

Julia Knies, a member of the art class, is shown making "God's Eyes" which can be seen around the school.

Paperbacks New Addition to Library

Have you been in the school library lately? A new collection of books is on sale and Mr. Green, librarian, has suggested that the books would make wonderful Christmas presents.

Of Men and Numbers, Main Stream of Mathematics and Fun With Mathematics are books that would be of interest to math students. All the "hip cats" who read will dig Hot Rod and Street Rod by Henry Gregor Felsen. Anyone interested in the Civil War may be thrilled by the books Andersonville and A Short History of the Civil War.

Novel fans are in luck. The shelves are loaded with great novels. The Bridge over the River Kwai, The Big Fisherman, A Bell for Adano, Green Mansions, Along the Way, To Kill a Mockingbird, Of Mice and Men, Count of Monte Cristo, The House of Seven Gables, Show Boat, Madame Bovary, The Bounty, Hawaii, and many others by famous writers.

Many old favorites such as Goodbye Mr. Chips, Huckleberry Finn, Alice in Wonderland, The Incredible Journey, Moby Dick, Treasure Island, and 20,000 Leagues Under the Sea are available.

In the biography section books may be found such people as Thomas Paine, John F. Kennedy, Robert Kennedy, Princess Margaret, the Birdman of Alcatraz, Dr. Tom Dooley, Abraham Lincoln, and William Shakespeare.

There are a few books on communism, too. Cold War, Animal Farm, and A Nation of Sheep are three of them.

Elks' Give Awards

Winners have been announced for the Elks Youth Leadership Contest. Jane Hennick won first place for girls division and Claudia Everett and Carol Bjork took second and third in that order.

First place in the boys division was a tie between Mike Cotton and Craig Pennington. Tod Hess holds third.

Jane, Mike and Craig as first place winners have the chance to submit application to the state contest.

Art Service Corps Spreads Christmas Cheer in AHS

Ashland High School's art department, under the direction of Mrs. Trout, has been preparing for the Yuletide season. The art classes have been very busy finishing projects and beginning others, while at the same time trying to give Ashland High a Christmas-like atmosphere.

The newly formed Art Service Corps is responsible for the decorations on the bulletin boards in the hall, in the office and in the conference room. This group has also erected the glittering Christmas tree in the library as well as the God's eyes in the windows which were made by the Art I class. God's eyes or los ojos de Dios are beautiful Mexican-Indian designs which symbolize God's eye watching over the home.

The Art Service Corps is composed not only of people with artistic talent but those who are interested in working with others.

This club is a service organization whose primary objective is to improve the school's appearance through increased quantity and quality of advertising, posters, and displays.

CONTRIBUTIONS WANTED

Take a long, serious look at yourself—Can you write a poem, a short story, or draw a picture? This is the question that the English department, and members of Quill and Scroll will be asking all members of the student body.

It is the aim of the sponsors to have the best Literary Review possible. It will be highly appreciated if all students will take an active part in this project.

In case some students do not know what the Literary Review is, it is a collection of original poems, short stories, or even pictures published by Quill and Scroll. All entries will be given consideration and those included will be chosen by a committee from the English Department and Quill and Scroll Club.
