WE LIKE IT—DO YOU?

My, but it seems good to have plenty of elbow room! Did you ever experience the sensation of moving from a two-room apartment to a real house? That is about the way the editor feels this week.

Must we explain? Why, no, of course you have noticed that THE POST is all printed at home.

Some country editors remind us of the story of the old colored man:

Some ladies in a southern city passed every day the home of old Uncle Eben and each day saw him sitting in front of his house apparently gazing into space.

One day one of the ladies accosted him with:

"Uncle, don't you get tired of just sitting there day after day?"

Uncle Eben replied:
 "Oh, no, Missus, Ah jes' sets an' t'inks; an' when Ah gets tiahd t'inkin' Ah jes' sets."

The following is from the Richland (Iowa) Clarion, published in the town where we grew up and are known by our first name. We owned the Clarion several years and sold it to the present publishers. The Clarion says:

This week we received a copy of THE JACKSONVILLE (Ore.) POST. This is the paper which Mrs. Blanche Cook recently purchased. The copy we received was the last one issued by the retiring editor and now we are anxiously waiting to get the first copy under the new management. We will wager there will be a change in its appearance. Mrs. Cook is a thorough-going newspaper woman and we want to recommend her to the good people of Jacksonville. You can rest assured that you will get the best possible in the country newspaper line. The Clarion will be glad to exchange with THE POST, and while Mrs. Cook and son Robert are keeping posted on the old home town we shall watch with interest the advancement of THE POST.

Thanks, folks. We hope we'll not disappoint you.

As a rule, the other fellow's job looks easy. Sometimes a merchant feels that he would be happier if he were only a farmer; and there is the farmer—particularly the farmer's son—who is inclined to believe the merchant has a "snap." Then, to some, a preacher's job seems to require little effort.

But, of course, the country editor is really the only one who has a rose-strewn path. Why, all in the world the country editor has to do is to sit at a desk six days a week and write such matter as this:

Mrs. Black, of Cactus Creek, let a can opener slip and cut herself in the pantry.

Little Willie Brown, of Sleepy Hollow, had the misfortune of getting his arm caught in the clothes wringer, breaking it in two places.

Tell us the news. We want it.

PERSONAL AND OTHERWISE

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Armstrong of Coquille are spending a few days in Jacksonville.

Ashland announces that a modern tourist hotel will be erected in that city, work on it to be under way by early fall.

Messrs and Mesdames Tom Dunnington and Leonard McKee spent Saturday night fishing on Little Applegate.

C. F. Hoefs, Elmer Hoefs, Miss Edith Hoefs and Mr. and Mrs. Saulsbury enjoyed a trip to the Oregon Caves Sunday.

Mrs. S. K. Ogle, who is making an extended visit in Klamath Falls, was in town last week looking after business affairs.

Rev. W. H. Amos of Ashland, Sunday school missionary of Southern Oregon Presbytery, assisted with the services at the church Sunday.

Rev. and Mrs. Edgar went to Ashland Sunday, where members of Rogue River Ministerial Association and their families were entertained by the Ashland Ministerial Association.

The young people of Mr. Yost's Sunday school class enjoyed a weiner roast one evening last week, which we failed to mention. Anyway, the youngsters had a good time and plenty of "hot dogs."

C. B. Watson, of Ashland, was a pleasant caller at this office Saturday. Mr. Watson is a journalist and well versed in the history and geography of Oregon, and was at one time editor of the Oregon Sentinel. Mr. Watson was a guest of the Chitwood home, being a brother-in-law of Mr. Chitwood.

A party of co-eds from Oregon Agricultural College arrived in Grants Pass Friday to go to the Oregon Caves, where they will have charge of the dining room and kitchen of the Oregon Caves Resort. Those in the party were Agnes Brighton, Ava Conner, Dorothy Hies, Teresa Devereaux, Cora Price and Velma Robinson. They were met here by Chief Guide Dick Rowley, who escorted them to the Caves.—Rogue River Courier.

Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Ley, of Portland, spent the weekend visiting Mrs. Ley's father, J. L. Roe, and sister, Mrs. Ralph Ball, of Portland, who with her son Sam is spending the summer with her father. The entire family enjoyed a trip to Crater Lake Saturday, returning via Ft. Klamath, Klamath Falls and Ashland. Mr. and Mrs. Ley are spending several weeks sightseeing, having visited Vancouver and Victoria, B. C., before coming to Jacksonville. They departed Monday intending to visit Tillamook beaches and Seaside before returning home.

Jacksonville Freight Line

W. A. BISHOP, Prop.

Moving and all kinds of freight handled.

