Jacksonville Post

SATURDAY, JANUARY 13, 1917.

LOCAL NEWS

A. M. Dean of Glendale is spending the week it this city. The local lodge of I. O. O. F. will install officers tonight. Mrs. Ellen Grimes of Eugene visited relatives here Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Ulrich visited friends in Medford, Sunday.

John Harms of Grants Pass tranascted business in this city Tuesday. J. A. E. Percival was a business visitor at Medford Friday afternoon. Our thanks are due Mrs. S. P. Jones for recent issues of several eastern papers. Dr. Seely of Medford has made several professional calls in this city recently.

Prof. Rowland, leader of the Medford band, was a visitor in this city day. Wednesday.

W. R. Coleman, who recently returned from Alaska, is visiting Fred Offen- day. bacher on the Applegate.

Mrs. Elizabeth Coulter was taken to the Saered Heart hospital Tuesday evening to be treated for heart trouble.

visiting at the home of J. W. Rock, in nesday. this city, has gone to Hornbrook, Cal.

from San Francisco and is ready to afternoon. greet his patrons at the City Drug Store.

Misses Pauline Greaves and Jew- Morday forenoon. ell Bailey have moved to Medford, being employed by the Home Telephone company.

Mrs. J. L. Tracy of Minneapolis Min., is looking after her interests on her ranch, The Laurels, just north of Jacksonville.

Coquille for some time, is visiting her wages was not given. daughter, Mrs. William Nicklaws in Medford.

quite a number of young people from in number of exhibits. Medford, a few evenings ago, with a duncing party at their home.

the Blue Ledge mine. On their return nounced. trip they carry lumber and supplies.

remove with his family to Portland in ery. a short time.

The household effects of T. J. Kenney were taken to Medford Tuesday. Mrs. Kenny aud daughter, Francis, will make their home in Medford, while Mr. Kenney expects to leave for Alaska, in the spring. Their residence here is occupied by J. B. Coleman, the county

Did you see the eclipse? T. J. Kenny and family have moved o Medford. James Buckley of Ruch was in town Wednesday. All work done in 1917 spot each at

W. R. Sparks. own this week. Oliver Harbaugh was a visitor at Medford Wednesday.

ent visitor in this city. a recent visitor in this city.

B. F. Piatt of Medtord was a business visitor in this city Tuesday.

The fog this week has been almost thick enough to cut with a knife.

H. H. Taylor of Ruch transacted business in this city Wednesday. Sam Jones, a miner from Salmon Bar, Cal., was in town this week. W. I. McIntyre of this city was a busines visitor at Medford Friday. Mrs. Martha Dunnington visited friends on the Little Applegate Sun-

Jno. G. Dunnington of this city was a business visitor at Meaford Wednes-

Howard Hunter, of Red Bluff, Cali., was a business visitor in the valley this week.

George Samuels, of Grants Pass, Mrs. Walter Miller, who has been transacted business in this city Wed-

S. K. Lane, of Redding, Cal., trans-Dr. J. W. Robinson has returned acted business in this city Wednesday

> H. A. Cannady, Esq., of Medford, transacted legal business in this city

> When you are hungry and in Medfore, try the nice meals served by Anna Coffman and Anna Hoxie at the [Adv] Nash Caffeteria

Seven or eight of the men employed by Mr. Bullis on the railroad grade Mrs. Anna Broad, who has been in quit work this week because a raise in

The poultry show at Medford this sermor week is said to have been a mighty 6:45 P. M. Christian Endeavor Pray-Judge and Mrs. TouVelle entertained slim affair, both in the attendance and

Mrs. Heally, mother of Joseph and Mary Wetterer, died at her home in O.e is being hauled to this place by this city, early this morning. Euneral f ur-horse teams, twice a week, from arrangements have not yet been an-

Emmett Beeson, a wellknown resid- Lord,-Ps. 122:1. Guy R. Harper, ex-deputy tax col- ent of Jackson county, committed suilector of Jackson county, has accepted cide by shooting himself with a rifle, at a renumerative position with a large his home near Talent, Monday aftereastern financial concern and will begin noon. He was afflicted with a cancer work about Feb. 1st. He expects to from which there was no hope of recov- at 11 o'clock in I. O. O. F. Hall.

