OUR INVITES

With the number of people getting married remaining essentially flat, some see same-sex couples' wedding festivities as the only way to grow the industry.

Products and services aimed at this demographic are starting to pop up. Wedding Paper Divas, an online destination for all things wedding stationery, has a new same-sex collection.

After months of research on LGBT community e-commerce sites, Wedding Paper Divas' recognized the growing need for more LGBT-focused stationery. They then developed the collection honoring these unions. WeddingPaperDivas.com

COOL CRONKITE

In Doug Brinkly's new best seller Cronkite, Brinkly reveals that an early gay rights activist, who demonstrated on live television while Cronkite was reading the CBS Evenings News in 1973, had a big impact on the iconic journalist. Mark Allan Segal, an unlikely eventual friend of Cronkite's, got his attention when he challenged Cronkite's coverage of a relatively small women's march but failed to cover 50,000 gays marching along the same 5th Avenue in NYC. CBS then started covering gay rights on air.
