

JACKSONVILLE POST

Official Paper of the City of Jacksonville Oregon

A weekly newspaper published every Saturday at the county seat of Jackson County, Oregon.

Tom Fulton, Editor.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1920

If it is true, as some highbrow has said, that the appearance of a town truly reflects the character of its inhabitants, then we cannot afford to lose time in improving the appearance of Jacksonville. The spring and summer months of 1921 will, in all probability, see the greatest influx of homeseekers ever known in the Rogue River Valley. Never a week passes without bringing its quota of letters of inquiry from easterners anxious to settle in Oregon. These people will naturally make their homes in the more attractive and progressive communities and if we expect to derive any benefit from this tide of emigration we must have some inducement to offer. The first move is to clean up; dress the town in its best bib and tucker. First impressions count for much and a homeseeker entering a well-kept, progressive town, boasting an unrivalled climate and unlimited natural resources is more than likely to cast his lot there. Nature has been lavish in showering gifts upon Jacksonville and its environments and it is up to us to decide as to whether we shall make the most of our superior opportunities or rest content to be known as "sleeping Jacksonville."

With the approach of the holiday season in this year of peace, prosperity and plenty it may be well to set an inquiry on foot to ascertain whether "plenty" is universal or if the dawn of Christmas day will find some of our homes with unfilled stockings. We are glad to say that we have knowledge of no Jacksonville home haunted by the grim spectre of want, nevertheless, the failure of the Bank of Jacksonville has, in some instances, proven a blow from which it will take time to recover and a little timely assistance, unobtrusively offered where needed, will result in a Merrier Christmas for us all. "It is more blessed to give than to receive."

It has been suggested that some form of amusement be provided for Medford newspapermen who are now moaning about the tedium of time spent in Jacksonville. Considering the babyish manner in which said newspapermen are taking the defeat of the county seat removal measure, a rattle should about fill the bill.

J. H. S. NOTES

Due to the shortage of teachers and the divided opinions of the town-people, the J. H. S. did not open its doors until three weeks later than the other schools. Altho the progress of the school was greatly hindered by this, it has now completed its course of study for the first six weeks. Thus far there has been but a few social events as the students have been anxious to see their school work well organized before resorting to the athletic and social activities.

Next week the classes will compete for championships of tennis and base ball. The following week, the J. H. S. will complete its plans for the organization of a basket ball team.

THE MOVING OF THE COURT HOUSE.

They have put it in the papers They have talked it over the phone— Of the moving of the court house To a new and better home. But the place where it is standing Is the place where it should be And, if there's any red blood in you You will say the same as me. Its been with us quite a time now, But it still looks up-to-date; Altho, it was erected In eighteen eighty eight. Now they've put it on the ballot— And they've voted with a will— Now the great question is answered Hurrah! for Jacksonville.

Notice of Sheriff's Sale

By virtue of an execution and Order of Sale duly issued out of and under the seal of the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon, in and for the County of Jackson, to me directed and dated on the 26th day of October, 1920, in a certain action therein, where-in Charles W. Isaacs as defendant recovered judgment against Mamie E. Riddle, Frank S. Isaacs and Agnes Isaacs Merrell the plaintiffs, for the sum of Ninety-one and 60/100 ($91.60) dollars, with interest at the rate of 6 per cent per annum from August 1st, 1918, with costs and disbursements taxed at—dollars, and the further sum of—dollars, as attorney's fees, which judgment was enrolled and docketed in the Clerk's office of said Court in said County on the 31st day of July, 1918.

Notice is hereby given that, pursuant to the terms of the said execution, I will on the 17th day of December, 1920, at 10 o'clock A. M. of said date, at the front door of the Courthouse in the City of Jacksonville, in Jackson County, Oregon, offer for sale and will sell at public auction for cash to the highest bidder, to satisfy said judgment, together with the costs of this sale, subject to redemption as provided by law, all of the right, title and interest that the said plaintiffs, Mamie E. Riddle, Frank S. Isaacs and Agnes Isaac Merrell had on the 31st day of July, 1918, or now have in and to the following described property, situated in the County of Jackson, State of Oregon, to wit:

Beginning at the North corner of the land described in Volume 65, page 37 of the Deed Records of Jackson County, Oregon, thence Northwest along Oakdale Avenue 100 feet; thence Southwest at right angles to Oakdale Avenue 145.5 feet; thence Southeast parallel to Oakdale Avenue 100 feet; thence Northeast at right angles to Oakdale Avenue 145.5 feet to the place of beginning, all being situated in the City of Medford, Jackson County, Oregon. The same being more particularly described as follows: Beginning South 54 degrees 30 minutes west 60 feet, and North 35 degrees 30 minutes West 50 feet from the Southwest Corner of Block Seventy-nine of the Original Townsite of the City of Medford, Oregon; thence North 35 degrees 30 minutes West 100 feet; thence South 54 degrees 30 minutes West 145.5 feet; thence South 35 degrees 30 minutes East 100 feet; thence north 54 degrees 30 minutes East 145.5 feet to the place of beginning.

Dated this 6th day of November, 1920.

C. E. TERRILL,
Sheriff of Jackson County, Oregon

Picture Lers.

To paste new paper on picture backing, cut the paper the proper size, float it in water till it is quite wet, apply the paste to the frame and, wiping off actual drops from the paper, press it in place. As the paper dries it shrinks, stretching smooth.

