toward marriage equality, building community coalitions, transgender education, mentoring congregations seeking to be inclusive, and providing outreach to those seeking spiritual homes.

There is no admission charge, but donations are strongly encouraged. For more information, visit hillsdaleucc.org.

• The Oregon and Southwest Washington chapter of the Association of Fundraising Professionals will present an installment of Speaker Series Educational Programming Thursday, October 27 from 3 to 5 p.m. at Portland State University.

The seminar, called "Getting Money Out of the Closet: Unique Issues in Raising Funds from Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual and Transgender Donors," will include a close look at LGBTQ philanthropy in a historical context, as well as utilize polling research about gay and lesbian donors. Presenters include Equity Foundation executive director Peter Cunningham, Grassroots Leadership executive director Donna Red Wing, and AFP of Oregon and Southwest Washington president James K. Phelps.

For more information, contact 360-256-5590, or email afp-oregon@comcast.net.

• Philip Iosca's exhibition Hopefully I Become the Universe is on display through Thursday, October 27 at the Pacific Northwest College of Art's Manuel Izquierdo Gallery. Iosca's installation has received due praise as an artistic statement commemorating seven young men from across the United States who between July 9 and September 29, 2010 independently committed suicide as a result of anti-gay bullying.

This exhibit is free and open to the public. Visit cal.pnca.edu/events/288 for more information.

• On Friday, October 28 at noon, Portland orchestral pop conglomerate Pink Martini joins forces with Storm Large for an exclusive performance in solidarity with the Occupy Wall Street movement.

Beginning at noon at Pioneer Courthouse

Square, the "This Land is Our Land" rally will include speakers such as the Rev. Bill Sinkford of the First Unitarian Church of Portland; Congressman Earl Blumenauer; Oregon AFL-CIO President Tom Chamberlain; and Kathleen Saadat, activist and former Affirmative Action Director for Governor Neil Goldschmidt.

This event is free and open to the public.

• The Saratoga Bar (6910 N. Interstate) goes back in time for a Sadie Hawkins Sock Hop fundraiser Friday, November 4.

Starting at 8:30 p.m., twist to the sounds of '50s and '60s pop music—mixed with some modern hits—and help out a great cause while you're at it. A $5-$10 sliding scale admission goes straight to Femme Collective and Butch Voices. A raffle will help the cause, too, and includes prizes items from Hollywood Vintage, It's My Pleasure, Bad Girls PDX, She Bop and more.

The event is for those 21 and older.

For more information, search "Sadie Hawkins Sock Hop" on Facebook.

• Glitterfruit—a new musical variety show in Portland headed by Pants Off Productions' Max Voltage, along with Riley Clara La Rouxe—debuts Saturday, November 5 at In Other Words with "Fruitillion."

As an introduction to this event, Fruitillion is your opportunity to meet and greet with performers, as well as help raise funds for Glitterfruit, and In Other Words.

Admission is on a sliding scale of $5-$10. Doors are at 7 p.m., and the show starts at 7:30. All ages are welcome.

For more information, visit glitterfruitmusic.com.

• Into drum circles but don't have anyone to complete the circle? Consider the Queer Drum Circle, a socializing experience held every second Wednesday of the month at Mt. Tabor Theatre (4811 SE Hawthorne Blvd.) at 7:30 p.m.

The Queer Drum Circle is free, and no experience is necessary. Contact August at bust-edzipper@hotmail.com for more information.
