Chorus, Orchestra Present Concert

Directed by Mr. Bernard Windt, Ashland High School's combined chorus and orchestra performed their annual spring concert, which was attended by over 150 people. By far the best performance staged this year, the songs and orchestra numbers were done beautifully to make a nice flowing program.

Leading off the program was a piano solo by Miss Billie Wurlington Keane of the Southern Oregon College music department. Miss Keane, in playing, dedicated the school's new baby grand piano purchased with funds from last year's school talent show.

Performed by the orchestra were Pique Dame, Where Is Your Heart, Tango Lullaby, and from the Mississippi Suite, Father of Waters, Huckleberry Finn, Old Creole Days, and Mardi Gras.

The chorus started off their portion of the program with several Negro Spirituals, including Old Ark's A'Moverin', Lord, Lord, and Were You There?, which had solo parts by Alex Lacey and Pam Lewis. In the serious part of their performance, the chorus sang Good Night My Someone (from Music Man), Be Merciful Unto Me O God, Sing Ye In Joy, List the Cherubic Host (from The Holy City), and as a final selection, Praise Ye The Lord with orchestra accompaniment.

Art Students Exhibit Work

Ashland High is being represented by six AHS students in the Invitational Exhibit of Southern Oregon School Art at SOC. The exhibit is on display in the Britt art gallery.

Representing AHS in the three dimensional art division is a soap carving by Sami Everett, a plaster sculpture called Soccer Players made by Dick Knies, and clay modeling entered by Verne Ingie.

In the flatwork division, Sami Everett, Rhea Lisoubee, Margy Rucker, and Craig Kirby have entered paintings. Their work will be on display with the work of other high school students from Southern Oregon, and will be in the SOC art gallery during the month of April.

A reception in honor of the participating students will be held on the afternoon of April 24 in the gallery.

Club Capers

SPANISH CLUB

At their last meeting, Spanish Club members enjoyed slides of Costa Rica; sent to them by Costa Rican teachers. They also discussed plans for a taco dinner.

FRENCH CLUB

The French Club is in the process of ordering club pins. The pins are very attractive, with the inscription "Cercle Francais" written on them. They also have a guard with the year of graduation on them.

INTER-CLUB COUNCIL

The council sponsored a cupcake sale during the middle of this past week. They approved the Art Service Corps constitution at the last meeting and made plans for a car wash.

Congratulations to Mary Hays, a Newburg High junior who "tried for her license and received it." Mary "has difficulty telling right from left. She knows the difference but has to think for a minute to get it straight." So she "told the examiner not to say right or left, but port or starboard. Since she knows these perfectly, she passed with flying colors!" Didn't Mary have a smart solution?

Have you ever asked yourself, "Is American food really American?" The Redlands High paper wrote an interesting article on that question:

"American teenagers consume more hamburgers, french fries, pizza, and other foods that are thought to be all-American than any other teenagers in the world. But are hamburgers and milk shakes strictly American? Is it true that these foods are not found outside the borders of America? Let us analyze the situation. Milkshakes and hamburgers originated in Hamburg, Germany, and are prevalent all over Europe and Scandinavia. Pizza originated in Italy, not France. So, is our food really American?"

The Beatles seem to be popular in the United States, but are they in England? Reading through the Madison High paper, I found out that they don't seem to be. "From London comes a complaint that dinner guests found themselves insulted by a vocal group calling themselves the Beatles. It seems that the darling four were asked to sing at the party and dedicated a number to their elderly hostess. The song opened with the line, 'She's a fat old hag, yeah, yeah, yeah.' This will probably end any hope the boys had at becoming world diplomats, representing their country."

From Portland Madison High came the news of "this year Madison's home economics department has instituted six co-educational classes." In the matter of facts, Madison is one of the few high schools in Oregon to offer this course in its curriculum. The program has five basic areas of study: relationships and personality development; meal planning and preparation; money management, family finance and housing; child care and develop-

Election Time Draws Near

Election time is in the air. April 30 is the voting date for the election of the student body officers and yell leaders.

Petitions may be picked up at the office on April 16. Candidates must have a 2.5 grade average in order to run for office and then obtain approximately 50 signatures or 7% of the registered student body. Completed petitions are to be turned into the office on or before April 22.

The student body offices include president, a senator, first vice-president, a senior, second vice-president, a junior, and yell queen, a senior. Eight yell leaders will be chosen from the junior and senior classes.

Campaigning may start April 23 after school. Those wishing to run for an office may put up their signs after 3:30 p.m. on that date. Each candidate is allowed to put up four posters the size of construction paper and one large poster, no limit in size, in the study hall. No student is to spend over $5 on his campaign materials.

Campaign speeches will be given during an assembly on April 29. The results of the voting on April 30 will be announced at a dance that night.

ment; and clothing and grooming. From the number of 552 students, 87 of whom are boys, enrolled this year in the home economics department.

Lincoln High faculty puts a new system of festival princess selection which seems to be more logical. Senior girls will be screened for beauty, poise and speaking ability. School officials will be given the privilege of adding any other specifications.
