

Oregon City—(Concluded from page 133.)

C. O. T. Williams has resided here for a number of years, and is also favorably known in Portland. He has just opened an elegant drug store, and his popularity will contribute considerably to build up a fine trade for him in a very short time.

Pope & Co., dealers in stoves, tinware, sheet iron, copper, brass and iron ware, and general house furnishing goods, have been established here since 1864. Outside of Portland firms, they carry the largest stock of goods in their line of any store in the valley. Their store may be seen in view No. 3. The building is a fire-proof brick structure, erected by them at an expense of $7,000. The upper story is used as a hall for exhibitions and theatrical performances.

L. D. Harding has the only exclusive boot and shoe store in the city. He carries a large and well assorted stock, and also manufactures boots to order. Although established here only about fifteen months, he does a very good business. He is an old Oregonian, came here in 1852, and is favorably known in many parts of the State.

Graham & Howard, saddlers and harness manufacturers, as well as dealers in furniture and mouldings, carry a complete stock in their line. They also deal in sewing machines of all kinds, and during last year sold more machines than all the other agencies in the county together.

J. M. Bacon, dealer in cigars and tobacco, stationery, etc., is also postmaster of Oregon City, which office he has filled for twelve years to the general satisfaction of all who receive their mail here. He has resided in Oregon for thirty-four years, and during that time filled a great many positions of trust and honor.

George A. Harding, dealer in drugs, paints, oils, etc., has one of the handsomest and best arranged drug stores in the valley. He is a native of Sydney, Australia, where he was brought up to the drug business. He has been a resident of this State for twenty-one years; eighteen of it he has spent in Oregon City, most of that time in the drug business. Mr. Harding makes a specialty of compounding physician's prescriptions, to which he gives his personal attention.

E. B. Fellows, proprietor of the Lincoln Bakery, and dealer in groceries, crockery, queens and glassware, is a retired engineer, which trade he followed in this State for nineteen years. His present business he has successfully carried on now for nearly three years, with a constantly growing patronage. His neat residence, surrounded by the handsomest flower garden in the county, is located at Canemah, the suburb of Oregon City.

Charles Logus came to Oregon in 1856, did business in Portland for several years, and finally, in 1863, removed to Oregon City, where he has resided ever since. He is engaged in the pork packing business, and annually slaughters about 2,000 hogs. His hams, shoulders, breakfast bacon and lard rank with the best wherever introduced. A specialty of Mr. Logus' is the manufacture of about 10,000 pounds per annum of "Servelat" sausage, which is unsurpassed even by the imported article of that name.

PERSONAL.—F. H. Cohn, Esq., who has been connected with the large carpet warehouse of Walter Bros. for the past seven years, and who, during his stay in Portland, made a host of friends, returned to his home in New York to engage in business with his father. His successor, Mr. Adolph Walter, who formerly had charge of the Portland house, again assumes the management.

THE dry goods firm of Olds & King are in continual receipt of novelties in their line of business. Their salesrooms are located on Third street, where rents are low, and having excellent facilities for purchasing, they are enabled to offer special inducement to customers. To parties in the interior, samples and prices will be forwarded on application.

PROGRESS is the order of the day in Portland, and as usual we find the drug house of Wm. Pfunder & Co. in the lead. At present carpenters and fresco painters are busy at work in the establishment, and from the plans shown us, we judge that when completed the salesroom will be one of the finest on the Pacific Coast. The laboratory has also been enlarged, and a large printing press added, which will be run by steam. The rapid increase in sales of the Oregon Blood Purifier, and other preparations which this firm manufacture, has made these changes necessary.

The Farmers' and Mechanics' Store, in this city is now receiving a mammoth summer stock which has been selected for them by resident buyers both at New York and San Francisco. The general stagnation in business has been taken advantage of by purchasing for cash, and as the Farmers' and Mechanics' always gives its patrons the benefit of all its bargains, great reductions may be looked for in the several departments by those who patronize this firm. Their latest price list is now ready, and will be sent free to all who furnish their address.

SUNNY COVE—This favorite family bathing establishment, which is located in Alameda county, California, is managed by G. W. Traver, whom very nearly all our readers in the Northwest will remember as being heretofore in the sewing machine business in this city for a number of years. Mr. Traver is an honest, conscientious, business man, and his assurance that Sunny Cove is the finest bathing resort on the coast, is a sufficient guarantee for us that it is so. It is our intention to visit Sunny Cove during this summer; after that we may have more to say of it. In the meantime we advise all Oregonians who visit San Francisco to take a run over to Alameda. Mr. Traver informs us that ladies who visited Sunny Cove regularly last season, pronounce it ahead of Santa Cruz, as it is much safer, there being no heavy undertow as at the latter place. A new first-class hotel, with beautiful gardens, capable of accommodating two hundred boarders, and kept by Kohlmoos Bros., is located within two blocks from the bathing establishment, and can be reached from San Francisco at a trifling expense and after a few minutes' travel by the Alameda ferry.

I. F. POWERS, Esq., whose furniture advertisement will be found in this number, has just received a very large stock of new styles of furniture, different from anything ever exhibited here. He also manufactures extensively, and can supply anything in the house-furnishing line on the very best of terms.

MESSES. DOUD & NEWELL'S stock of general merchandise, in East Portland, is very large and selected with care, and we see no necessity for people on the East side to purchase elsewhere, when such enterprising business men can accommodate them almost at their own doors.

LUTHER MYERS, at Salem, is, without a doubt, the most extensive and successful breeder of fine poultry in the Northwest. His yards are the best arranged of any we have ever seen, and as he has all the best varieties suitable for the Northwest, we advise our readers who may want eggs for hatching, to send their orders to Mr. Myers.

THE Chemeketa Hotel, at Salem, considering the excellent manner in which it is conducted and the accommodations furnished the traveling public, is the cheapest hotel on the coast. For families, it is especially desirable.

O. F. DENNIS, at Salem, manufactures furniture of all kinds, as well as mouldings, doors, window blinds, etc. His facilities are unsurpassed by any similar establishment in Oregon. He is ready to make shipments to any part of the Northwest, on favorable terms.

"THE PEN KING," an artistic pen production of W. Lynn White, of this city, mention of which has been heretofore made in these columns, can be obtained by mail by remitting $1.50 to the author.

A. B. COLLVER, the proprietor of the Alden Fruit Dryer, and a fine fruit ranch on Coos river, called to see us on Wednesday last. He is also agent for, and proposes to use, the Kelly patent, which is believed by many to be superior to the Alden for drying fruit. He showed us a specimen of dried cider, which can be kept for years fresh and pure. The fruit preserved by the Kelly process is good for any number of years, and for any climate, and it will only require production to supply the world with Coos county fruit. We shall not say how long it will be before ships loaded with our fruit will leave our bay for England, France and Germany.—Coos County Argus.
