NEW TELEPHONE DIRECTORY

Subscribers Should Call by Numbers to Get Prompt Service

Call by numbers. The Independent Telephone Company has a new directory out and the same is now being distributed. The directory contains a list of all of the towns in Oregon, Washington and British Columbia which may be reached over the Independent Telephone line, and this list is supplemented by a map of the Northwest coast with the line marked thereon.

The directory proper is a complete list of all the subscribers of the Independent Telephone Company in Benton and Linn counties alphabetically arranged, and in addition there is a business directory classified according to the different businesses.

Among other places showing a considerable list of users of the Independent Telephone Company besides Corvallis and Albany is Astoria, Belfountain, Lebanon, Brownsville, Crawfordville, Plainview, Sweet Home, Scio, Tangent and Peoria.

Since the directory was issued several new names have been added and these are on a supplemental list which occurs in the front part of the directory.

It is the intention of the company to furnish their subscribers each month with a supplemental list showing new telephones that have been added, and also changes that have been made since the last directory was issued. In this way the subscriber's directory will be kept up to date. The company especially requests that their patrons call by numbers instead of by names. This is not so much on account of the company's convenience as it is for the convenience of the subscriber and his more prompt and efficient service. When parties are called by names, it is frequently necessary for the operator to consult her directory requiring a certain amount of time and thus delaying the call. If subscribers will use the numbers, this will be avoided and the operator can get parties much more quickly.

The directory also contains an invitation to all patrons to visit the office any day from two to five o'clock in the afternoon to witness the operation of the new and up to date exchange which is complete with all modern appointments.

Old Man Bennett Visits Corvallis

Fellers drill, fellers from the college, and I tell you what I felt proud of old Oregon when I seen sich a fine lot of students learning an eddication, learning to survey, to drill, to farm and do all kinds of bizzness, and girls too, lots of girls learning to be good wimmen and good wives. I seen Doctor Withycombe first and he took me out and showed me the students in the dairy tending to the milk, in the labrytry learning about chemistry, out on the farm learning to farm and do all useful things. Then he showed me the place where they wanted to put up a new building pervided the referendum does not get in its dely work and stop it. And I said to Dock how is it the granges is talking of stopping the work of advancing the college when you are trying to make good farmers to hed the granges, and Dock sed I give it up, but mebbe they wont do it, and all Oregon should rise up and see that the munney to make the improvements is fourth coming at once or as soon as possible. Then I went over to see President Kerr and the board of regents in action, and they was awful busy at work and I cood only say Hello to sum of em. and ask Mister Kerr a phew words about the curry culem and the chance of my being elected a ornery member of the Alum Nigh society at the OAC, and he sed he thought I cood consider myself a member to enct, wich is a grate honor. Then again I went over to Doctor Withycombe and he took me out to show me a new Gravenstien Bull what he had just bought, and he was a beauty, and he also had a pig 11 foot long what ways 750 pounds in his stocking feet.

Then I sashayed round the town of Corvallis a while to see the hull town, but sence my last vissent two years ago it has growed so swift that I got lost out among the new houses. But I seen enuff to say that some day in the near future sum of the other towns in the state will awaken up to find that Corvallis has outgrowed em, and that it is the biggest place on the William Met river except Portland.

In the morning, 11 o'clock, the theme will be "The Play of Moods in Human Life." Bible School, superintended by Prof. A. B. Cordley, convenes at 10 a. m. and the Devotional Hour of the C. E. at 7 p. m. A most cordial invitation to attend the services of this church is extended to all.

Big Three Days Race Meet Here

The horsemen of the city and county are now making arrangements to hold a big three day's race meet at the track here on June 2, 3, 4, the time at which the Grand Army Encampment will visit Corvallis.

The plan is to have special attractions each day of the meet and to make the purses large enough to secure the best possible entries. Subscriptions have been raised for this purpose and the added gate receipts and entrance fees will make up prizes well worth winning.

Parties at Independence, Albany, Eugene and other places on the Valley circuit have signified their willingness to bring their best horses here for the meet and there are several fast steppers right in Corvallis that will add to the excitement, R. F. Baker having a colt that gives splendid promise and Gene Tatori a bunch which will be hard to beat, while Kiger's "Pilot Lane" has already shown his speed.

Such a meet will be a big event for Corvallis and draw a crowd here that is always noted for liberal spending.

There will be match races at the Driving Park this afternoon and some good sport is looked for.

Mrs. Debern is quite ill with nervous prostration at the family home on North Second street. The lady seems sorely afflicted along this line and suffers severely during these periodical spells, which occur two or three times during the year.

Mrs. Joseph Smith, the daughter-in-law of Mrs. John Smith, who had been in the hospital at Portland for some time under treatment, returned home yesterday much improved in health.

Wanted - TWO or three intelligent girls at the Gazette office to learn to set type. Good wages paid after learning. Call at once for particulars.
