

and all food and equipment on this introductory overnight backpack for women in the picturesque Tillamook Forest at the Oregon coast July 14-15, 1984. Cost of the trip is $45.00. To register, call WWIN, 239-6896, or write to P.O. Box 14743, Portland, OR 97214.

Women's Wilderness Institute Northwest is a non-profit organization which has offered wilderness education and adventure to a diverse group of women since 1977. The program includes whitewater rafting, backpacking, bicycle camping, and cross-country skiing.

The NW Film Study Center presents as part of their third annual Woman's Eye View Film Series in conjunction with FILMA: Portland's Women's Film Forum. A Question of Silence, the story of a collective murder, of what happens when women who are strangers to each other suddenly unleash the rage against men they didn't know they had. Shows at 8 p.m.

In his second annual Portland Appearance, King of the Cowboy Artists Gerald Gaxiola, also known as The Maestro, returns to Northwest Artists Workshop to present a performance event on Saturday, July 14 at 8:00 p.m.

Stretching performance art to its limits, The Maestro manages to fuse art and entertainment, resulting in a whole new interaction between viewer and artist. His work is unique. The western theme is on the order of a rhinestone cowboy extravaganza ala Roy Rogers — complete with rope tricks!

In addition to live performance, The Maestro will present a selection of his paintings and a "B" western video entitled The Cowboy Takes a Model. Tickets $4.00 at the door, $3.00 for NAW members.