The ordinance authorizing the issuance of $300,00) bonds for extending the S. O. T. Co's, road to the mines, has been declared invalid by Judge Hamilton, in a recent decision. The "Hanson plan" was adopted by a good majority at Medford's election Tuesday. C. E. Gates for mayor and Walter Seidler of Buncom was in the candidates for councilmen who favor the Hanson plan, were elected.

Talent basket ball teams played a- grade in his motorcar and nearing a gainst the locals, at the U. S. hall, sharp turn. D. C. Vinton of Steamboat was a re- last right. Both games were won by the Jacksonville teams. Score of boys Sylvester Patterson of Ashland was game was 22-11, and the girls game was 14-7.

POLK'S MANAGER OREGON and WASHINGTON on Business Directory ectory of each City, Town and ry, complied by

R. L. POIM & CO., SEATTLE The LE POLAT & CO., SEATTLE THIS PAPER REPRESENTED FOR FOREIGN

ADVERTISING BY THE REALEDER A RESEARCE IN FIRE

GENERAL OFFICES AL THE PEINCIPAL CI

At The Churches /

PRESBYTERIAN

Albert H. Gammons, Minister

Sunday Services regularly as follows: 10:00 A. M. Sabbath School Classes for all ages.

11:00 A. M. Morning worship, with er meeting 7:30 P. M. Evening worship, with sermon. Prayer meeting on Wednesday evening at 7:30.

Everyone welcome to these meetings. "I was glad when they said unto ne let us go into the the house of the brake, made other starting moves and

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

Services held every Sunday morning Everybody welcome.

Arthur Affinstrong was driving up

Toot! Toot! Toot, toot, toot! On the other side of the summit the ground fell off. A motor was coming ip at the accelerated speed used by all chauffeurs in hill climbing. At the wheel was a girl, the only occupant. Not being quick enough in turning or not having the strength, she shot out in to the wrong side of the rond-on her left. Armstrong's car received the blow on the bumper and was not injured. The girl's car was put out of commission, and the girl-well, the girl was caught in Amstrong's arms. But it should be noticed that Armstrong was a famous baseball catcher. "Are you hurt?" he asked anxiously.

"I think not," she said, but she lay limp in the stalwart arms. Armstrong ooked down into her face anxiously Her eyes were closed His lips were within an inch of hers. He reduced the interval to zero.

"Oh, my! Good gracious!" she exclaimed, starting up and looking at her ar.

"How fortunate!" said Armstrong. "Fortunate! Do you call that wreck

"I mean that you are not seriously burt.' "But my brand new car is ruined."

"Better that than you should have been killed or mangled. Had you been thrown against the car or hadn't missed the wind shield by a hair's breadth you would have been killed. As it was, being thrown into"-

He stopped short. "Oh, dear, what am I going to do?" moaned the girl. "I'll take you home. My car is all right.' "But mine-what shall we do with it?"

Armstrong looked puzzled. They were in the country, far from any town. "It's off the road," he said, "and won't endanger any one. We'll go to the nearest garage and have them send out for it. But I'm afraid it isn't worth hauling in." This being the only thing that could be done, she consented reluctantly. Armstrong got out of his car, gathered up her belongings, then, returning to his car, pushed a button, pressed<sup>1</sup> a foot began to descend the slope before him.

wreck and wiped away a tear. There is every reason to believe that Cupid had sat beside the girl and caused the disaster. Else why should | ter he looked very solemn. it have occurred, and why should she have been shot into Armstrong's arms, serious disease." being just enough upset to lie there long enough for him to kiss her ruby gwine to kill me?" lips? And there is every reason to and was preparing to make his daily visits when his colored housemaid came 5 per cent is terest, giving her a thouin with a shamefaced look. "What is it, Sue?"

For Love

Inoculation

inoculate anybody with a sickness?" "Certainly Sue looked in every direction except the doctor. "Come," stild the doctor, "there's something on your mind. Out with it." "I hearn tell, Mars Doctah, dat lub is a disease

"Weil?" said the doctor, becoming interested.