The mixing part of the paving plant was out of service Monday. It was soon repaired and again in operation.

Frank Keene, who has the Maybright mine rented, is driving a tunnel to tap the old channel of a fork of Jackson Creek.

Evan Reames and wife, who live in San Francisco, have been visiting Mrs. Dora Harbough in this city. The ladies are sisters.

Your home paper comes to you as an old friend and neighbor, telling you all the home news while the large city daily enters your house as a stranger.

Mrs. Oftedal, who has been spending a few days here looking after business affairs, reports that she and Dr. Oftedal are locating at Grays River, Washington.

Mrs. Ella Wilkinson, who has been residing with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hackert, has gone to Crater Lake, where she will be employed in the hotel during the summer.

Mrs. Geo. Kahler, formerly of Central Point but now residing in southern California, was visiting with friends in town Friday. She was enroute to Portland for a visit with her son, Ed.

Mrs. Amy Dow found time from her duties at her restaurant to make a business trip to Medford Monday. Mrs. Dow said she was glad to get back to Jacksonville as it is so much cooler here.

Mrs. Soren Sorensen and Miss Addie Morton of Amity, Ore., are guests of their great aunt, Mrs. Carl Clifton. The ladies are teachers and have come to a good place to spend their vacation.

Ed Stillwell, Lois Yost, Gwen Tabor, Ira Brooks, Bert Yost, Harold Sanders and Miss Stillwell, with Mrs. Yost as chaperone, visited Crater Lake, driving there Saturday evening and returning Sunday night.

In addition to the good sermon preached by Rev. Edgar Sunday morning there was splendid singing by the choir and also special vocal numbers. Mrs. Edgar rendered another old song, "Don't Stop Praying," which added to the impressiveness of the sermon on prayer. Then there was a very pleasing duet by Mrs. Chester Wendt and Mrs. A. R. Chase, of Ephrata, Wash., who is visiting the Wendt family.

(Happenings of our neighbor town, gleaned by our reporter.)

Mrs. Jeanette Montgomery, one of the pioneer residents of this county, having come here in 1851, passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. E. G. Roberts, at Davis Station Monday morning, at the age of 80 years and 25 days. She was born in Macon County, Mo., May 28, 1844. After crossing the plains in 1849, she settled in Linn County, Oregon, where she resided two years, after which she came to Jackson County, where she passed the remainder of her life. Interment was made in Griffin Creek cemetery. Thus has passed another of Jackson county's pioneers, those courageous folks who were not afraid to suffer the hardships of frontier life.

Robert Newman, of Portland, and Mrs. C. E. Clark, of Medford, were business visitors Tuesday. Mr. Newman was called here by the death of his mother, Mrs. Louisa Newman.

Mrs. E. Schapp of San Francisco and Mrs. Elmer Stoltz of Sacramento are visiting their uncle, Claude White, this week.

Mrs. Knapp and J. D. Williams attended the funeral of Mrs. Montgomery in Medford.

J. E. Vincent and Armine Lewis and their wives are spending the week in Portland.

Mrs. Whipp, of Reno, Nevada, is paying a visit to her daughter, Mrs. Thos. C. Ross.

Dr. E. Kirchgessner, of Upper Rogue River, was in town Tuesday.

Jacksonville Lodge No. 10, I. O. O. F. Meets every Saturday Evening at 7:30. All members and visiting brothers are cordially invited to attend the meetings.

HOMESEEKER

For a real home place you cannot find a better location than Oregon's historic city of Jacksonville. Best climate in Oregon. More than 75 per cent of the inhabitants reside in their own homes. Good garden and fruit lands. Good schools and churches. Electric light and power. Good water. Wonderful shade trees and mountain and valley scenery. Good citizenship—all white American.

Free auto camp grounds. We solicit full investigation of our advantages and community by prospective settlers who want to build a home and live a long happy life. Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce.

Highest quality jewelry repairing, diamond setting, watch repairing, agate mounting and jewelry manufacturing.
 REDDY & CO.
 Main St., MEDFORD, OREGON.

Jacksonville, the one-time hub of all southern Oregon, is again coming to the front.

Thanks to the good work of our county court and the progressive business men of our county, we are now being connected up with the Pacific Highway at Medford, by a good 18-foot paved road. And this is only a new link in East Highway, via Rogue River and Crater Lake to a connection with the Dalles California Highway at Fort Klamath, and running west via Jacksonville, Ruch, the Oregon Caves, and in the near future to a connection with the Roosevelt Highway on the coast.
