

Typical Day In Biology Classes

"All right, we have to get busy because today I'm going to give a lecture on the heart and circulation," said Mr. Johnson to his fourth period biology class. The day of the lecture was April 19.

Instead of having their minds on the lecture, most of the students were more interested in observing a little bird that had been brought inside half-frozen.

"Mr. Johnson! Mr. Johnson!" exclaimed Lynne Jameson. "What's the matter with the poor thing? It's legs are twitching and everything."

"Oh, I guess it's dying or something," replied Crystal Ruth nonchalantly. Further discussion was interrupted by the tardy bell and the students scurried to their seats before Mr. Johnson could mark them tardy.

When Mr. Johnson left the room for a minute, the girls hurried back to the bird's cage to see if the bird was still alive. Yes, the bird was still twitching.

When Mr. Johnson returned, the lecture began. The sophomores learned several interesting facts. For instance, there is a dog running around somewhere in the United States that has a plastic heart and there are several people in the U.S. that have only

Honor Society Elects Officers

National Honor Society, Ashland Senior High, Alpha chapter, has elected the following officers for 1962-63:

President, Jim Lamb; vice-president, Tod Hess; secretary, Betty Martin; and treasurer, Jane Hennick.

Retiring officers are, president, Ken Stevenson; vice-president, Karen Hinrichs; secretary, Peggy Parsons; and treasurer, Joy Hinkson.

one lung. And did you know that if one of your arteries was cut, your blood would spurt out eight to ten feet? This is all very interesting, but what has it got to do with the human heart and circulation?

After digesting such terms as trienspid, auricular - ventricular, and inferior vena cava vein, the students saw a pickled beef heart. That is, some of the students saw the heart. A few of the girls refused to look at it. After all, they had just eaten lunch.

Finally the bell rang. Thank goodness, the periods were shortened today!

STUDENTS PARTICIPATE IN YOUTH GOVERNMENT

Seventeen students from Ashland High School participated in a youth government day on May 1, 1962. Each one filed a city post for several hours.

James Lamb served as mayor, and members of the city council were Claudia Everett, Tod Hess, Betty Martin, Terry McKinis, Craig Pennington, and Bill Telford.

Other city posts were held by Jane Hennick, water superintendent; Chuck Hillestad, city attorney; Carol Ann James, sanitary superintendent; Howard Johnson, street superintendent; Nancy Latimer, city recorder; Rick Pierce, city superintendent; James S. Smith, chief of police; Steve Watts, park superintendent; Ron Whillock, fire chief; and Dorce Woodell, city judge.

Beginning the day at 8 a.m., the group attended a general meeting in the city council chambers. Then each worked with his counterpart until 11:30 a.m., when everyone attended a banquet which was held at the Elks lodge.

School Tries New Lunches

As an experiment, a new program has been started in which a la carte lunches are being served in the cafeteria.

Until now, class A lunches, prepared at Lincoln Jr. High, have been served at the high school. Class A lunches are meals with certain amounts of food, partly provided by a government subsidy, planned to give each student a balanced diet.

Because students have not approved of the old system, the administration plans to try the new way until school is out. If the plan is thought to be satisfactory, the program will be continued next year.

The new menu consists of:

Hamburger	25c
Chile	25c
Milkshake	25c
Coke	10c
Cheese Sandwich	20c
Tuna Sandwich	20c
Soup	15c
Milk	7c
