

Lithia Theater and Rogue News Announce Plan

the Christmas edition of the Rogue News, is an experiment for this edition. If it is successful in creating better circulation and better advertising, it will be done for later numbers.

In the back page of the paper is a large advertisement for the Lithia Theater. It contains the list of coming attractions and an announcement by the manager relative to the operation of the theater.

Elsewhere in the paper are advertisements of other local concerns relative to Christmas stock.

IS MY FACE RED?

Songs and Recollections

"Can't We Talk It Over?" — teacher and student.

"Pink Elephants" — those coming two-periods.

"I'll Be Glad When You're Dead, You Rascal, You" — Miss Lockhart speaking of yo-yo craze.

"My Silent Love" — Betty Dean speaking of Bernard Applegate.

"Love, You Funny Thing" — Frances Maguin and Harvey Gearhart.

"One Hour With You" — Mr. Forsythe to Jack Enders.

Jack Enders: "I know a joke about crude oil."

Pearl Arrant: "Spring it."

Jack: "It's not refined."

1888—CHRISTMAS—1932

I guess you've heard the story There were apples, nuts, and popcorn.

Your parents often tell And those great big candy canes

About THEIR Christmas dinners And Mom made a Christmas pudding and That good old Cedar smell. And took the greatest pains.

And say — about those sleigh rides To see the tree all lighted and so

Through the frosty air. Presents take ablaze

Wreaths, and cones, and candles And Mom and Dad and Grandpa says,

Mistletoe everywhere. "Those were the good old days."

And — at night when after they'd I s'pose those days were kept

Gone off to bed best of all

Then Mom and Dad would trim To Mother and to Dad

the But after all I'll bet this Christmas

Tree in tinsel and in red. Will make them just as glad.

Then Molly helped Mom make the candy

And ate so much that she got sick. The senior sis and dreams all day

Or when Willy wanted white meat. Of what next year he'll do;

But didn't get his pick. But if he doesn't wake up soon, He'll sit there next year, too.

THE HISTORY CLASSES have created a new idea for arousing more interest in current events. It is like this — they have secured a map which is in the library. When someone makes a report on a current event, the topic is cut out and put on the board next to the map. From this account a string is fastened to the place where the happening occurred. This has not only proved educational to the students but also has stimulated interest in reading current events.

OPEN HOUSE, sponsored December 1 by the P. T. A. and the Girls' League, was a success. This is the fourth annual event of this kind to be held in the local high school, and every year more people are becoming acquainted with our schedules and progress.

MRS. GRAHAM has added a new type of monthly magazine to the library. It contains three biographical sketches of nationally known authors each month. These biographies will be kept on file to make a complete collection of the lives of living authors.

MISS KILGORE announced that the Music Festival numbers for the Girls' Glee club have been chosen. Practice will start immediately on the work, as the Ashland girls have several pieces to sing alone this year.

A STAMP BOX has been placed in the library by Mrs. Graham for the use of stamp collectors. The letters and stamps that come for the school sometimes have foreign stamps on them which she puts in this box. The collectors have the privilege of taking any of these stamps that they need.
