to grow other timber.

A new fire-fighting tool has been invented by a forest ranger in California which consists of an interchangeable hoe and rake. It is said to be the best tool of the sort yet devised.

The use of orange for making dyes promises to be extensive. The Forest Products Laboratory is making a census which shows that the supply of the wood is more than ample to meet present needs.

It is estimated that there is 348 billion feet of privately owned timber in Oregon west of the Cascade Range, and 270 billion feet in Washington. The National Forests contain 162 billion feet, making for the west side of the two states a total stand of timber estimated at 780 billion board feet.

Forest Notes

That dynamite is used to remove the tops from trees selected as spar trees for the skyline logging rig of the Munley-Moses Lumber Company camp at Fairfax, Wash., is reported by Forest officer L. A. Nelson, who has just returned from a visit to this camp.

Instead of using a saw or an ax, the headrigger puts on a pair of long spurs and climbing irons and ascends the tree to a height of from 100 to 150 feet. He carries with him several sticks of dynamite tied together, and to end, like a string of sausages. This he puts around the tree trunk, which is usually about 12 inches in diameter at the point where he wishes to take off the top, taping the powder securely in place. A detonating cap, to which a long piece of fuse is attached is inserted in one of the sticks of dynamite. The rigger descends twenty feet or so, lights the fuse and makes his way to a safe place on the ground some distance from the tree. After a few minutes the powder explodes, the tree top leaps into the air and comes crashing down. The limbs are removed from the trunk before the top is shot out, so that after the explosion the stub is ready for attaching the blocks of the overhead logging system.

This method of getting the tops off, which is only experimental at present, is expected to prove safer and more economical than sawing or chopping off the top, which makes it necessary for the feller to remain in the tree until the top has fallen.

Lumber And Shingle Plant Burus At Night

Albany, Or., July 12.—The mill of the Potter Lumber & Shingle company, near Mill City, was completely destroyed by fire last night. The loss is $40,000 with a small insurance. The mill cuts lumber on the day run and shingles on the night run, and was burned while the men were at their midnight lunch. Part of the stock in the yard was saved. The origin of the fire is unknown. The capacity of the mill was 65,000 feet of lumber and one car of shingles a day.

PLUG CHEWING A WHOLESOME HABIT

In No Other Way Can You Get All the Richness and Flavor of the Leaf

"SPEAR HEAD" BEST CHEW

Many prominent physicians declare chewing to be the most wholesome way of enjoying tobacco.

"I began chewing some years ago," said one, "and I soon found that it is the only way to get the benefit of all the rich juices stored up by nature in the tobacco leaf. I refer, of course, to the plug form of tobacco, which is the most natural and the cleanest form.

"Chewing good tobacco like Spear Head makes the salivary glands more active, which in turn has a beneficial effect on the whole system. Add to this the sweet, mellow, delicious flavor of a chew of Spear Head, and you have the highest possible degree of tobacco satisfaction.

"I mention Spear Head because I have found that this brand is exceptionally pure, being made in a factory that's run strictly according to pure-food rules."

Spear Head is made of sun-ripened Burley, which is acknowledged to be the richest, mildest, finest flavored tobacco leaf in the world. And it is produced by the latest processes, which develop the quality and luscious flavor of the choice Burley to the supreme degree.

A chew of Spear Head has a wholesome relish that is not found in any other chewing tobacco. In 10c cuts, wrapped in wax paper.

Black Rock Man Eludes

Sheriff Orr in Brush

Dallas, Or., July 12.—A warrant has been issued for Street Gibson, of Black Rock, on the charge of holding up a merchant of that town and robbing him of $25. When Sheriff Orr went to Gibson's home at Black Rock to arrest him the man stepped through a window of his cabin and disappeared in the brush. The sheriff has sent out descriptions of the man to neighboring counties, as it is believed Gibson will appear at some logging camp and seek employment. He has a wife and four small children at Black Rock.