If you want to hang a small picture from an invisible wire and find difficulty in locating a beam in which to make it fast, run your eye along the mophoard till you see where that is nailed. Hang the picture in a line with that. Small pictures hung on wire nails with taut wire won't show the wire nor skew on their nails, if two nails are used to pass the wire over instead of one.

To prevent ugly dust lines on the paper behind pictures drive a small brass-headed tack in each lower corner of the frame to hold it out from the wall so air can circulate behind it.

FIRST PARLIAMENT IN 1265

From That Time Dates the Entry of the Commons into Power in this State.

The 20th of January, 1265, was a great day not only for the English-speaking people but the world; it was the time appointed for the meeting of the first parliament in England.

Mathew of Paris in his chronicles first uses the word in reference to a council of the barons in 1246, but it was in the year 1265, during a civil war which very much resembled that of the seventeenth century, being for law against an arbitrary power as expressed by royalty, that the first parliaments, properly so-called, were assembled. It was at this time that Simon de Montfort held King Henry in his power.

This parliament was summoned in such a manner that there should be two knights for each county, and two citizens for every borough; the first clear acknowledgment of the commons element in the state. The meeting was held in that magnificent hall at Westminster and the representatives of the commons sat in the same place with their noble associates, probably at the bottom of the hall, little disposed to assert a controlling voice nor joining in any vote. But there they were and, notwithstanding the fact that De Montfort was shortly overpowered and he and nearly all of his associates slaughtered, the commons were never again left out. It was an admitted power entitled to be consulted in all great national movements and to have a directing voice in the matter of taxation.

More Ministers Needed.

It is from the families of the farmers and from the parsonage itself that new preachers come, according to a survey now being taken by the American education department of the Interchurch World Movement. The farms lead. The survey shows that out of every thousand pupils who enter the first grade of our American schools, only 38 enter college and only 14 remain to complete the course.

It is from these 14 that the churches recruit the great majority of their ministers. It is also disclosed by the survey that it requires about 5,000 new men every year merely to replace the gaps in the ranks of the ministry at home.

Blow-Resisting Paper Caps.

Astonishingly strong paper caps, capable of withstanding powerful blows, though extremely light in weight, have been invented by a shipyard employee, and are intended to be worn by workmen whose duties expose them to danger from falling objects. The process by which the novel headgear is produced has not been divulged, says Popular Mechanics, but it is known that chemicals are employed to harden the material, without adding to its weight. Several styles have been made, the lightest weighing about seven ounces, and others only slightly more. In a recent test, a one-pound bolt was dropped on one of them from a height of 40 feet, with the result that a barely perceptible dent was made in the paper. The novel head coverings are proof against water and acids, and are poor conductors of electricity.

AROUND THE WORLD WITH THE AMERICAN RED CROSS.

Public Health Nursing.

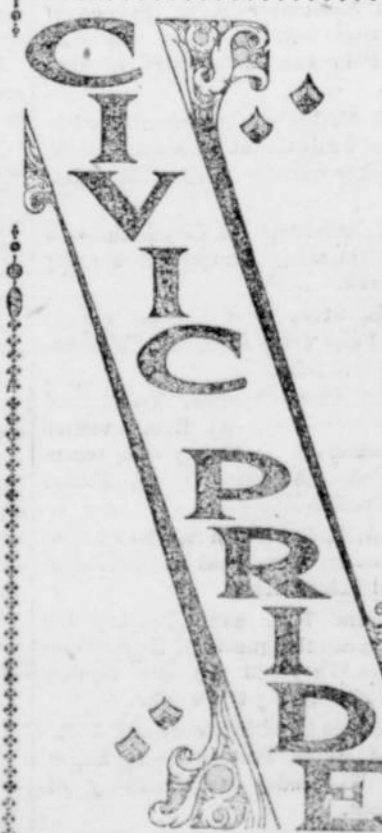

In the midst of its multifarious war duties the American Red Cross did not neglect its obligations to the civilian population at home. Throughout the conflict it maintained its Bureau of Public Health Nursing, instruction in first aid, home nursing and sanitation, and disaster relief. Particularly in their work for the babies was effort by public health nurses important. The accompanying photograph shows a Red Cross public health nurse instructing a mother in the proper preparation of the baby's diet.

Another Royal Suggestion PIES and PASTRIES

From the NEW ROYAL COOK BOOK

THERE is no further reason for worrying about table variety. The New Royal Cook Book gives new suggestions for every meal every day. The book is so full of surprises there should never be another dull meal in the home.

Custard Pie
1 cup pastry flour
1/2 teaspoon Royal Baking Powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup shortening cold water
Sift flour, baking powder and salt; add one-half shortening and rub in lightly with fingers; add water slowly until of right consistency to roll out. Roll out very thin; put on in small pieces remaining shortening; fold upper and lower edges in to center; fold sides in to center again; roll out thin and put on pie plate.

Custard
3 eggs
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 cups scalded milk
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
Beat eggs, add sugar, salt, flavoring and milk very slowly. Line pie plate with paste made as above, and bake in very hot oven about 15 minutes. Pour custard into the baked crust and bake in moderate oven about 30 minutes. The pie is done when a knife put in center of custard comes out dry.
Coconut Pie is made the same way, adding 1 cup of shredded coconut, and using only 2 eggs.
