

Twenty Students Chosen For Humanities Seminar

"Choosing this year's Seminar participants was just about the hardest job of my life," said Mrs. Margaret Zwick, dean of girls, in reference to selecting the twenty students to participate in the Humanities Seminar, a group of students which meets twice a month to discuss books and ideas concerning the humanities.

Those students who applied for the group were required to write a composition concerning Emerson's quotation "God offers to everyone his choice between truth and repose. Take which you please—you can never have both." Each applicant was told to use a good book he had read and to show how the author had developed the theme expressed in the quotation.

ATTENTION - SENIORS

Seniors will soon be contacted by the deans to start on College Board exams. The dates of the exams are December 7, 1963; January 11, 1964; March 7, 1964; May 2, 1964; July 8, 1964.

A representative from the State Labor Office will be here to administer tests the first week in October. These tests will be for seniors not planning on post high school schooling.

Seniors Ahead in SSS Competition

Promoting school spirit, scholarship, and sportsmanship through friendly class competition is the main purpose of the SSS committee at Ashland High School. This committee, composed of Nancy Dayton, chairman, Jan Hassell, senior representative, Dave White, junior representative, and Bernard Hamm, sophomore representative, judges class projects and class participation in school events. The committee members award points for these activities as well as for game attendance, competition yells, and the percentage of the class which makes the Honor Roll.

On the basis of the first home game on Sept. 13, the senior have 7 points, the sophomores are second with 6 points, and the juniors have 6.

The SSS committee meets every Tuesday in the study hall at 3:30. Any student who wishes to observe this committee in action is welcome to attend a meeting from 3:30 until 3:55.

Superintendent Addresses Ashland High Students

I am happy to welcome back to Ashland High all students for a new year. I especially want to welcome new students. I am sure you will find the young men and women at Ashland High School friendly and helpful, and good citizens in the school and in the community.

The great majority of our students recognize the need for a good basic education. They realize, as do their parents, that a good basic education is an absolute "must" in today's world. AHS has a tradition of good scholarship, and I know the young people attending AHS will improve on this great tradition.

Your principal, teachers, and I are very interested in helping you to become outstanding citizens and to be the good leaders and followers of our society in the very near future. Our hope for a good government and a good society of democratic people must be carried on and strengthened. Therefore, we look to our youngest men and women — you in Ashland High — to do this. We are fond of you because the great leaders of tomorrow will come from your age group. Because of this, your education becomes extremely important not only to you as an individual but to the welfare of our country.

Welcome back to Ashland High and make full use of its offerings.

STANLEY C. JOBE
Superintendent.

Ashland High Welcomes AFS Exchange Student

This year, as in the past, Ashland High is participating in the American Field Service Student Program. This year Chris Holberg is our exchange student from Germany. She is living with the Herbert Cecil family.

Chris' native country is Germany where she lived with her father, a minister in the Lutheran Church, her mother, a brother, and a sister. Another brother, Peter, is a businessman in Cincinnati where he has lived for two years. Another sister is married and has a son.

Chris took a train from her home in the suburbs of Hamburg to the all-girl school she attended. There she studied Greek, Latin, English, literature, world history, mathematics (including chemistry and physics), art, music, biology, sports, and natural science. Because of the large number of classes her school system is different than ours.

Chris also stated her surprise at all the girls wearing lipstick and the boys driving cars. In Germany the girls seldom wear lipstick and the boys have to be eighteen before they can get a drivers licence.

Chris is sure she'll enjoy her stay in America.

Eight New Students Join Rogue News

In addition to two old-timers, there are eight new students on the Rogue News staff. Penny Clements, advertising manager and Kathy Tilford, editor-in-chief, are the students who have had previous experience on the paper.

Mary Brostad, senior, is the exchange editor and also has charge of the book review column. Another senior, Linda Leigh, is the business manager; Billie Bowen, senior, condenses the club news and edits the club column. Three juniors and one sophomore on the staff each hold an editorial position: John Kaegi is the assistant editor, Donna Allen is the assignment editor, Donna Copeland is the fashion editor, and Dave White is the sports editor. The other junior, John Purves, holds the position of reporter.

Two senior boys not enrolled in Journalism also contribute to the Rogue News. Terry Skibby, the yearbook photographer, is also the photographer for the newspaper. Gerald Walker writes the car column.

Mrs. Selma McAlaster is the faculty advisor.

Pom Pon Girls To Debut Oct. 18

Pom Pon Girls will add color to Ashland High's half times this year. This new organization for girls is under the supervision of Miss Laney. They will be doing dance and pom pom routines for the rest of the football and all of the basketball seasons.

This new club has a membership of forty girls who have all met the standards set down by the Pep Club constitution. Each girl must have average or above grades, have been approved by the school faculty, and she must have a good sense of rhythm.

Bright red corduroy skirts and crisp white collarless blouses will be worn by the club along with red and white pom poms, white gloves and tennis shoes.

Once each week after school the girls have been practicing their routines, preparing themselves for their home-coming debut on October 18. The routines which will be used for basketball will be done to such popular records as "Baby Elephant Walk", "Wipe Out", and "Shout Shout".
