GRIZZLIES BEGIN SEASON WITH BANG

TWENTY-THREE VOLUNTEERS TURN UP FOR FIRST FALL PRACTICE

MATERIAL PROMISING

Seven Lettermen and Others of One Year's Training Compose Team.

The Grizzlies opened the football season with their first practice September 9. Twenty-three were responding to Coach Blies' call for volunteers to don the mud-covered uniforms of these last year's lettermen, and a few of the others have had a year's experience.

The boys have been working hard and give considerable promise. The men are all small, with the exception of Howell, whose six-foot-four stands out among the others like a giant among a group of pikemen. But what they lack in size most of them make up in speed and fight, and it's fight that wins ball-games, fight, speed, and brains. Most of the boys, however, lack experience in actual games. This is what has our Grizzly泰™ Team so worried. He has used Northern California to gain this experience and the boys are showing up well on their field of their own.

The backfield is fairly well

SCHOOL SONGSTERS BEGIN PRACTICE

Approximately thirty-five students have tried out for the boys' and girls' glee clubs in the last two weeks. Although Miss Killgore has not yet chosen the final members for the two clubs, practice has been started on the work for the coming year.

In addition to the two glee clubs, Miss Killgore expects to have a new chorus and perhaps a sextet or octet. Plans for the numbers to be used this year and the public appearance to be made are not yet complete.

Miss Killgore urges all students interested in the glee clubs to see her at once.

"I would like to have a large enough group of students try out in order that I might choose from a list twenty-five voices for the girls' club and sixteen for the boys," she states.

Beverly Young Daring Heroine

Jimmy Hall To Fall For Pretty French Polly With Dark Past.

Beverly Young and James Hall have been chosen for the leading parts in the Annual play, "Polly With a Past," which Miss Hodges plans to produce in November.

Beverly Young plays the part of Polly-with a French accent and is the lure or bait offered to James Hall, as Rex Van Zillion, to help him make up "her" mind. LaVerne Ramsey plays Myrtle, the strong-minded young lady with the errant fancies—the third angle—angels—almost.

Supporting the leads are Harold Gillmore and Wendell Ringer as Harry Richardson and Clay Collins respectively.

LIBRARY SCENE IS SEEN

No longer can pencil students recline in the big library window and listen to the birds and bees or watch the classes in the opposite room. Gone are the days of sitting right on a side of a small table so that writing was a sort of choice motion. The old library that students of Ashland High have known and loved for years has gone the length of most all libraries that have done their duty. It has been outgrown.

We have a new library. The windows are much too high to be used as seats, but aren't needed for that purpose. There is plenty of space for sufficient tables and chairs for a large number of students. The librarian does not have to act as a traffic-cop to regulate the traffic between the shelves and the tables. There are excellent reading spaces now. Industrial students can spread their elbows 'way out without linking them with their neighbors. There is plenty of light on the subject, either from the big windows or the big overhead lights.

The new shelves are shelves and shelves. When a book is withdrawn and returned, the operation does not call for the use of a carton or a shoe horn. The books are away from the here-to-there inevitable buzz of the noisy hall and the slam of the heavy doors—at least we think they are. Since the new library is located downstairs, peace and quiet, the desire of every self-respecting Library are now at hand

LAW AND ORDER AIM

Miss Thompson Hopes To Further the Organization of Ashland High School Students

Thirty high school boys under the direction of Matt Thompson, have formed a boys' organization called the Court of Discipline. Clyde Dunham is president of the group and Le Roy Jendruck secretary.

Matt Thompson, in a recent interview, said, "We are doing our best to get the youth of Ashland organized, feeling that a systematic campaign to enlist the help of the young people will further greatly our Y. M. C. A. activities. The boys have done nicely in soliciting and preparing for this distribution. Here in the building, we have sixty boxes of pears which we plan to can and distribute this winter. I am in the superintendency of this project and expect to see it to the work of the boys themselves, and we expect to accomplish a lot.

This group will act as a junior service organization to promote clean, wholesome sport, to act as a law and order observing body.

New members will be welcomed to this society which makes the Y. M. C. A. building its headquarters.

The next meetings, so far have served to start a thorough program for the coming year.

IMPROVEMENTS

GREAT STUDENTS

A new library nearly three times as large as before—near, a study room, a physics, and a history room are the major improvements of the building.

The upper part of the building has been so obviously changed. The old library was transformed into a book room. In Room 4 a new stairway is utilized, which leads to the new rooms.

The history room has now the added comfort of seats placed in the same manner as the seats in the Chemistry room, the only noticeable feature being the necessity of typing papers walking through the line on the way to the typing room. The new library has sufficient seating capacity for those who go there to study.

The girls' and the boys' rooms are also downstairs.