"I hearn tell, too, dat long ago dey was lub potions and if any one took de potion dey was in lub. 1 been thinkin' dat yo' might gib de disease that way somehow.

You mean that you are in love and wish me to make the man you love love you.

"It's about dat." Sue confessed in a voice scarcely audible "Whom are you in love with, Sue?"

"I don't like to tell dat. Can't yo' gib me de potion to gib to him?

"No; I should have to manage the case myself. If you'll tell me his name perhaps I can do something for you."

'I reckon it's Sam." "Mr. Trotter's Sam?"

"Yes, Mars Doctah."

The doctor's eyes expressed amusenent, but he kept a straight face, although this was scarcely necessary, for Sue never once looked at him. Presently he went to a medicine case, took up a bottle and poured a little of its contents into a vial. Then, handing it to Sue, he said:

neaux asked his opponent what game "The next time Sam comes to see you and asks for a drink of water or cider-In fact, anything to drink-pour some neaux told her he couldn't lose his monof this into it. It will make him sick. ey to her fast enough without playing Appear to be much frightened and telephone for me.

"Yes, Mars Doctah, I do dat." It was not long before the doctor was called upon to cure Sam of the effects of the dose Sue had given the man she loved. He examined his patient carefully and gave him something to settle his stomach, then, pricking his arm to win, and it was not long before she with a lancet, drew a little blood.

"Sam," he said, "I'm going to test this blood for the disease you've got. Come and see me tomorrow morning. and I'll tell you what it is."

The next morning Sam was perfectly purposely to lose. A thousand dollars well, but curiosity and fear drove him then another thousand and another The girl cast a lingering look at the into Dr. Dinsmore's office. He was admitted in his turn, and when the phytill $4,000 had changed hands. Then he drew five $100 bills from his pocket. sician had felt his pulse and tested his temperature with a mouth thermomefew thousand dollars." "Sam," he said, "you've contracted a he replied, dealing the cards.

"Fo' de Lawd, Mars Doctah, is it

His adversary expected every time she "Not unless it drives you to suicide. believe that Cupid, having caused the In itself it is not fatal, but it somemade a big haul he would announce collision, hopped into the rear seat of times drives persons to do very foolish that he had been frozen out. But his funds seemed to hold out amazingly. Armstrong's car. At any rate, every- things. It will on rare occasions throw thing from that moment was beauti- the patient into a fever, a hysterical The more Miss Winterton won the more excited she became. The more fully arranged to hasten a union becondition, in which he will act like a lunatic. You have a little of that feverishness about you now." "La' sakes, Mars Doctah! What yo' call dat disease?"

gambler. She inherited $20,000 from her mother, which was invested at sand a year. This was not enough. She could not possibly get on without "Mars Doctah," she said, "can you two thousand. She gambled and lost all her money except a few thousand dollars.

> Stendy girls make good wives, and there is not much to be expected from unsteady ones. A gambler is not likely to make a satisfactory companion for a man. Nevertheless men are not prone to marry a woman because she steady. They marry the woman who fascinates them, and a reckless woman is sometimes more fascinating than a careful one. At any rate, Fred Molineaux fell in love with Miss Winterton and asked her to marry him. But he was poor, and she declined him, Had he been wealthy she would have married him, because she liked him.

But Molineaux did not know this. Molineaux went away. Everybody said that he could not remain in the same place with the girl who had refused him. This was before she inherited her $20,000 or had taken to gambling. One day several years later he returned.

One evening the two met at a bridge party and were opponents in a four handed game. Miss Winterton took $200 away with her. Mr. Molineaux told her he had brought back with him several thousand dollars and would be pleased to have her win it from him. She said she would rather win some one else's money, but he insisted, and she consented.

When they sat down to cards Molishe preferred. She chose bridge, and they began a two handed game. Moli-high. She was not averse to this, and they kept "doubling" and "going back" till there was much money passing.

But instead of Miss Winterton win ning Molineaux's money he won bers.

