Every little town has an ambition to become a trade center and a boom city, with no especial natural features or geographical advantages. Under such conditions what is most needed is some enterprise on the part of its local capitalists. They must make the first advance in the uncertain field of development. They must capitalize small factories and see that they are kept employed. When the local business is finally developed and proves to the world that they are successful, then outside enterprises will be sure to step in and enjoy your prosperity with you. Just like a fellow who finds a favorite fishing hole and catches fish, and all the other fishermen who see that he is catching will drop their hooks right in by the side of the lucky fisherman. The business man of any town should stop talking and hoping for others to do something for the town. They should get together themselves and prove to the world that they have a money making town. No outsider will want to fish in our swimming hole until we prove they can catch fish.

Occasionally one will here the remark, "I wish I was out of this town", and then one feels like saying, "I wish you were," for a man that stands on the street corners chewing and spitting, telling obscene stories, cursing the town, finding fault with his grandmother because she was a woman, claiming that the merchants are a set of thieves, that the lawyers and newspaper men would skin a man to a finish, and a whole lot more, is a nuisance and an abomination. Any town pestered with one or more such worthies would be justified in exercising cowhide authority on the bosom of their pants. No one is obliged to live where he is not suited. If one hasn't an encouraging word for the business enterprise and institutions of his town, he should shut up and "go 'way back and sit down". If things don't suit you, move to where they will. A growler and sorehead in a town is an enterprise killer every time. It would pay a town to donate him $5 and tell him to move.

It is more fun to see a man read a puff on himself in a newspaper than to see a fat man slip on a banana peel. The narrow minded man reads it over seven or eight times, and then goes around to appropriate what copies he can. The kind hearted man goes around to the office and pays what he owes. The successful business man who advertises regularly and makes money by it, immediately starts out to find the editor and the two walk silently down the street and the business man takes sugar and they both eat a clove or two and life is sweeter and peace settles down on their hearts for a moment. Such is the experience of a mustard seed that falls on different ground.

EDITORIAL.

There is some excuse for the divergence of opinion which the students are considering for mutual improvement. The girls intend refusing to associate with any boy who smokes, chews or swears. The boys have countered by suggesting that they not associate with any girl who powders, paints or is sharp spoken. The boys do not agree among themselves on the powder and paint however, a few contending that some girls need it. No definite steps have been taken.

SPORTS.

A meeting was called by the boys of the A. H. S., Tuesday Oct. 28, for the purpose of talking about basket ball. They decided to buy a basket ball, so that they will have one to show when the team starts the season's fight. They elected Leon Offenbacher captain, and from all appearance he will make a good team. The girls have secured an indoor base ball and bat from the boys and are knock home runs galore.

SOCIETY.

The Basket Social given by the Student Body, last Saturday night, proved to be a great success. The proceeds added $51.80 to the A. H. S. athletic funds.

CHAFF.

Mrs. James: "I helped to set out the first tennis court in this country."
Freemont Jordan: "Did you get a medal for it?"

W. J. Cavin and O. F. Ellis.

The proposed budget was read and adopted unanimously; and Resolution 93, adopting the budget and fixing the tax levy at 28 mills was adopted. This levy is an increase over that of last year, due to increased cost of supplies and to lower assessed valuations.

Returns of the city election were canvassed and the following men were declared elected: Councilmen, W. I. McIntyre and Chester Wendt; Recorder D. W. Bagshaw; Treasurer W. H. Johnson.

The Recorder was instructed to post notices calling for bids for placing a new roof on the tool house at the cemetery. The Mayor was authorized to appoint two or more special patrolmen, to act as plain-clothes men, to endeavor to find evidence against the party or parties who have been committing small acts of thievery.

Elks to Solicit W. S. S.

Portland, Oregon, November 4, 1919.

For two months the Elks of Oregon are going to urge every loyal citizen to invest in War Savings Stamps and Treasury Certificates. The sale of more than $6,000,000 of such securities is the huge task which has been assumed by some 15,000 members of the antlers, herd of this city.

Because of the lack of time, no house to house canvass will be made. Nor will any particular time be designated for a drive. Through the medium of letters, personal solicitation and publicity, the Elks expect to arouse public interest to a sufficient degree that 5000 men and women of the state will invest to the limit in the securities, subscribing to $1000 maturity value, and thus dispose of $5,000,000 of the quota. The remaining million is expected to be disposed through smaller subscriptions.

The War Savings and Treasury Certificates bear interest, are subject to redemption upon ten days' notice, pay a certain maturity value and are not subject to the fluctuations of any market, and hence loom as one of the most desirable investments which can be made.

