

Hotel deLuxe

(729 SW 15th, 503-219-2094)

Pet fee: $45 one-time fee includes bed, bowl, toys and treatsPet extras: Doggie room service menu and list of doggie vendorsPark access: Eight blocks from South Park Blocks and ten blocks from Couch ParkRoom cost: $139-$189

The glamorous, art-deco Hotel deLuxe is big on options. With a doggie room service menu, you can order dinner for your four-legged friend, and book a canine massage, or session with a pet psychic. And a spiritual menu offers you a choice of spiritual texts for your room.

Hotel deLuxe is close to Jeld-Wen Field, but a bit of a trek from a pet-friendly park.

Heathman Hotel

(1001 SW Broadway, 503-241-4100)

Pet fee: $35 per pet, per nightPet extras: Pet-friendly luxury package can be booked for an additional $75 per nightPark access: One block from North Park Blocks, three blocks from Chapman ParkRoom cost: $129-$149

Located around the corner from the trendy Pearl District, the Heathman is a Portland landmark, with great dining, great art and access to a ton of cultural institutions.

The Heathman is known for its "Art of Sleep" mattress menu, which offers guests a choice of therapeutic, pillow-top and feathered options. The hotel does the same for your pet, with its "Bark of Sleep" pet bed menu, included in the "Pet-Friendly" package at an additional $75 per night. Along with the luxury bed, your best friend will receive a goodie bag at check-in, a collapsible water bowl, poop bag dispenser to attach to your pooch's collar, a walking guide and a complimentary veterinary office visit and exam voucher, valid nationwide.

Other FavoritesKennedy School

(5736 NE 33rd, 503-249-3983)

Pet fee: $15 per pet, per night fee includes use of dog bowl and a goodie bagPet extras: NonePark access: Four blocks from Fernhill ParkRoom cost: $125

McMenamins properties offer one of the most unique Portland experiences around. One of my favorite weekend getaways is the Kennedy School. Though not downtown, it's nestled in a charming Portland neighborhood and has many on-site bells and whistles. Whether you're looking to catch a movie in the school's old auditorium or a soak in the outdoor hot pool, Kennedy School has it all, not to mention a restaurant, a brewery and several bars.

The hotel's pet-friendly policy is a new one, and cheaper than many of its downtown counterparts, though less fancy. The property

"I think maybe it's time to go back to the hotel."

MARTY DAVIS

is in close proximity to Fernhill Park, with its off-leash area, making it a great option for dogs who need space to run.

Inn at Cape Kiwanda

(33105 Cape Kiwanda Drive, 888-965-7001)

Pet fee: $20 per pet, per night includes blankets and towels, bowls, treats and a warm-water washPet extras: NonePark access: Across the street from Cape Kiwanda State (beach) ParkRoom cost: $129-$249

One of the Oregon coast's great ocean view properties, the Inn at Cape Kiwanda is a fantastic place for a romantic retreat. The Inn offers romantic packages, and in-suite whirlpool tubs for two.

The property is situated across the street from the beach in Pacific City, and one block from the tasty Pelican Pub and Brewery. A truly pet-friendly hotel, it participates in "Yappy Days," an annual community celebration of pets. ☐
