

A Life Preserver of Sheet Metal.
Metal swimming plates have made their appearance in the field of life preservers. They consist of metal parts put together just like two tin pie plates soldered with their faces joining, allowing the space between them as a dead air chamber, says the Popular Science Monthly. The advantage of these plates lies in the fact that they will not rot or crumble like a cork life preserver. A properly applied paint prevents rusting, and they are always ready for use. They do not have to be inflated like the water wings which are used by some swimmers. There is no danger of leaks or punctures, and the total weight of the appliance is about three pounds. The plates are not uncomfortable to wear, and they allow a free arm movement to the swimmer. Three of the plates are joined together with a web band having a shoulder strap which buckles about the body under the arms, with two plates on the back and one on the chest. Small wire loops make the joints.

Magicians of the Pen.
While W. W. Jacobs confesses that he often sits, pen in hand, a whole morning without putting a solitary word on paper, Sir Arthur Conan Doyle has written a story of 12,000 words without once leaving his desk. Even such a painstaking writer as the late R. L. Stevenson had his spasms of lightning work, in one of which he completed his famous "Jekyll and Hyde" story within seven days, and Hall Caine wrote the first and last lines of his "Life of Coleridge" in three weeks. While Sir J. M. Barrie counts 500 or 600 words a "good day's work," H. G. Wells has often written 10,000 words between breakfast and bed, and Mrs. L. T. Meade has produced 20,000 words in a busy day.

The late Andrew Lang, when in the mood, has more than once written 5,000 words of a book between breakfast and a late luncheon, and it is said that S. R. Crockett wrote the last half of "The Stickt Minister" in forty hours.—London Answers.

Potato Culls.
Among the many products which are being successfully dried at present and which otherwise would go to waste are potato culls—that is, potatoes which have been injured in digging and therefore are below market standards. At least 10 per cent of the potato crop falls into this class. This percentage is now being dried and converted into potato flour.

A pound of dried mixed vegetables made up of carrots, turnips, onions, cabbage and potatoes, prepared especially for soup, is sufficient for sixty or more adults. A barrel of the same vegetables weighing 100 pounds provides enough soup stock for nearly 6,000 persons. The raw vegetables which go to make up this mixture before drying fill thirty barrels and weigh in the neighborhood of 1,500 pounds.—Popular Science Monthly.

Mozart's Music.
A recent biographer says of Mozart that the most wonderful fact about him was that he directed his art toward success without any sacrifice of himself and his music was always written with regard to its effect upon the public. Somehow it does not lose by this, and it says exactly what he wishes it to say. In this he was helped by his delicate perceptions, his shrewdness and his sense of irony. He despised his audience, but he held himself in great esteem. He made no concessions that he need blush for; he deceived the public, but he guided it as well. He gave the people the illusion that they understood his ideas, while as a matter of fact the applause that greeted his works was excited only by passages which were solely composed for applause.

Grease Spots.
Grease spots can be removed with gasoline or with ether. But careful manipulation is necessary. Gasoline and ether must be kept away from any flame. Pour enough gasoline or ether on a tablespoonful of starch to make a paste, place the paste on the under side of the spot and allow to remain several minutes. Brush off the starch when it is dry. Ether evaporates more rapidly than gasoline and leaves no unpleasant odor.

Names Ending In "Velt."
Veldt is a changed form of the Dutch "veld," the same as our English word "field." It means simply open ground, or prairie. Westervelt means west field; Roosevelt, rose field; Blauvelt, blue field. There are other Dutch names ending in "velt" and many parallel names in German and other tongues.

Puzzled by His Choice.
"I can't understand it."
"What?"
"That rich man proposing marriage to her."
"Why not?"
"Well, he was introduced to my daughter the same day he met her."—Detroit Free Press.

What Hurts.
Doctor—You mustn't stay out late at night. Patient in married man—Is the night air bad for me? Doctor—No; it is the excitement after getting home that hurts you.—London Telegraph.

Voice of Experience.
"Your wife seems to be very angry."
"Yes."
"What's the trouble?"
"I didn't inquire. That only makes words."

Do the right and your ideal of it grows and perfects itself. Do the wrong and your ideal of it breaks up and vanishes.—James Martineau.

Modern Dreadnaughts.
Beyond all doubt modern dreadnaughts represent the highest level of controlled strength that the human race has yet seen. The fact that 20,000 tons or more of metal can be driven through water at the speed of an express train while its big guns hurl shells weighing three-quarters of a ton to a distance of twenty miles is a miracle in mechanics.

During the epoch of the warship to its present state of efficiency marine engineers have been faced with the problem of protecting vital parts of the vessel from the ever increasing hitting power of large shells. In other words, the fighting value depended upon its ability to take as well as give hard knocks. Some idea of the difficulty may be gathered from the fact that a fifteen inch shot strikes a blow at its maximum point of speed capable of lifting 50,000 tons a foot from the ground.—London Standard.

Swamp Lands.
The national chamber of commerce declares that had not the hospital corps of the army definitely determined the status of the mosquito and thus caused menacing swamp lands to be drained it is an open question whether the building of the Panama canal would have been possible.

In following up this work we find that the United States in draining breeding places of the mosquito has reclaimed thousands of acres of land and made them available for agricultural purposes. There are approximately 100,000,000 acres of swamp lands in the country where for years the mosquito has held undisputed sway, of which 75,000,000, or about one-eighth of the total area of the country, can be reclaimed for the plowshare. The only value of swamp land lies in its possibility of reclamation; otherwise it is a serious liability as a breeder of disease.—Leslie's.

