

GOLD NEAR DIAMOND LAKE

Stories of the discovery of gold near Diamond Lake are being passed around and add much to the excitement of Klamath Falls, and it seems that there is some truth in the story, though more or less exaggerated as such stories generally are.

A prospector working along one of the upper tributaries of the Rogue found some gold bearing rock which seemed very rich. He took this to Dr. Smith of Crescent City, Calif., who he knew was dependable and also financially able to continue development work.

Dr. Smith realized that a rich ledge or placer might be near where the rock was found, so he took some outfit and an assayer and chemicals and packed in from Diamond Lake, their destination being about fifteen miles west of the lake.

Many people from here and other places are planning to go on in hoping that a rich find will be made and a new El Dorado opened.—Klamath News.

PARENT-TEACHERS INSTITUTE

Parents-Teachers Association workers will be interested in hearing of the institute to be held in the Ashland Civic Club House in the afternoons during the coming week. The meetings begin Monday and a fee of one dollar is asked for joining the classes.

Mrs. Hill and Miss Hays, who are conducting the work, were both heard at the state convention at Medford and are bringing much that is valuable along the lines of Parent-Teacher work. All who can should hear some of these lectures.

"Why was Dr. Kutter so severely reprimanded by the club librarian?"

"They caught him absent-mindedly removing the appendix from the book he was reading."—The American Legion Weekly.

ROBIN HOOD IN MEDFORD

"Robin Hood" is probably the most gorgeously costumed opera ever given in Medford either professionally or by amateurs. There are 361 costumes not including the ballet and some of them, notably the courtiers and their ladies, and the twelve bridesmaids are wonders in satin brocades. The wedding costumes of Robin Hood and Maid Marian, also Alan a Dale and Annabel are surely the last word in magnificence.

A number of Jacksonville folks attended Robin Hood last night and pronounce it well worth seeing. No doubt many others will attend the performance tonight or Saturday night.

A HAPPY HOUSEHOLD

Little Louise was lost on the street and was brought into the police station. The officers tried in every way to learn her name. Finally one of the officers said, "What name does your mother call your father?"

"Why," said Louise innocently, "she doesn't call him any name; she likes him."
