A Year 'Round Job

Tomorrow Thanksgiving will be here and Americans will be dashing over the river and through the woods to a nice big house equipped with everything imaginable.

All will be sitting down with a long appetite at a long table where a long turkey will have been placed. What a great day it will be with the family and an abundance of food and a fine house.

Yes, Thanksgiving is a time of plenty, and it is the day set aside to stop and give thanks for many good fortunes — the day to "count blessings."

But, instead of thanking, perhaps we should be asking for a few things. Perhaps we should ask for such things as wisdom to recognize our advantages and be grateful for them; for thoughtfulness for others and their privileges. Perhaps we should ask for help in appreciating our good fortunes and being sincerely thankful for what we have, as well as help in making the most of what we have.

What a pity that the art of saying thanks has come to be such a minor thing and that we set aside only one day in which to do it. What a profitable thing it would be to the human character if Thanksgiving could be only the beginning of gratitude and that practicing thankfulness could be made an every day project.

Loud Rings the Praise

Football season is over. New names are on the trophies in the hall. New letters are worn proudly on the jackets.

The seniors watched the season end sadly — to them go our praise. For the juniors and the sophomores and freshmen, there is the promise of another year, other victories; but the seniors have put away their uniforms for the last time.

What is a letter besides an A-shaped emblem? Why is it worn so proudly? Is it because it stands for Ashland High? Is it because it symbolizes the glory of the football team?

It is all that and more. It's just a little piece of felt, but it shows that the one who wears it has learned to give his all, win or lose. It shows that he has learned to work as a part of a team, to drive toward a goal. It is his visible proof that he has gained the worthy virtue of sportsmanship, and that he is now less a boy than a man.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

I have received a letter from a Coos Bay hotel that I feel is worthy of print in the Rogue News. I have a feeling of pride when I receive nice compliments about our students.

Prin. Roland L. Parks

Dear Mr. Parks,

I wish to take this opportunity to thank you and your football team for stopping with us last Saturday night.

Certainly wish to congratulate Ashland High on the fine group of young men that they send out to represent their school in sports. The young men you had with you are the type of young men that are going to make good citizens of tomorrow and run this great country of ours.

Their wonderful behavior here reflects good home environment and good training in school. I know you must be very proud of your students. I certainly hope each one of you return to visit us again.

It was a pleasure to have had the opportunity to meet Mr. Allison, the other two gentlemen and you.

With best regards, we are, Yours very truly,

Mystery Miss

Occupying locker number 70 you will find a cute sophomore girl. She is 5' 6" tall and has blond hair and blue eyes.

She likes to watch and participate in all sports. She also states that she loves to dance.

Two of her many pals and friends are Kathleen Doddridge and Donna Bibeau.

Read the advertisements in this issue to identify the mystery gal for this month.

Airmen have found eagles at 9750 feet above the earth.

The wingspread of the adult eagle is seven or eight feet.

A Word About...

Freshman Assembly... Carrying out the Halloween theme the Freshman class staged an assembly, Friday, October 29, 1954. Highlighting the assembly were several acts including Jeanette Poston performing a dance straight from Eudora Rex Clark, singing "Make Love to Me," Lillian Lee playing "In The Mood" on her accordion, Barbara Graber, tap dancing; and several impersonations...

Senior Tests... Tuesday and Wednesday, October 26 and 27 were hectic days for the teachers of senior students. Students came and went from classes legitimately to take aptitude tests.

P.T.A. Membership Drive... Mrs. Iona Taylor's junior homeroom won the P.T.A. Membership Drive with 29 points. This is the first time Mr. Park's homeroom has been beaten.

Music Assembly... The gymnasium was the scene of a music festival Wednesday, October 27, 1954, put on by the orchestra and chorus. The chorus sang, "Just Another Polka," "I See The Moon," "Sea's Benediction," and "Mood Indigo." Students listened to the orchestra play such David Rose-type music as "Plink, Plink, Plink."

Folger's coffee bands... Miss Jones, the homemaking teacher, is making an all-out plea for Folger's coffee bands. It is for a coffee maker which the Folger's Coffee Company is giving away for 750 bands...
