

ASHLAND RANKS HIGH IN SCORING DEBATE POINTS

A. H. S. VARSITY DEBATES
TAKE THREE OF FOUR IN CONFERENCE.

PROF. CASTELL JUDGE

Team Wins Two Decisions From Grants Pass Squad—One
From Medford.

Ashland won three out of the four debates with Medford and Grants Pass.

The first victory was taken at Medford Tuesday evening, when Ashland's affirmative, Both Joy and Preston Becot, met Medford's negative, Max Carter and George Bennett. A large audience of Medford and Ashland people heard the debate. It was held in the auditorium of Medford's new high school building.

Wednesday afternoon George Smith and Rachel Forsythe, upholding the negative, defeated the Grants Pass affirmative. The

TAKE ANESTHETIC FOR CARD 'BLUES'

Only five minutes now, says the clock, and yet so short a time ago it was five weeks! Where could they have gone?

Four minutes. That first week now, wasn't so bad. One always has a lot of good resolutions at the beginning of a term. But—three minutes—who wants to lug a pile of books home every night? Other things are a lot more fun—Two minutes—And who wants to study at noons when everyone else is out in the hall doing something interesting?—One minute—What's the use of living if you can't enjoy life. And, anyhow—oh, the first bell—some people are just born smart—and others aren't. And this last week has been just terrible—oh, dear, there goes the second bell—with teachers reminding you on every turn that this is the end of the month. Someone ought to invent an anesthetic for taking report cards. Here come the teachers—and they have 'em! The person that discovers that anesthetic will make a fortune—he'll deserve it.

Year Book Plans Again Discussed

Students Cooperation Needed
Before Annual Will Be Certainty.

If there is the needed cooperation on the part of the student body, the Rogue Annual will publish an edition this year, contrary to rumors, being devoted to the Seniors and the most outstanding school activities.

It will probably be printed by the Ashland Tidings, who, it is expected, will meet competition. The total cost will be, approximately $250. The Senior class play proceeds will contribute to this, if this year's Seniors follow the time-honored custom as well as the sales and the Student Body Fund. The staff contemplates including individual Senior pictures and group pictures of the Juniors and Sophomores.

Jimmy Hall, the former Rogue Annual editor, has left school, thus leaving the editorship open. This office will be filled by the vote of the Executive Committee, according to the A. S. R. constitution.

Mr. Forsythe states that the money must be raised before the actual work on the book is begun.

Containing approximately 50 pages, this annual will be sold for much less than a dollar. Further development is expected in two or three weeks.

Plans Completed For Hobby Show

All those who wish to make an entry in the Hobby Show, which is to be held Saturday, March 19, are urged to register their intentions as soon as possible. Entry blanks may be obtained from any member of the committee in charge.

Individuals or groups may enter. Classification will be made according to kind, and a certificate or a ribbon will be awarded to the highest three in each class.

The following are collecting the exhibits: Lorraine Smith, sports and mechanical projects; Alberta Thomas, art and photography; Etta Grac, literature.

Pent House Idea To Be Prom Motif

Annual Junior-Senior Frolic To Be At Lithia Hotel
In April.

The Junior Prom, the Juniors tell us, is to have as its motif the "pent house idea." The place will be the Lithia Springs hotel; the time, sometime in April; the guests, our own Seniors, the members of the School board, and a number of parents serving as patrons and patronesses; and the hosts, the Junior class. The affair is formal.

Now, gentle reader, a pent house is one of those swanky "bungalows" built on the top-most roof of a sky-scraper, commanding the convenience of the shopping district, a certain privacy, and a view of the city and the sky.

"The hotel management has been very obliging, said Beverly Young, the general Chairman. They are letting us use the spacious room, formerly the dining room, for games and forms of recreation other than dancing. Dancing will, of course, take place in the ballroom on the second floor."

A number of surprises which the Juniors are whispering about are to be withheld from the publication.

Seniors To Pick Class Play Soon

"Morton of the Movies," "Lilies of the Field," "Call of the Banishes," "The Charm School"—one of these will soon be the talk of the town. It will be presented sometime in May as the Senior Class play.

Morton wanted to be a tragedian in the movies but succeeds in being so funny that he is hailed as a successful comedian.

"Lilies of the Field" is about two girls, one, sweet, old-fashioned simplicity, the other, flaming youth.

"The Call of the Banishes" is a mystery play. No more is being told about it.

"The Charm School" is a school for girls which a young man inherits. He decides to teach in it himself, and thereby hangs the tale.

Miss Hedges, who will coach the play, has sent for these four. She will choose the two that are the best suited to the talents of the class and the stars themselves of the school. The final choice will be made by a committee from the Senior Class.

GRIZZLIES CLAW TIGERS TONIGHT ON LOCAL FLOOR

SPOILS OF BIG TRADITIONAL CONFLICT INCLUDES CUP AND TRIP.

MEDFORD MUST FALL

Fight, Accuracy and Steadiness
—Teamwork is Improving
—Technique Shows.

The battle of the centuries is slated for tonight, February 26, when the Lithian Grizzlies expect to trample their traditional and ever-confidant foe, the Tigers, on Ashland's Maple court.

These Medford-Ashland tilts are the climax of the season for both schools. Though the boys from Ashland work for victory in other games of the season, the motto of the squad is "BEAT MEDFORD."

The Medford tiger is confident of an easy victory, but the Lithians are out to twist kitty's tail.

The Lithians' season has been but moderately successful. Northern California teams fell be-

BOYS PROBE IN ELECTROPLATING

Around a table in the Physics Laboratory is gathered a group of boys learning the interesting facts of electroplating.

Carlock Johnson holds two electric wires. At the end of one is a penny, and at the end of the other a nickel—these belonging respectively to Clyde Dunham and Henry Parks.

As the electricity is turned on and the coins are submerged in a sulphuric acid solution, bubbles float from the coins to the surface. The owners of the coins get nervous because—well, get yourself in their places and picture what might happen to money fastened to an electric wire (with Carlock Johnson fastened to the other end.) Upon bringing the coins to the surface, we discover that the nickel is a bright copper color. However, it is as good as new after being washed in HNO<sub>3</sub> (Nitric acid).