She was reduced to a few hundred dollars, the remains of her inheritance, when the luck turned and she began had recovered all she had lost to him.

From this time on Molineaux played with apparent recklessness, which would have indicated to an uninterested observer that he was playing of his money went to Miss Winterton,

"I thought," said Miss Winterton,

"that you had brought back only a

"I am not yet at the end of my pile,"

Molineaux continued to lose steadily assessor.

A total of $119,987.45 will be returned to the various counties of Oregon as their share of the 1916 motor license fees. Jackson county will receive $5,-906 less $1,060 expenses, making net refund of $4,846. Jackson county ranks fourth in the number of autos. being surpassed only by Multnomah, Marion, and Umatilla counties.

Mrs. Artmesia Merriman of Medford died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. S. L. Bennett, aged 85 years. She was a native of Ohio, and with her parents crossed the plains in 1851, settling in Douglas county, the town of Riddle being named after her father. Mrs. Merriman was the mother of sixteen children, of whom sixteen are still living.

A surprise party was given on Miss Bessie Beer, at the home of Mrs Galligar, Tuesday evening, Jan. 11. Those present were: Mrs. Galligar, Misses Becroft, Bessie Beer, Delpha Coleman, Maude Cantral, May Cothel, Ellen Hartman, Myrtle Pitz, Birdie Copeland, and Messrs. Godward, Ernest McIntyre, Kenneth Puhl, Cecil Ager, Arnold Coleman, Harley Flemming and Ivan Applegate.

Two prisoners, George Botts and Louis Lavinne, confined in the county jail on a charge of shooting at a brakeman on the S. P. reilroad while stealing a ride on a freight train, made an attempt to escape Saturday evening, in which Botts got clear away and has not been heard of since, and Lavinne broke his leg and is now in a hospital at Medford. The break for liberty was made while the jailor, who is a new man in the position, was away at supper: The prisoners, being left outside the cells in the jail corridors, ascended to the top of the upper tier of cells and with a couple of old knives and a jimmy cut a hole through the roof and escaped to the top of the building. Botts jumped first, alighting on the top of a low building alongside, and Lavinne, frightened by the appearance of a passerby, jumped off farther along the roof, landing on the cement walk and breaking his thigh. He was found about 6:30 and taken to Medford where aid was given. Botts is still at large, although efforts have been made by the sheriff to locate him.

It will then pass through many hands, help many merchants and increase home prosperity.

A DOLLAR WELL SPENT IS A DOLLAR SPENT HERE

CITY DRUG & GIFT STORE Fine Christmas Novelties!

suitable for gifts for young and old. Purses, Box stationery, Toilet articles, Xmas and New Year's cards, Perfumery, Books, etc. Call and see our stock.

Holiday Greetings to All.

J. W.Robinson, M. D., Proprietor Jacksonville Oregon.

Try the POST for neatly printed Butter Wrappers seen these two young persons In the first place, it was late in the afternoon and growing dark. As soon as he had started Armstrong pressed a button to turn on his lights. No light came

"That's bad," he said. "The shock must have broken the electric connec-

If Cupid was managing the affair this was his most important work. No one but a fool dare run an auto at night without lights. Another clever stroke was that Armstrong had no skid chains, and there was a lot of ice on the road, which, being of asphalt, was thereby made very slippery. In addition to this, the country was hilly and the road full of turns. The time was late in November, and within twenty minutes after the collision darkness fell over the face of the land. Coming to what looked through the gloom as if the road suddenly endedit was a sharp turn- Armstrong pulled as far out of the road as he dared and stopped.

"It'll never do to go any farther in this machine," he said. "Oh dear, what shall we do?" "We must find a house. And I don't see any way but for us to stay there and go on in the morning." "That would be impossible in my case

"Why so?" After some pressure the girl said that her father and mother were French. The French have very strin gent notions as to a girl being away from home, unaccounted for, overnight

Her life would be blighted "We'll have to find a house, all the same" said Armstrong "The rest of it we can settle later." Leaving the auto, they went back | a regular attack of amormania."

over the road, having seen a light some distance to the rear. Maybe it had been put out. At any rate, they didn't find it. They wandered for miles before a house, darkened, loomed up before them. They were in a small village. Armstrong banged at the door till a man opened it.

