average super model and there you go). The gay rights movement flowered during the late 60s and 70s when the planets Uranus and Pluto cruised through this sign. Robert Reed, aka Mike Brady on the Brady Bunch, was everybody's favorite dad, and in reality, a big ol' queen.

Air sign Aquarius is a revolutionary and often mistaken for water because of its wet sounding name. Its symbol looks like waves, but on closer examination you get lightning bolts that shock you. Aquarius is fixed air that holds moisture (think clouds) and they rain it down as knowledge (think wireless internet). Aquarius is the sign of friendship, and who could be a better friend than our old pals Ellen DeGeneres and Oprah?

WATER is the giver of life and governs the emotions that seem to well up in us. Water signs are psychic, secretive and tender. They soak up impressions all around them like sponges and if you're feeling low, they sink with you.

Cancer is a maternal water sign. They instinctively remember the concept of god as a great mother, and like Mother Nature, they want to nurture you but can have a nagging way of doing so. Give 'em hugs now and then and remind them how special they are. George Michael is a Cancer who tried to sidestep his sexuality, but like his symbol the crab, he ended up in hot water.

Scorpio is fixed water so be careful when rowing your dingy by their icebergs; there is way more berg below the surface. Scorpions appear cool but deep down is a boiling cauldron of passionate obsession. They have piercing eagle eyes that stare into your soul, yet they remain enigmatic until they have you. Sex is serious business with them so take a life raft. K.D. Lang and Peaches are two Scorpions that get under you skin in good ways.

Give 'em hugs now and then and remind them how special they are.

Watery Pisces have big, beautiful fish eyes. They are chameleons who slip from the crowd and escape through the arts or a bottle of cheap bourbon and a pack of lucky strikes. They're dreamy and mucho understanding, listening to your secrets as you cry on their shoulder. There is a calming influence. Ever notice when you stare at a fish tank that your blood pressure goes down? Wanda Sykes makes you laugh so you forget. $
