It is a well known fact that no larger, better or better flavored fruit and vegetables of all kinds are to be found in the United States than those grown in Rogue River valley and other Jackson county valleys. Therefore it looks quite out of place and is somewhat of a knock to this part of the country when the Medford grocers advertise "Washington and Idaho potatoes for sale—the best in the country," etc. Of course this is done perhaps in order to have an excuse for charging a higher price than our home product sells for. But the queer part of this system is that in Portland and a number of towns in Washington and Idaho the grocers advertise their potatoes as "the world-famed Rogue River potato—the best on earth."

The teachers so fortunate as to attend the Oregon State Teachers' Association to be held at Portland Dec. 27, 28, 29, will have the pleasure of hearing one of the most distinguished educators of the day—Dr. John Adams of the University of London. Dr. Adams has held the position in the University of Professor of Education since 1902, and has written several books on education which are well known in this country. One book "The Relation of the School Studies to Moral Training" touches closely on one of the subjects under investigation the past year by an O. S. T. A. committee.

No doubt a lot of fellows wish they did not look so much like the notorious Siskiyou train hold-ups—the D'Autremont brothers. In about every state in the union arrests have been made as suspects of these criminals—the last one being Alabama. Our guess is that the villains are still in hiding in the mountains, not a hundred miles from where the crime was committed.

"Rush Hours"

In all lines of business patronage is irregular. Street cars, stores, banks and restaurants have their "rush hours" when some delays in service are unavoidable. The public, with the situation before its eyes, good naturedly accepts a degree of inconvenience.

There are "rush hours" in a telephone exchange. With business service the "loads" of telephone traffic are determined by commercial activities, banking hours, etc.—the "load" of the residence telephone varies with household and social needs.

The demands upon the telephone operator and a complicated mechanical equipment cannot be seen, but telephone traffic varies in every hour of every day according to the individual desires of thousands of patrons.

If there should be at times a delay in answering your call, remember that trained young women with nimble fingers are doing their best to serve you, and that at the moment there may be a "rush" of telephone traffic.

The exercise of patience and consideration will mean better service.
