eral times in his life, and she said he had only known these friends for a month.

"From a mom's point of view, something happened to my kid," she said, "because even when he lived on the streets, he always called me. People said he could have been hippie-napped or fairy-napped. Even if he did get carried off, he would never not call me. This is just a mom's worst nightmare—not knowing. There are just all kinds of things that run through your head."

Moline is thin and tall—6-foot 8-inches—and white with brown hair.

The Clackamas County Sheriff's Office receives about 100 cases a year for search and rescue of people lost, missing or injured in the outdoors.

If you have information that can help in the case to find Moline, contact the tip line at the Clackamas County Sheriff's Office at 503-723-4949 or text your tip to 274637 with the first word of your message being "CCSO."

• In other transition news, the popular Hot Flash dance productions are rebranding themselves as "Inferno Dances: A Hot Flash Production." Per a press release, Hot Flash head honcho Pauline Miriam relates that over the past several years, the name "Hot Flash" has alienated the 30- and 40-something crowd that she wants to attract.

The name "Inferno" is hoped to represent the "hot and sassy attitude" of Hot Flash parties.

• Gevurtz, Menashe, Larson & Howe law firm has welcomed back Mark Johnson Roberts, a pioneering LGBTQ rights attorney who began his career at the firm.

Roberts has been a visible presence on the frontlines of the struggle to bring equality to LGBTQ Oregonians. As a solo practitioner since 1993, Roberts focused on professional ethics, appellate litigation and family law and brings with him decades of experience in appeals, adoption and surrogacy arrangements, and laws regarding same-sex couples and step-families.

• Oregon's Parents, Families and Friends of Lesbians and Gays (PFLAG) has announced a new State Council President/Coordinator in Prineville native Becky Groves. After serving as a board "member-at-large" for just one year for PFLAG Oregon, Groves is moving on from her position as president of PFLAG Central Oregon, located in Bend—a position she's held for the past eight years.

Groves joined PFLAG after her son came out at the age of 18, and has flexed her activist muscle by helping LGBTQ equality legislation move forward in Oregon. In 2007, Groves was invited by Basic Rights Oregon to be the first testimony before the Senate Judiciary Committee on the Oregon Equality Act, which was eventually passed by the House.

• The Imperial Sovereign Rose Court crowned its newest royalty during a coronation ceremony October 15 at the Crown Plaza Hotel in downtown Portland. His Most Imperial Majesty Rose Emperor XXXVIII, The Endearing Athens Scities Foxx, and Her Most Imperial Majesty Rose Empress LIII, The Legendary Monica Boulevard were crowned unopposed. Their reign will last one year.

Despite the lack of other Emperor and Empress candidates, this year's coronation was not without its share of drama. Sources tell Just Out that Rose Empress LII Tsunami Foxx was suspended indefinitely for "inappropriate behavior" just five days before coronation. This decision was implemented following a three-hour meeting attended by the ISRC Board of Directors, titleholders and members of both the Advisory Council of Emperors and the Imperial Council of Empresses.

Both Tsunami Foxx—aka Richard Tuttle—and board president Candi Wrapper—aka John Meadows—did not respond to inquiries about further details as of press time.
