"Queers Also Have 2nd Amendment Rights" by Birch Campbell
 What made me pick this photo? Why not one of the great dog shots, many of which caught my eye? I picked this photo because it asks more questions than it answers.

Who is this man? What's with the gun? Is it cold? Is this real? Doesn't he know better than to play with guns?

What if he isn't playing?

Who was the photographer? Why was he there? What were they doing next?

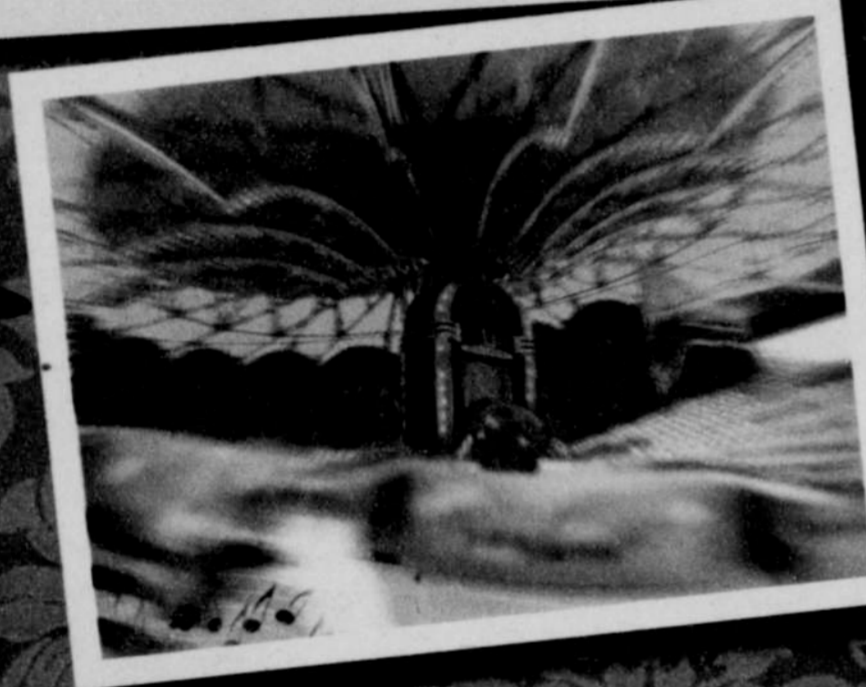

I'd like some answers.

"Untitled" by Robert Richter

What I like most about my selection is that at first glance it may strike the viewer as disorienting. I was immediately drawn to the colors in this image as well as the sense of motion, with the jukebox making itself clearly visible in the center. The intent of the photograph is not immediately apparent but, like a good album, is revealed over time. Rather than a picture of a carnival ride, the composition elevates the image and warrants further contemplation.

Shar-Pei feeling blasé?

Ask your veterinarian about specialty care.

Just like in human health care, you have the option to take your pet to see a specialist when her health issue cannot be completely addressed by your primary care veterinarian. NWVS has been partnering with local, primary care veterinarians since 1991. So, should your pet ever have an unresolved condition, ask your primary care veterinarian about specialty care. Then ask for Northwest Veterinary Specialists.
