J. C. Anyone could tell by looking at you that your folks come from Ireland.
Darcy—My parents did not come from Ireland.
J. C.—Come on, don't fool me, your face shows all your parents came from Ireland.
Darcy: "They did not; they're still there."

Father: "So you borrowed the car last night to take the boys for a spin, eh?"
Tom: "Er—well—"
Father: "That's right—only one of them left his powder puff under the seat."

Dorcas—"I understand you accused me of being dishonest."
Laurence—"I never said anything of the sort. What did you say was that you hadn't helped me look for that dollar I lost the other day, I might have found it."

Irvinda B.—"Aren't you a bit afraid to let your little sister run that sharp hat-pan into her mouth?"
Norma B.—"Oh, she won't hurt it, besides, it's an old rusty one."

"Nothing could be sadder than a man without a country," said Bills in History Class.

"Except a country without a man," sighed Joan.

"I don't want any callers this afternoon," said the business man to his office boy. "If they say their business is important, tell them that's what they all say."

That afternoon a lady called and insisted on seeing him. "I'm his wife," she explained.

"That's what they all say," said the office boy.

The proprietor of the bath house at the beach had a gentle way of breaking bad news. He sent the following letter to the wife of one of his patrons:

"Mrs. Curtis: Your husband's bathing suit was washed out to sea this morning, and it will probably be impossible to recover it.

P. S. "Your husband was inside of it."

Mr. Page (At six o'clock in the morning): "What do you mean bringing my daughter home at this hour, young man?"

Lloyd D.—"Well, sir, you see, I go to work at seven."

The Doctor answered the phone: "Turning to his wife, he said, "Quick, get me my satchel, the man says he cannot live without me."

"Just a minute," said his wife, who had picked up the receiver.

"That call was for Ethel."

A guide showing an old lady over the zoo took her to a cage occupied by a kangaroo, a "Hercules," he said, "we have a native of Australia."

The visitor stared at it in horror. "Good gracious," she said, "and to think my sister married one of them."

Speaker—"What is a home without a mother?"
Everett Yoe—"An incubator."

Wait—"You're a dear sweet girl. God bless you and keep you. I wish I could afford to—"

Editing The Rogue

Getting out a Rogue News is so poetic, if we print jokes, folks say we are silly; if we don't, they say we are too serious. If we publish original stuff they say we lack variety. If we clip from other papers they say we are too lazy to write. If we stay in the office we ought to be cut out hunting up news. If we hunt up news we are not attending to the business in the Rogue office. If we wear old clothes we're brassy; if we wear new ones they are not paid for. Like as not some one will say we swiped this article from another paper. We did.

C. F. G. Stunt Show Is A Great Success

The Camp Fire Girls of Ashland High gave their annual stunt show Friday, April 19, and it was a great success in every way.

Lucille Carlson, business manager, has not cleared up how much of the money affairs but the proceeds will be between $45 and $50. This will go to pay for the summer camp which will be held at Lake of the Woods in August. Several girls made outstanding successes in carrying out their parts. Leona Spady, as "Red Wolf," made a convincing Indian, and Pearl Wright advanced her reputation as a good electric artist—considerably.

Arrilla Harris in her role of "Zekiel Stepintetchit Brown" and the butterfly in the Fairy play did outstanding work.

Several girls from Jasper High helped as fairies in a dance which they had made up themselves.

The following program was presented:

Drill, Creeds and Songs
Talk—Mr. Briccic
Indian Play—"Chief-Head-In-The-Clouds"
Piano Solo—Louise Anderson
Folk Dance, Country Fair, Violin Solo—Eileen Goley
Fairy Play—"A Garden Cinderella."

The Citizens Bank of Ashland

"Thank-You-Marmas!"
An older generation coined that expression to describe the bumps on the road which modern road engineers have eliminated. "Thank-You-Marmas!" on Life's Highway can't be so easily removed. However, thrill and a healthy bank balance form an effective shock absorber when you are obliged to ride over financial bumps.
