WILL DEVELOP BUZZARD MINE

DIRECTORS MET SATURDAY AND MADE DEFINITE PLANS

A meeting of the directors of the Pearl Mining Co. of Jackson County, was held at Central Point Saturday and action was taken to insure development of the Buzzard mine.

This action is a direct result of the building of the smelter at Gold Hill. The ore from this mine contains galena (the ore which contains lead and silver as well as gold) and requires smelting. Approximately one hundred tons of selected ore from this mine has been smelted by the Selvy Smelting Co. of San Francisco and was found to average in value about $200 per ton; some running as high as $560 per ton. The company has the smelting company's certificates showing this.

A free gold area, which gives much promise, has recently been discovered in this mine and is now under exploration and development.

The Buzzard now has approximately 3,000 feet of tunnels. It is located about fifteen miles east of Trail on Elk Creek.

W. T. Leever of Central Point is President of the company. The directors are: Fred Dahlberg, Grants Pass; Mrs. J. W. Merritt, Gold Hill; Mark Applegate, Medford; Ernest Applegate, Ashland.

Captain O. C. Applegate, of Klamath Falls, a member of the company, attended the meeting Saturday, and we are indebted to him for the foregoing information.

The penalty for violation of any of the above rules will be the shutting off of all city water from offenders without further notice.

By order of the City Council of the City of Jacksonville, made in regular session August 5, 1924.

THEY ALL LIKE IT

A. W. Hill and family of Eureka, Calif., who had been spending a month touring Washington and Oregon, visited at the home of his cousin, Mrs. J. A. Marsh, Friday on their way home.

Mr. Hill has served as district Attorney of Humboldt County, Calif., for fifteen years. He said that California would certainly have to "take its hat off" to Oregon in the matter of good roads; and that California had sent an engineer to inspect Oregon roads and take notes on paving with reference to curves, bridges, etc.

Mr. Hill said the new pavement between Jacksonville and Medford was as good a road as he had seen on their whole trip.

Don't start anything you can't finish --forest fires, for instance.

SCHOOLS ARE MOVED

University of Oregon, Eugene, Aug. 6 (Special).--School children at the big logging camps near Bend expect rapid changes and think nothing of seeing their school house, containing desks, books, stove and everything but the teacher and themselves, hoisted twenty feet into the air by a huge crane and settled on a railway flat-car, to be moved with the rest of the camp to fresh timber, according to Miss Althea Stoneman, Bend school nurse, who is taking courses in the Portland summer session of the University.

Moves are made on Saturdays or Sundays so that students need miss no working days. The schools are surprisingly well equipped and have trained teachers and high standards, says Miss Stoneman. Under her inspection are approximately 100 children in logging camps, divided into five schools.

Water is often scarce and frequently has to be hauled, but the little people are clean and tidy as possible and respond readily to tooth brushing, states the nurse. Many of them were born in the woods and know mainly the peaceful life they lead beneath the great Deschutes white pine trees.

P. B. O. ELKS CONVENTION

The P. B. O. Elks convention in Tillamook August 14, 15 and 16, promises to be the largest ever held in Oregon since the announcement that by arrangements with the National Guard through Captain J. E. Shearer of Company K of Tillamook, all the equipment such as blankets and cots, needed to provide for convenience of delegates will be available.

The local committee on housing, headed by Rollie W. Watson, plans to have tents pitched in rows in all the vacant lots near the festival grounds with space between tents for the visitors' cars. This will be a convenience for the guests as all their personal equipment will be together. In order to prevent loss or theft, local boys in Company K, who won the Oregonian cup for the best National Guard company in the state for last year, have been engaged to patrol all the grounds.

These arrangements have been declared by the state officers adequate for any crowd that may attend. In addition to the National Guard equipment all private homes in the city have been solicited for available room and the response has been hearty on the part of townspeople.

The entertainment will include four deep sea fishing trips a day with boats under the supervision of local men who will act as life guards; two dances each night during the convention, one for elks and another for the public; a big street parade with several bands; clam digging expeditions every morning to the clam flats near the old ship yards, a rodeo with two carloads of steers and horses; a carnival and a bathing beauty contest.

A trap shoot for Elks is one of the big features for delegates. Many cash prizes and trophies are to be awarded and letters received from state lodges show that nearly every lodge will be represented by a team.

One of the biggest features of the three days program will be the clam bake and salmon barbecue. All the food but coffee will be Tillamook products. The committee expects to feed 4000 persons over a period of several hours. This will be free for everyone whether Elks or not and will be held just east of town in the fair grounds.

Crop rotation will greatly extend the productive power of Oregon soils, says the experiment station soils department. It gives better tilth and moisture, less water requirement, more crop per unit of water used, and better net profits, and it helps build up the soil.

The Good Great Man

How seldom, friend, a great good man inherits
Honor and wealth, with all his worth and pains!
It seems a story from the land of spirits
When any man obtains that which he merits,
Or any merit that which he obtains.

Reply to the Above

For shame, dear friend! Renounce this canting strain!
What wouldst thou have a great good man obtain?
Wealth, title, dignity, gilded chain,
Or throne of corpses which his sword hath slain?

Goodness and greatness are not means, but ends.
Hath he not always treasures, always friends,
The good great man? Three treasures--love and light
And calm thoughts, equable as infant's breath;

And three firm friends, more sure than day and night,
Himself, his Maker and the Angel Death.
--Coleridge.

LUNCHEON FOR MINING MEN

TO MEET SACRAMENTO DELEGATION AND DISCUSS PLANS

Medford, Ore., Aug. 7.--Mining men of Southern Oregon have been invited by R. T. Spaulding, secretary of the Medford Chamber of Commerce, to attend a mining luncheon here at noon on Monday, August 11, to meet a delegation from the Department of Mines and Mining of the Sacramento Chamber of Commerce and hear of plans for the twenty-seventh annual convention of the American Mining Congress to be held in Sacramento the week of September 29th.

J. F. Callbreath, secretary of the mining congress, will accompany the Sacramentoans and will make the principal address, discussing the major problems now confronting the mining industry and which the Sacramento convention will attempt to settle, financing of mining ventures, governmental regulation, tariff, taxation and reintroduction of silver as a basis of coinage in Europe.

C. B. Bills and Bert F. Hews, manager of the Sacramento mining body, will outline the reasons why the Pacific Coast should be well represented at the convention and also point out what the convention may be expected to do for Pacific Coast mining ventures.

Sacramento's plans for the convention and for the National Exposition of Mines and Mining Equipment, to be held during the convention, are well advanced. The Department of Mines and Mining of the Sacramento Chamber of Commerce has been working for more than a year in preparing for the gathering and at the same time has brought mining back in California as a topic of popular interest.

Present indications are that the meeting here will be well attended, drawing mining men from long distances.
