In the Bonanza mine, in the Santiam district, a tunnel has been run 180 feet. At a depth of 150 feet a very rich body of ore was found. At this point the ledge is about six feet wide, with walls well defined, and in the center of the ledge from eighteen to twenty-four inches of gold-bearing quartz was found that is so rich that about three tons of the rock, which was taken out, experts say will mill at least $50,000 in gold.

The people of Whitby Island, in Puget sound, are soon to have a railroad running from one end of the island to the other. Capitalists have been interested in the enterprise and are pushing the preliminary arrangements.

The people of Port Angeles, Washington, are determined to have a railroad, and have agreed to raise a bonus of $350,000 to get standard gauge connection with the Port Townsend Southern at Junction City.
