The Veiled Prophet of Sanussel.

The head of the Sanussiyah of north Africa and Arabia, the Sheikh es-Sausel, preserves the mystery of the order by himself being veiled. No one save his viziers may gaze upon his sacred person. And no sultan ever ruled his viziers with a firmer hand than does this sovereign.

Under the viziers are the m'kadems, who are the chiefs of the order in their various districts—local governors, as it were. These officials in turn are served by a staff of subordinates, who keep them informed of all things of interest to the order. Once each year the m'kadems gather in the secret city, but what transpires there we can only guess at. One thing is certain—the taxes they have collected in their districts are then turned into the general treasury.

The location of this secret city, which bears the name of Jof, can be found on the map, but no Christian lives who can tell you how the road to it runs, for no Christian traveler has ever been there or at least has ever returned thence.—Christian Herald.

Computation of Time.

There is no uniform rule adhered to by all the cases as to the computation of time where the last day for the doing of an act falls on Sunday, states Willis A. Estrich in Case and Comment. The rule sustained by the weight of authority is that where an act is required to be done within a given time and the last day of that time falls on Sunday, the act may be done on the Monday following.

The rule as thus announced has been established by statute in most states providing that, if the last day on which an act is to be done falls on Sunday or a holiday, that day is to be excluded in the computation of time. Under these statutes the general rule is that when an act is to be done on a day which happens to be Sunday it may be done on the Monday following, but the rule is not universal nor generally applicable to all questions of computation of time.

Fished and Missed.

When any young woman of Spriggs Corner attempted to coquette with Elisha Boggs or to draw a compliment from him she was sure to have "up-hill work."

"My brother Tom has a sore throat. He's had it for nearly a week," said a damsel whom Elisha was solemnly escorting home from the social evening. "If it hadn't been for that," she added, with a slanting glance from under her lashes toward Mr. Boggs' impassive features, "I'd not have had to trouble you to see me home, Mr. Boggs."

"What we need in this town," said Mr. Boggs, "is another doctor and a spryer one. The way trifling little ailments linger on under old Doc Jones is enough to drive folks crazy."—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

Mines of Nevada.

Nevada is a Spanish word meaning "snowy" or "white as snow," and the name of the state, says a bulletin of the United States geological survey, was derived from the Sierra Nevada. The state ranks sixth in size in the Union. Its length from north to south is 484 miles, its width 321 miles and its area 109,821 square miles.

The history of Nevada is chiefly the history of her mines. Since the discovery of the Comstock lode and other famous ore bodies periods of activity and prosperity have alternated with periods of depression. Each discovery of high grade ore in noteworthy quantity has been followed by rapid settlement in that locality and the establishment of one or more towns.

The Translation.

The postman handed him the letter. One glance at the envelope sent him nearly into hysterics.

"Heavens!" he cried. "The first challenge I ever got!"

"Duel" was in big letters on the outside of the envelope.

"But I can't fight!"

So he hurried to the station house, explained that he knew of no enemy who should demand his blood and asked for protection.

The detective force hurried out. By that time the desk sergeant had recovered.

He said it meant "Due 1 cent."—Utica Press.

Must Have Seemed Queer.

"Do you know, Marthy, when I saw Joel rust off after gettin' to the college for my first visit with him I thought he was plum loony."

"Why, how was that, Sam?"

"A young feller told me he was most likely down on the courts, and I went the way he pnted and found our Joel knockin' a rubber ball over a fish net an' yellin' be loved everybody."—Exchange.

Quick Process.

"Since I've been living next door to a dealer in antique rugs I've learned a thing or two about the rug business."

"Yes?"

"A rug can be aged very rapidly by allowing a few youngsters to use it as a playground."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.
