WAS LEONARDO DA VINCI GAY?

No one knows for sure.

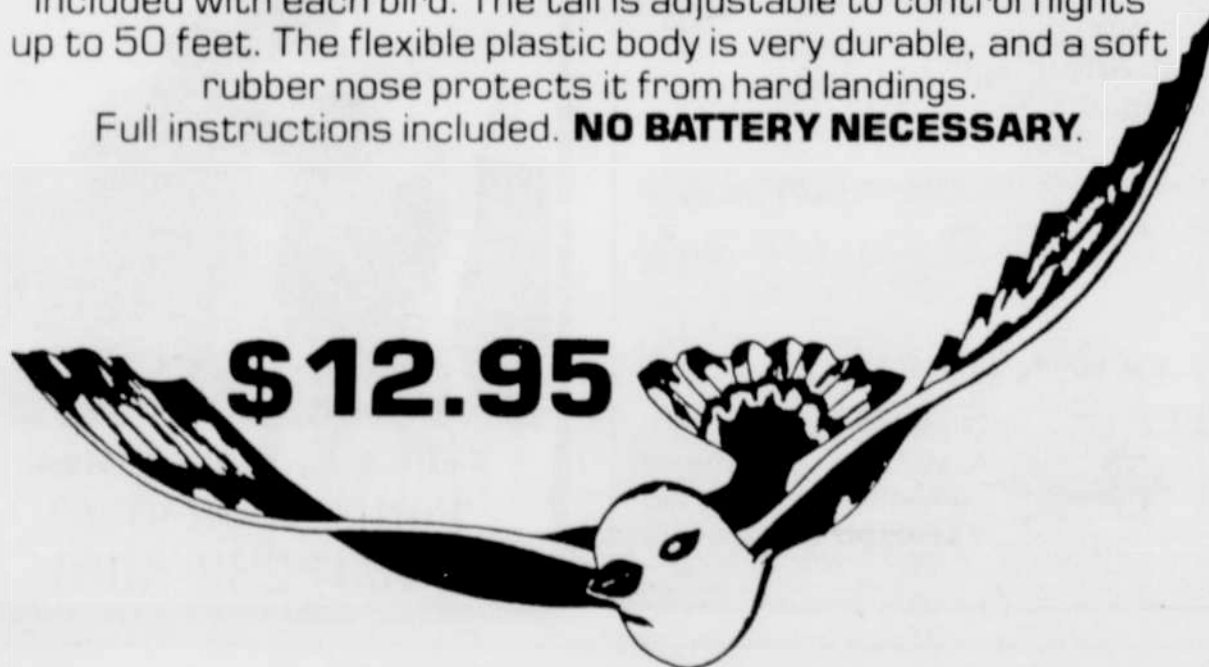

What we do know is that one of his drawings hatched the perfect gift.

The Ornithopter. A mechanical flying bird.
French precision made.

The ornithopter dates back to the sketches of Leonardo.
Now, using modern material like tear-proof mylar for wings and nylon for the gears, the ornithopter can be enjoyed by everyone.
These flying birds are made of 23 separate pieces; all hand assembled and ready for flight. The wingspan is 16 inches.

The power to fly is provided by a replaceable rubber band motor which is wound up 50 times per flight. Extra power band included with each bird. The tail is adjustable to control flights up to 50 feet. The flexible plastic body is very durable, and a soft rubber nose protects it from hard landings.

Full instructions included. NO BATTERY NECESSARY.

(plus $1.50 shipping and handling.
Includes one FREE power band, $1.50 value.)
