

Do you have a way with words?
 Would you like to see your name in print? Just Out is looking for experienced writers to take on a variety of assignments, including: news reporting, writing profiles of members of our community, plus entertainment reviews and previews. We are not looking for columnists, but for versatile writers who can write with flair on many subjects. If this sounds like you, contact Publisher Marty Davis at Marty@justout.com or mail your clips to her at PO Box 14400 Portland, OR 97293.

DIVERSIONS

Getting in their faces

On Oct. 7 and 14 the pro-Measure 9 teachers from Cleveland High School plan to offer workshops on deprogramming homosexuals. At the same time the Lesbian Avengers, Radical Cheerleaders and Youth Against 9 will band together to protest the event, which is MAX-accessible. To lend your voice, call the Avengers for details, 503-452-5408. Then on Oct. 11 Youth Against 9 holds an organizational meeting with other youth from gay/straight alliances in the Portland area. For the full scoop call YouthNet at 503-227-1981.

Food for thought

Portland's premier vegan restaurant, Counter Culture, plays host to a No on 9 Wine Maker Dinner with a fall harvest theme from 5 to 10 p.m. Oct. 16 at 3000 N.E. Killingsworth St. The eatery will donate 100 percent of its profits to the campaign, and even the staff is donating its time. The three-course menu will feature complementary Northwest wines; the cost is $35 a person. For details contact 503-249-3799 or www.counter-culture.com.

Singing out for justice

Touchstone Coffee House plays host to a No on 9 Party from 7 to 9 p.m. Oct. 7 at 7631 N.E. Glisan St. The event will feature Kim Reuhl singing her original songs as well as a speaker from Basic Rights Oregon. Call 503-262-7613.

Can you say Ohm?

Flame on every Sunday during Ohm's new Queer Night. On Oct. 15 the $5 cover charges all go to No on 9. There'll be speakers, performers, voter registration and dancing to disks by DJ Tronic from 9 p.m. until 2:30 a.m. You'll find the club at 31 N.W. First Ave.

Now for something laughable

On Oct. 19 the Gay Life Health Network presents Homo-larious, an evening of gay and lesbian comedy starring Jason Stuart, Karen Ripley and Fallen Angel Judith Rizzio. The fun begins 7 p.m. at First Unitarian Church, 1011 S.W. 12th Ave. Tickets are $10 in advance from It's My Pleasure, Balloons on Broadway or Gai-Pied or $15 at the door.

Read all about it

The Quality Paperback Book Club has launched InsightOut Books, an online book club for the sexual minorities community. It's

You, too, can be an Avenger

a handy site for learning the very latest about queer books and authors. The site features reviews and recommendations, author profiles and even online reading groups and organized chats. They also have a nifty section called Publishing Gaydar, which offers insider info on the gay and lesbian publishing community. The current edition has an article about the trendiness of gender and trans issues in publishing. The Web site appears to be well-organized and well-designed to give the book lovers in our community a centralized resource. Bookmark it at www.insightout-books.com.
