Thanks To Business Men

The students and faculty of the high school wish to thank the business men and citizens of Ashland who, by their help, have made it possible to put out an annual. Owing to the smallness of the school it is quite often necessary to call on business men for help, and as yet they have never refused their services. Again the students wish to extend their appreciation for the cooperation of the people of the town.

Seniors Say 'Adios' To A. H. S.

Well, the Seniors are gone—least of all the ones. This and fall has been impending, throughout the whole year, but last week the realization that their last school days were numbered came forcibly to the Majestic Senior class.

When the last two periods were ended, they all cried (with grief, of course) to think that they would never take another one.

On Black Day, they tried to hide their grief; and yet more or less, but alas! It could not be done (I mean they couldn't hide their grief very well, although they seemed to be able to act cheerful enough).

As seniors, we extend to them our sympathy and understanding in their immense grief.

Still, they have a pretty soft side. They are given the next week by two "softs"—fun and frolic while we stay here and "Keep the Home Fires Burning." Perhaps, after all, we had better remember the place.

We cannot refrain from congratulating the Junior high school students on their success at the recent track meet. We are proud of them and are glad that some day they will be high school students, too. They certainly deserve credit for their work, which bespeaks much practice and hard training. Keep up the good work!

Congratulations are most certainly due our directors for the successful operetta, and plays which have been given during the past year. Theirs articularly, these records do not begin in college. They originate in the grade schools and high school. It is our duty to uphold the reputation Ashland high school has and to extend it as the school grows.

New roads for scholastic activities have been opened by the oratory contests, which were held for the first time this year. Then, of course, there are the glee clubs, choral and debate fields, which are always enthusiastically endorsed by the students.

Aside from the value to the school, self benefit from these activities should be considered. The knowledge, poise and experience gained from them are invaluable, as well as the materialistic rewards that some of these contests offer to individuals.

Let's think about these things, talk with our teachers about them, and work on the fields which we choose, over the summer.