Harry G. Allen, President of the Oregon State Elks Association, has just completed a tour of the state, and reports that in every county an organization has been effected to handle the campaign. "Innoculation of the thrift serum," says President Allen, "will be the work of Oregon Elks during the next two months."

The serving of one hot dish at noon to the pupils, who bring their lunches, is being considered at present by the teachers and pupils. For a few cents each pupil will be served either with a can of hot cocoa or with a cup of hot soup along with the lunch they bring from home.

Miss Pool has visited our school twice in the interest of the plan, and it is a sufficient number of parents favor the plan it will soon be established.

The high cost of "flivvering" caused Lewis to desert his "Lizzie" Saturday night and go to Medford on the street car.

Notice of Final Settlement.

IN THE COUNTY COURT OF THE STATE OF OREGON, IN AND FOR THE COUNTY OF JACKSON.

In the Matter of the Estate of Carl David Stout, deceased.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned Administrator of the above entitled estate has filed in the above entitled court his final account of the administration of said estate, and that said court has fixed Saturday, December 13, 1919, at 10 o'clock A. M. at the court room of said court at the court house at Jacksonville, Jackson County, State of Oregon, as the time and place for the hearing of objections thereto and for the settlement thereof. FLETCHER STOUT, Administrator.

SOCIETY.

The Halloween Fair held at the school house last Friday was a success. After a brief program, which every one claims to have enjoyed, each committee took charge of its respective booth. There was the pop corn booth, the candy booth, the doughnut, cookie and cider booth, the fortune teller's booth, and the booth in which those interested witnessed the celebrated Murphy family, the exciting swimming match, and the delightful walk through the woods. Each booth contributed generously toward swelling the fund, and the proceeds, which amounted to over $13, will be used to purchase athletic equipment for the various rooms.

ECHOES OF THE LOWER ROOMS.

Rosie Rusow has started to school. She is in Mrs. Wertz's room.

Ellsworth Huffman, a pupil in Miss Holmes' room, has for several days been absent on account of illness.

There are four new pupils in Miss Hearst's room. They are, Mildred and Howard Babbit, Willie Rusow and Alva Fletcher.

Lester Gilbert of the seventh and eighth grade room has been ill for several days.

The school is very sorry to hear that Margaret and Lucile Garrett are going to move away. We hope this will not compel them to leave our school.

LITERARY.

"Oh Freddy"

Oft has it been our lot, mark,
A laughing, sparkling, smiling spark.
"Ernest"

My heart is wax to be molded as she pleases,
But enduring as marble to retain.

Paul Ager says that a nick name is the hardest stone that the devil can throw at a man.

"Johnny"

The heroes are not all six feet tall,
Large souls may dwell in bodies small.

"Belle"

Like stars that shine forever,
For time cannot touch or stir;
The graces that Belle has given
On the trust that we give her.

"Skinny" says "Don't use coal. Use hot air. I am the only one in town who can supply 'Hot Air' in large enough quantities to heat your homes."

"Paul Ager"

Good boys love their sisters,
But so good have I grown,
I love another boy's sister,
As well as my own,

SPORTS.

As far as it went, excellent work was done on the tennis court, but after it was leveled and rolled the work has apparently been abandoned. Just at present no wire has been purchased to build the fence with, but a committee should be appointed right away to purchase it.

There will probably be many clear days when the fence can be put up. If you like to play tennis you ought to be willing to help put it up.

A date should be set for putting up the fence after it is purchased, and if everybody does his duty, it can be put up in one or two evenings after school.

Quite a large sum of money has come into the treasury, from the entertainment Friday night. This money shall be used for purchasing athletic equipment.

JOKES.

Miss Spulak: How many can get black cat costumes for Halloween?
Paul Ager: (who was napping) Do they all have to be tom cats?

Paul Ager was talking to James the other day, and he asked him if he knew the way Thelma combed her hair.

"No" said James.

"Well" said Paul "she combs it over her ears cyclone fashion."

Suddenly, James asked Paul if he knew the way Elva combed her hair.

"No" said Paul.

"Well" said James, "she hangs it on a nail, and combs it any old way."

Why is Louie T's mustache like a base ball game?
Answer: Because there are nine on each side.

In French the pupils exchanged papers, Margaret getting Paul Luv's.

Teacher: "Whenever you find a mistake write the correct word there".

"Oh! my, what a job I have," sighed Margaret.

James Gwin: "Paul why is it that John Johnson has to wash every morning when he gets up."
Paul Ager: "Why simply because he saws wood all night."

John Johnson: "I can go with any girl I please."
Victoria: "But can you please any?"

He only kissed her on the cheek.
It seemed a simple frolic.
But he was sick in bed a week.
They called it painters' colic.