The Credited Fly Catcher.
Why does the credited fly catcher select a dried snake skin to line his nest? Some naturalists believe it is to render the nest waterproof. Others think the dried skin serves as a burglar alarm, to rattle at the approach of a squirrel or other enemy.

This bird builds his nest in hollow trees, stumps or posts. Sometimes he rents the abandoned home of the woodpecker. Professor H. A. Surface, Pennsylvania state zoologist, tells of one that usurped a rural mail box for his flat. Of recent years they have been known to inhabit fox homes put up for their special benefit.

So if you want to encourage the credited fly catcher, build him a box nest. He'll pay the rent many times over. He eats beetles, flies, grasshoppers, butterflies and moths.—Exchange.

A Dangerous Precedent.
The worst case of law versus justice and common sense is one which Montaigne relates as having happened in his own day. Some men were condemned to death for murder. The judges were then informed by the officers of an inferior court that certain persons in their custody had confessed themselves guilty of the murder and had told so circumstantial a tale that the fact was placed beyond all doubt. Nevertheless it was deemed so bad a precedent to revoke a sentence and allow that the law could err that the innocent men were delivered over to execution.—London Mail.

Among the Accidents.
Amateur Tenor—That's odd. I can't find any account of my singing at the Swallow's musicale last evening. His Friend—Where did you look for it? Amateur Tenor—Among the musical notes, of course. His Friend—It might be in the paper after all. Why not try some other department?—Exchange.

An All Around Boss.
"But," exclaimed the man of delicate sensibilities, "will your conscience permit you to do as you suggest?"
"Look here, friend," answered the New York politician, "I am accustomed to be boss even of my own conscience."—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

Agriculture.
I know of no pursuit in which more real and important service can be rendered to any country than by improving its agriculture.—George Washington.

Modern Machinery.
Not to see poetry in the machinery of this present age is not to see poetry in the life of the age. It is not to believe in the age.—Gerald Stanley Lee.

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.
Hardening of the Arteries.
Hardening of the arteries cannot be cured. The vessels have been overstretched day by day and white, inelastic fibers have taken the place of the elastic fibers that have been lost. The elastic fibers can never be restored. But one can regulate himself so that his life may yet be long and comfortable. Temperance in eating, drinking and working must be the unalterable rule of conduct.
The man with arteriosclerosis should have his blood pressure taken periodically. In case of dizziness and a considerable rise in pressure he should guard against apoplexy by starving and purging. When the pressure rises suddenly and sharply he should have his urine examined for albumen, as Bright's disease is even more of a menace than apoplexy.

Got His Dose Later.
Mr. Courtney (dramatically)—I had the blues awfully when I came here tonight, Miss Fisher, but they are all gone now. You are as good as medicine. Miss Fisher's Little Brother—Yes; father himself says she'll be a drug on the market if she doesn't catch up to some fellow soon.

Quick Work.
"That editor is terribly slow at reading manuscripts."
"Think so? Why, I know the time he went through twelve stories in less than a minute."
"Gracious! When was that?"
"When the elevator broke."—Philadelphia Press.

An Individual Preference.
"What's your favorite animal?"
"A goldfish," replied Mr. Meekton.
"It doesn't sting or have to be put out of the house at night."—Washington Star.

Used to It.
"I beg your pardon. I didn't mean to step on your foot."
"That's all right. I walk on 'em myself."—Ohio Sun-dial.

He Went.
He (11 p. m. at the piano)—What shall I sing next? She—"Home, Sweet Home," without any variations.—Puck.

He that wrestles with us strengthens our nerves and sharpens our skill. Our antagonist is our helper.—Burke.

The Reason.
"You never laugh at my jokes."
"I wouldn't dare to."
"Why not?"
"I have always been taught to respect old age."—Baltimore American.

Vulgarity.
"Why do you say he is vulgar?"
"Because he has at least ten times as much money as I have."—Chicago

Notice of Sheriff's Sale

By virtue of an execution in foreclosure and order of sale duly issued out of and under the seal of the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon, in and for the County of Jackson, to me directed and dated on the 9th day of June 1917, in a certain suit therein, wherein W. E. Phipps as Plaintiff recovered judgment and decree against Mary G. Noe and C. T. Noe, defendants, for the sum of Eleven hundred seventy-five and 85-100 ($1175.85) Dollars, and with cost and disbursements taxed at Sixteen ($16.00) Dollars, which judgment was enrolled and docketed in the Clerk's office of said Court in said County on the 6th day of June 1917.

Notice is hereby given that, pursuant to the terms of said execution, I will on the 9th day of July, 1917, at 10 o'clock A. M. at the front door of the Courthouse in the City of Jacksonville, in Jackson County, Oregon, offer for sale and will sell at public auction for cash to the highest bidder, to satisfy said judgment, together with the costs of this sale, subject to redemption as provided by law, all of the right, title and interest that Mary G. Noe and C. T. Noe jointly or individually, had on the 26th day of August, 1911 or have since acquired, or now have in, and to the following described property, situated in Jackson County, State of Oregon, to wit:

Lots numbered One (1) and Two (2) of Davis Subdivision of Lot Numbered Two (2) in Block Number Five (5) of Galloway's Addition to the Town (now City) of Medford, in Jackson County, Oregon.

Dated this 9th day of June, 1917.

RALPH G. JENNINGS, Sheriff of Jackson County, Oregon, By LESLIE W. STANSELL, Deputy.
