HOW can you tell
there's Pine Woods near?
"Your Nose Knows"

And it's only your nose that knows the tobacco that suits you best. Pure fragrance is your guiding sense. Trust it. Depend upon it. The tobacco that appeals to your sense of fragrance will always satisfy—"Your Nose Knows."

Such a tobacco is

Its pure fragrance is the fragrance of Nature. The rich, ripe Burley leaves of which Tuxedo is blended are the sunshine tips of the best plants of Old Kentucky. Their pure fragrance is the Soul of Tobacco—"Your Nose Knows."

Try this Test—Rub a little Tuxedo briskly in the palm of your hand to bring out its full aroma. Then smell it deep—its delicious, pure fragrance will convince you. Try this test with any other tobacco and we will let Tuxedo stand or fall on your judgment—

Forest Notes

Balsa wood, found in Central America is said to be the lightest known wood. It is lighter than cork and has an average specific gravity of only .104.

A wood specimen found in glacial drift and estimated by the Wisconsin State geologist to be approximately half a million years old has been identified by the Forest Products Laboratory of the Forest Service as spruce.

State Forests with a total of over 3,600,000 acres have been established in thirteen States. Of these New York has the largest forests, which comprise 1,826,000 acres; Pennsylvania is second with 1,098,000 acres, and Wisconsin third with 490,000 acres.

The largest number of sheep grazed on any single National Forest is 315,740 finding pasturage on the Humboldt in Nevada, while the largest number of cattle—75,818 head—is found on the Tonto in Arizona. The value of the average annual meat product of these two National Forests is estimated at $2,000,000.

On parts of the Angeles National Forest in California the packrats are so abundant that many of the young pines planted by the Forest Service have been killed or injured by the rodents. The damage seems to take place chiefly in the late summer and fall and is more extensive in dry than in wet seasons. It is thought that the rats tear off the tender bark of the trees to obtain moisture at times when water is scarce.

Among the most forehanded of European monarchs, little Boss Manuel of Portugal, "saw it first" and stayed not upon the order of his going.