"Got a parson in this place?" Armstrong asked. "Right over there in the house across | said Sam, baring his arm.

the street.' The couple went to the parson, call ed him up and were married, It is questionable whether Cupid ever to come down with a case of amor did quicker work than this. From the moment the girl was pltched into Armstrong's arnis till they were pronounced man and wife was just six hours and Sue far better than a term in a lunatic twenty-five minutes.

asylum.

"Amormania." "How you know I got dat?"

The doctor took down a bottle from shelf, put a drop of rainwater on a bit of glass, put the glass on a microscope and after adjusting a focus told Sam to look into the instrument. The darky saw a lot of monsters swimming about.

"Now, Sam," said the physician, "I don't wish to scare you, but you are looking at a drop of your own blood." Sam collapsed, and the doctor held him up "All diseases nowadays, Sam, 179 caused by germs. Those creatures are the germs of amormania that have got into your blood. When a man falls in love with a woman they take possessino of him and"-

"But I hain't in Jub with any wonan," protested Sam.

"I didn't say you were, Sam; at least you don't know it. The disease hasn't leveloped yet. When it does you'll find out that you are in love and no mistake. If there is no response to your love you'll suffer from a sort of lu-

"Fo' de Lawd !"

"There is a medical theory, Sam, that like cures like," continued Dr. Dinsmore. "I can take some of your blood and inject it into the veins of the woman you love"-"But I hain't in lub."

"Yes, you are, Sam; you're in love with a good girl. As soon as these monsters 1 have shown you developthere's only a dozen now; in a few days there'll be a million-you'll have

"What I do den?" cried Sam, aghast. "Unless your passion is returned you will act like a lunatic. They all do. Now, I'll tell you what I propose to do. I can inject some of your blood into the body of a nice girl. This will give her the disease and she'll love you desperately. Then we shall have a case of 'like cures like.'

"Mars Doctah, you do dat right of,

The next day Dr. Dinsmore called Sam and Sue together in his office and told them that they were both about mania and they had better get married at once. Sue needed no persuasion, and Sam thought a marriage with

Mr. Moline peared. When Miss Winterton had won $10,000 she was so absorbed in the game that she forgot about her opponent having only a few thousand. She played high, but Molineaux played higher. Occasionally, he won. They had been playing many hours when Mhis Winterton paused to count her winnings. She had won $20,000. "How would you like to throw a hand at poker double or quits?" asked Moli-

Miss Winterton caught her breath. She had regained the amount of her legacy. Should she stop and live on $1,000 or risk all by trying to secure a sum that would satisfy her-$2,000? She was under the influence of the gambling demon

"Suppose you lose," she said doubtfully, "have you the money to pay?" Molineaux drew a certified check from his pocket for $25,000 and laid it on the table. His adversary looked surprised.

"I thought you were poor ?" she said. "Since I saw you last I have made this money. I have come back to"-He paused, uncertain how to finish. "Buck against me. Your purpose is or was to clean me out, then offer to take care of me as your wife."

"Proceed with the game and you will know my object. Is it double or quits?" She peered into his face, endeavoring's to read what was at the bottom of all. this. It was inscrutable. Then; she said:

"Double or quits it is. Deal the cards.

He dealt her a pair of tens and scattering. His own cards were all scattering. She called for three cards, and he dealt himself a new hand. Throwing his cards on the table face up, he showed king high. Miss Winterton turned her cards over and showed two tens. Imperturbably as ever, Molineaux pushed the check over to her.

It was only at the latter part of the play that Miss Winterton's attentionhad been directed to what was going. on between her and a man who had? proposed to her. Somehow now she, forgot what she had won in his possible object.

'Are you cleaned out?" she asked, "Yes: I made this money on a spect ulation and came back to lose it to you: U am going away again to milked ! some-more, and when F have made it? I am coming back to lose that to your . too 'No, you're not," she said .... 0 0

And he didn't. He married ber, .... p

William States 1111111111111111111