THE WEST SHORE.

VOL. 6-No. 9. 1 Samuel, Publisher,

Portland, Oregon, October, 1880.

Per Annus, | Single et

50 are young girls, between

The fee for paying students is from $16 to $10

PACIFIC UNIVERSITY, FOR-EST GROVE.

The germ of this institution was a boarding school

established by Mrs. Tabitha

Brown, nearly thirty-five years ago. With very inefficient materials, and often under the most discouraging

circumstances, this pioneer educator of the "Plains"

clung to her design of establishing a permanent center of religious and social influence for this community.

The next stage in the growth of the institution was due to Rev. Harvey Clark.

He was the real founder of 13 and 18 years of age.

per year.

OUR EDUCATIONAL IN-STITUTES

In THE WEST SHORE for September we furnished our readers a most excellent view of the State University at Eugene City. We now present THE AGRICUL-TURAL COLLEGE at Corvallis, an institution possessing a thorough corps of professors, among whom we are pleased to notice, B. L. Arnold, President; Jos. Emery, Prof. of Mathematics; B. J. Hawthorne, Prof. of Languages, and E. B. Mc-Elroy. The college is beautifully located in the thriving city of Corvallis, in the very heart of the Willamette valley, and is connected by rail with Portland, as well as the principal towns Polk and Benton counties.

in Washington, Yamhill, OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE AT CORVALLIS-Photo by Dr. Heslop.

tural college. A well conducted ex- students enrolled is 160, of which about

Corvallis has regular steamboat con- perimental farm adjoins the College the school as it now exists; for though nection with Portland and all the towns grounds. There are at present 57 ag- closely connected by sympathy of delying on the banks of the Willamette ricultural students enrolled-the law, sign with Mrs. Brown's school, there river-in fact, no better spot could pos- however, provides for the free tuition was no legal connection between the sibly have been selected for an agricul- of 60 scholars. The total number of two,

It is now more than thirty years since

PACIFIC UNIVERSITY AT FOREST GROVE, ORECON. FIRM & Photo by Robert Shames