

The trees need your help!

Come celebrate the earth and the spirit of resistance at ResistDance, an outdoor benefit concert for grass-roots nonviolent forest protection. The Aug. 10 event takes place from 2 to 9 pm and features performances by Calobo, Kerosene Dream, Manah, Native American drummers and others. In addition to live music, there will be activities for children, free food and drinks (bring your own utensils) and speakers telling about forest protection campaigns throughout the region.

The concert is hosted by the Cascadia Forest Alliance. All proceeds will assist ongoing efforts to stop logging in the last 5 percent of the remaining ancient and native forests.

ResistDance will be held in Mount Scott Park, Southeast 74th Avenue and Ellis Street. Tickets can be purchased in advance—at Laughing Horse Books, The Third Eye, Reading Frenzy, Holland Bookstore or the Rexall Rose—by making a donation of $8 to $50. For additional information or to purchase tickets by phone, call the Cascadia Forest Alliance at 241-4879.

Quality people for a quality cause

"Where the hell will you be on Saturday, Aug. 9, from 10 pm to 3 am?" ask the men at Shvitz Productions, namely Howie Bagdadonutz and DJ Pez. Why, at Quality Homo, of course, the dance party to raise money for Sensory Perceptions, the Portland lesbian and gay film festival.

Quality homos support their film festival

As long as you are over 21, you can shake your can to an eclectic mix of tunes supplied by DJ Pez and a celebrity guest DJ, suck down a few cocktails and other beverages provided by Bima, view images from D-J's (of Queer Nite fame) "American Museum of Snapshots" and get a sneak peek at some selections from the film festival, which will be held Sept. 18-21 at Cinema 21.

Quality Homo takes place at 128 SW Third Ave., and is wheelchair accessible. The cost is $5 before 11 pm and $7 after that. For more information, call the Sensory Perceptions hot line at 242-0818.

Acoustic benefit for diversity and equality

Singer and composer Joe Uveges (pronounced yoo-VAY-gus) will perform acoustic guitar music at an Aug. 10 concert to benefit Diversity as Gift. Uveges will play songs from Dancin' on Thin Air, his 1995 release with sometime music partner Phil Volan, and other folk rock music. Well-known on the other side of the Rockies, Uveges uses a variety of techniques to coax a range of sounds from his instrument that complements his alternately poignant and humorous material.

Tickets are $10 and are available by calling 241-1751 or Fred Meyer Fastixx at 224-8499. The Dublin Pub is located at 6821 SW Beaverton-Hillsdale Highway.

Diversity as Gift is a nonprofit corporation that is committed to equality for all people. It offers workshops and classes, provides training for schools and companies, and works to eliminate sexism, racism, homophobia and all forms of prejudice and discrimination.

Old favorite gets a new do

There'll be a new zing to The Bite this year. The annual event at Gov. Tom McCall Waterfront Park, which benefits the Oregon Special Olympics, will feature a stage and music hospitality center hosted by the Portland Songwriters Association.

Don't miss performances on Friday, Aug. 15, by local artists such as Kristy Hinds and Toni Land (both of whose images have graced the Just Out calendar), Mac Charles and Jesus Presley. On Saturday, Aug. 16, Petty Cash, Theresa Demarest and Good Company, Golden Delicious, Dub Dubrie and Robbie Kaye will take the stage. On
