Defection? Rejection! Reflection.

Bisexuals get it from both sides

by Lisa Loving

She used to invade my dreams. Thick black hair, almond eyes, cigarettes and all, Robyn was the most beautiful, intelligent and sensual person I ever met.

My legs turned into jelly whenever I tried to tell her how I really felt about her. And I sure as hell wasn't going to tell my boyfriend about it, either.

I thought my "out" lesbian friends would be the key to unlock my confusion: Should I throw myself at her feet? Play it cool? Dump the boy? Keep the status quo?
