

The Unpatriotic.

We take this little sentence from Pierre de Coubertin's "The Heart of Love": "What constitutes the worth of a country is the worth of each member of it." That is a great truth. In the light of it only a worthy citizen is a patriot. The questions are: Who is the worthy citizen? What are his qualities? What sort of a life does he lead? When these questions are pressed with respect to very many people it will be found that there are many persons who are real enemies of the country, rather than its patriots. Every grafter, every demagogue, every spoils politician, every drunkard, every gambler, every profane swearer, every liar, backbiter and every man who hants and curses his wife is an enemy of the country, and as long as they last the republic will be an experiment and a problem. One must be a worthy man to be a friend of his country.—Ohio State Journal.

Aviation Tests.

Could you learn to aviate? Try the following tests, which were given to a number of would be government aviators who were examined recently in the government school of aviation: Balance thirty seconds on either foot with your eyes closed. Walk backward and forward thirty paces with your eyes closed and see how far you have strayed from a straight line. Sit on a revolving chair and twirl yourself around a half dozen times; then, without opening your eyes, name the direction you are facing. Put cold water in your ears; then replace it by warm water. If the effect is the same in both cases your ears are normal as far as susceptibility to altitude is concerned.—Chicago Tribune.

Carnegie's Advice.

Andrew Carnegie, who for years yielded an influence in the industrial world as great perhaps as any living man, came to this country practically penniless when he was twelve years old. His phenomenal rise in life may be attributed to his following clear principles and methods. In an address to students in a commercial college he said: "Avoid speculation; avoid inducements. Aim high. For the question, 'What must I do for my employer?' substitute 'What can I do?' Begin to save early—capitalists trust the saving young man." Concentrate your energy, thought and capital; fight it out on one line."

Kneeling Horses.

In ancient times, before the invention of stirrups and luxurious saddles, horses were taught to kneel to permit their riders to mount. A beautiful Greek vase in one of the museums in Petrograd shows a war horse of many centuries ago kneeling low before an amazon. The riders in those days mounted from the "off" side in contradiction to the modern usage. Plutarch tells how in the first century of this era certain effeminate Roman riders found even the horse block of too little assistance and had their horses trained to kneel to them.

Hair of the Bear.

How many hairs are on a square inch of a bear's skin? A count, carefully checked, because prizes were awarded to the winners closest to the actual number, disclosed that one square inch of this particular bear skin held just 10,543 hairs.—New York Sun.

Punishment Postponed.

"The next time you spill your coffee on the tablecloth, my dear, don't try to hide it by setting your cup on it. I shall notice it anyhow when I clear away." "Yes, but I am in my office by that time."—Stray Stories.
