

"Does he know anything?" anxiously inquired a friend, bending over the body of a man who had fallen from the roof of a house. "Don't know, I'm sure," the physician replied; "he never did know anything, but you can't tell what effect the fall may have had upon him until he regains consciousness."

A three-year-old little girl was taught to close her evening prayer, during the temporary absence of her father, with, "And please watch over my papa." It sounded very sweet, but the mother's amazement may be imagined when the child said, "And you'd better keep an eye on mamma, too."

L. G. Davidson, the photographer, at the southwest corner of Yamhill and First streets, takes beautiful life-like pictures at prices within the reach of all. His views of buildings, fine stock, steamboats, or indoor views of rooms, cannot be excelled anywhere, as he employs for this special work one of the most noted artists on the Pacific Coast.

A RELIABLE FIRM—Foremost amongst our advertisers in this number is the well and favorably known Farmer's and Mechanic's Store. Their announcement will be found on the inside back cover. They carry a complete stock of Clothing, Gentlemen's Furnishing Goods, Boots and Shoes, Hats, etc., etc. This is a strictly one price store, and the statements made by the proprietors may be relied on as being correct. They never misrepresent an article, and strictly adhering to this rule, they have built up a trade which extends to all parts of Oregon, Washington and Idaho. Parties ordering goods, sent by mail, purchase fully as cheap as if they attended at the store in person. All orders are carefully selected by the proprietors. By all means address the Farmer's and Mechanic's Store, and receive one of their spring price lists.

First premium awarded to Abell for the best cabinets, cards, and retouched photographs, at the late State Fair.

The Spring announcement of J. F. D. Wrinkle & Co.'s Dry Goods House appears on page 125 and will be found of especial interest for our lady readers. We have personally examined their spring importations, and can recommend them to our readers. Their designs and patterns for 1880 are the newest we have seen in many years, and in price they compare favorably with Eastern Dry Goods houses. Our country readers can have samples forwarded to them by mail, and make their purchases the same as if they visited this city.

Bachtel, the "old stand-by" of photographers, is still on duty at his elegant gallery, corner First and Morrison streets, where he is prepared to take all kinds of pictures, in the most approved style of the art.
