SHE LET HIM GO

A Story of a Father's and Daughter's Obsession. By SHIELA ESTHER DUNN. [Copyright, 1909, by American Press Association.] "Goodby, Nan. I'm tired of loafing around the daughter of a man who has lots of money."

"Dad's money's mine too. I can manage him." "Not much it isn't. He'll cut you off with a shilling if you marry me. He's a very determined man." "And I'm a very determined girl." "What shall I do?" "Go ask dad."

"I haven't the cheek—not even funds enough for a marriage fee." "I'll go with you." We went to the old man together. If I hadn't felt her hand on my own—it was steady as a rock—I should have collapsed. Strange, too, since I got a promotion in the Spanish war. A current of force running through my arm into my body enabled me to say it all.

"Well, then, I'm going to"— "Oh, come, now, don't talk like a fool! Be sensible. Leave it to me." A fellow who had always looked upon girls to be petted and cuddled and managed wasn't likely to be pleased with this way of putting it, and I grumbled. But somehow I didn't have the sand to break with Nan, and away down in my heart I knew that if she was to marry me, who had never laid up a cent, she was right in her position. Of husband and wife the one having the right way will always lead.

"I don't mean it that way. I mean"— "I told Nan she was trying to marry a fool." "I may be a fool, but I'll not remain in this position any longer." "You won't have to." "Have to! Of course I won't. I'm a free man." "Oh, don't talk bosh!" "I don't understand you."

"Young man, since Nan's crazy enough to want you, don't you go through life with her balking her. You won't be able to balk her anyway, though you're trying to do it now. She's the only person I ever met who had a stronger will than mine, and that's saying a good deal, considering the obstinate women in the world. You think you're going to shake her, do you? In that event I want you to understand I'm with her. She's worth twenty such as you, but if she wants you she's got to have you. I consent to the marriage. Now, get away from her if you can." Nan must have been listening. For she opened the door, came in, went to her father and put her arms around his neck.

National Educational Association.

County superintendent Mack has received official notice that the Executive Committee of the National Educational Association announces the selection of Denver, Colorado, as the place of meeting for the forty-seventh annual convention, July 5 to 9, 1909. The railway lines have made reduced round trip fares which will be in effect from all points on the O. R. & N. and S. P. lines in Oregon, on July 1. These tickets will carry a limit of ten days from date of sale, with final return limit of October 31, and include stopover privileges in both directions within those limits.

Mighty Mean Burglary

Perhaps the most sensational attempt at burglarizing that has occurred in Corvallis in many years happened last evening. The room of pretty Miss Dorothy Talcum was the scene of the tragedy. It seems that while all were at supper the burglar deliberately entered the room of the young lady in some mysterious manner and made away with her new picture hat. No clue of his whereabouts has yet been found. Any information leading to the arrest and conviction of the guilty party will be liberally rewarded. Notify the "Case of Suspension" at the Opera House tomorrow night.

Gone To Ireland.

Robert Kyle, an old-time resident of Bellfountain, is starting for the old home in Tyrone, Ireland, 40 miles from Belfast, where he will make an extended visit with the folks at home. He left there 32 years ago and this will be his first return. His father is still living and is now 86 years old, but hale and hearty and will be greatly pleased to see his son once more. Mr. Kyle will visit Liverpool, Glasgow, and Paris all of which will make an exceedingly pleasant trip.
