ALOHA MEANS LOVE.

Jeana's Hawaiian heritage, the vacation spot where she proposed to Amy, and their eventual beachside wedding venue all came together to inspire a Hawaiian-theme wedding. The day was complete with Hawaiian music and food, leis made with flowers flown in from The Islands, traditional haku leis (headwear), and even sand from a beach frequented by Jeana as a child.

ATTENDANCE: 70 COLORS: Orange, light green and shimmering silver FLOWERS: Amy wore a Christina lei made with purple orchids; Jeana wore a Maile lei with white tuberose. CAKE: 2 kinds of cupcakes (guava and red velvet) MET: In 2009 when Amy joined the Portland Shockwave where Jeana was a member. ENGAGEMENT: Amy to Jeana atop the Rocky Mountains. Jeana to Amy 70 feet below sea level near Jeana's childhood home in Hawaii. FAVORITE PART: Kissing for the first time as a married couple. HONEYMOON: Not yet. After the baby is born. UNIQUE: Rather than tossing flower bouquets at the end of the celebration they tossed official team footballs. DONE DIFFERENTLY: Nothing. LOVE: Amy loves Jeana's caring ways and her dedication to people. Jeana says Amy is a diamond in the rough, loaded with compassion, strength and beauty.
